Bull's-Eye Satire Deflates Westerns

By RICK DU BROW
Of the United Press International

HOLLYWOOD — Television's "Thriller" show deflated video Westerns Monday night with a bull's-eye satire about an undertaker who cannot make a living because no one gets shot.

Among his many woes is a strutting marshal who can't hit the side of a barn.

The undertaker, played with droll malevolence by Henry Jones, has come West after strangling his nagging wife with a cord engraved "Rest in Peace" because she discovered he was writing to another woman.

The fun began as Jones' assistant, watching him nail up his professional sign, wonders where the business will come from. At that moment, gunmen obligingly ride into town, one of them gets shot and falls off his horse right in front of the undertaker's parlor.

Unfortunately for our hero, six months of peace follow this incident. And in one fine scene, reminiscent of the old "Maverick" spoofs, Jones dashes for the town saloon on hearing the marshal has shot a villain—only

Japanese Rule Out Foreign Aid Boost

TOKYO — The government reported Monday Japan is spending 6 per cent of its national income in foreign aid and to increase it to 1 per cent as requested by the United States is impossible.

The Ministry of International Trade and Industry said economic assistance abroad, mostly in the form of loans and credits, totals about $1 billion. It reported economic cooperation has steadily increased in recent years.

Television Previews

Farm Problem Huntley Topic

Chet Huntley offers a thoughtful analysis of the economic problems facing our small farmers and helps correct some of the cherished myths about the American farmer tonight on "The Land" at 10 on Channel 13.

A notably interesting sequence details the plight of the small Kansas farm towns, why they are dying and what, if anything, can be done to salvage their existence.

Other Tuesday previews:
8:30 p.m., Red Skelton, (6) — Red presents a fairly wild show when he acts as Freddie the Freelander and is witness to a gangland murder. Result: Freddie must be rubbed out. Freddie, however, is very hard to kill.

9 p.m., The Poet's Eye (7) — Featured will be "Poem and Picture"—a reading and analysis of the key parts of "Paradise Lost" with emphasis on the imagery or pictures it contains.

9:30 p.m., Basketball (8) — Oregon State University versus

Seattle University in the NCAA regional playoff.

10 p.m., Garry Moore (6) — Skelton guest stars in Garry's show too—this time as Clem Kadiddlehopper who delivers Chinese food on order. Carol Burnett also does a bit as first woman president of the United States. Comic routine from Bob Mel in and songs from Steve Lawrence round out the show. "That Wonderful Year" is 1909.

10 p.m., Alcoa Premier (12) — Ace rodeo rider Mitch Guthrie (Earl Holliman) stands by a cowboy who was brainwashed in the Korean War and served time for treason. Now that he wants to ride again the rodeo boss won't allow the man on the grounds. Cliff Robertson gives moving performance as the brainwashed cowboy. Film clips from the Phoenix rodeo are interspersed through the action.

11:15 p.m., Movie (12) — "Bates to Freedom" Anthony Steel, Jack Warner. British prisoners in a German camp construct a life-size dummy to cover an escape. Intriguing war drama, good suspense. (1955—good).

Board Considering $36 Million Budget
PORTLAND — A $36,621,137 budget for the year 1962-63 is under consideration by the Portland School Board. Melvin Barnes, district school superintendent, submitted the budget, which is more than $2 million higher than that for the current year. More than half of the increase would go for teachers' salary raises.
