

Syrian, Israeli Planes Clash

JERUSALEM (AP)—Syrian and Israeli warplanes clashed Wednesday and a Syrian spokesman said one Israeli fighter fled from a dog fight in flames.

Each nation accused the other of violating its air space in this followup to hostilities launched in an eight-hour battle in the Sea of Galilee area Saturday.

An Israeli military spokesman said Syrian planes penetrated Israeli's air space for the second day in a row, but were driven off by Israeli fighters.

A Syrian spokesman charged that four Israeli planes flew into Syrian territory, where they were intercepted by fighters of that Arab nation.

GOP Rivals Disagree On Foreign Aid

CORVALLIS (UPI)—Harold Livingston, candidate for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator, Tuesday challenged Sig Unander, Portland candidate for the same post, to debate the issue of foreign aid and investments abroad.

Livingston took issue with Unander's position that the federal government should underwrite foreign investments abroad.

Unander proposes a federal guarantee to help private firms play a bigger part in foreign aid.

"Mr. Unander is starting at the wrong end of the problem," Livingston said. "The first step is to change our foreign aid program to emphasize loans instead of grants and insist upon government reforms to stabilize the economy of underdeveloped countries."

Once this is done, Livingston said, "and it is not being done now despite lip service from Washington," private investment capital will move in on its own initiative.

To advocate federal subsidizing of risk capital abroad without changing our foreign aid program to stabilize the governments of these countries is to advocate further troubles both financially of the nation and in terms of world peace and understanding, he said.

American firms have invested heavily in Western Europe without subsidy because the governments of these nations have relative stability, Livingston said.

Livingston said he was willing to debate with Unander "at any time" on the issue.

Market Robbed; Suspect Arrested

SALEM (AP)—A West Salem grocery store was held up by a man who fled on foot with about $600 Tuesday night.

Police arrested a suspect a short time later.

Daniel Bonge, 29, was found hiding behind a truck near the store, police said, and taken into custody. They said $608 was found in a sack that Bonge had.

A store employee, John Foss, 25, said the robber didn't show a gun but put his hand in his pocket as if there might be one there.

Latin Youths Halt Rioting

GUATEMALA (AP)—President Miguel Ydigoras appeared Wednesday to have weathered a student-led attempt to topple his conservative regime.

The University Students Assn. abandoned street-fighting tactics after anti-government demonstrations that left more than a score dead and 550 wounded. For the first time in the week-long crisis, no major incidents were reported Tuesday.

Police said the students hoped to rally a nationwide strike. But workers that had struck in support of the students drifted back to work, and most services and businesses appeared to be operating normally.

Taking no chances, Ydigoras' regime announced a 30-day extension of the state of siege—a modified form of martial law. It has been in effect since Jan. 24, when the chief of the secret police, Ranulfo Gonzalez Ovalle, was assassinated.

Astronauts' Doctor To Be Reassigned

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Lt. Col. William K. Douglas, physician for the U.S. astronauts since 1959, plans to return to Air Force duty about the middle of this year.

Space officials said Douglas' decision had nothing to do with his disagreement with the grounding of Astronaut Donald K. Slayton for an old heart condition. They said Douglas had served a normal tour of duty with the astronauts.

A Jubilant Reception

Pakistanis Greet Jackie

By PATRICK J. KILLEN of the United Press International

LAHORE, Pakistan — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, 32, got a jubilant welcome Wednesday from tens of thousands of Pakistanis who showered her open convertible with flowers.

The first lady's reception on her arrival from neutralist India was marked by emphasis on the alliance between the United States and Pakistan.

Flags of the two nations were waved by school children. A dozen drum and bagpipe bands played along the route from the airport, adding a martial air. One huge floral arch depicted the hands of an American and a Pakistani clasped in a firm grip of friendship.

Jackie got involved in a hilarious celebration of Holi, the Indian festival of color, shortly before she was seen off by Premier Jawaharlal Nehru at New Delhi.

War May Go A Long Time In Viet Nam

HONOLULU (AP)—Secretary of Defense McNamara said Wednesday the war in Viet Nam was likely to last a long time.

But he declined to say whether the U.S. would commit combat troops into the Communist-threatened area if the situation worsens.

Interviewed as he arrived here for the fourth in a series of monthly strategy conferences on the Southeast Asian nation, McNamara told newsmen the United States would continue sending military advisors and aid to South Viet Nam "as it's necessary."

The defense secretary and the eight Pentagon officials who accompanied him on his 10,000-mile flight from Washington headed into an all-day conference with diplomats and military leaders from the Viet Nam area.

After the meeting, McNamara was scheduled to fly to San Francisco for a Friday meeting with President Kennedy.

Kennedy is due to arrive in California Friday morning to deliver an address and receive an honorary degree at the University of California at Berkeley.

Documents Critical of Chiang Released by State Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—Documents voicing criticism of the war effort of Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek are among the long secret China papers of 1943 released by the State Department.

The 901-page collection also includes a 1943 report to President Franklin D. Roosevelt by Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, who had gone on a special mission to China where he talked with Chiang and U.S. and Chinese military leaders.

Officials said publication of the World War II papers was held up for at least five years because their release might prove offensive to Chiang, now on Formosa.

Timing Questioned

Although there was no immediate official comment from Formosa on the papers, made public Tuesday night, some Chinese Nationalists questioned the wisdom of the publication.

Prominent Chinese newsmen in Taipei said they thought it unwise to release the papers at a time when the Chinese Nationalists are talking of a comeback against Communist China.

U.S. Ambassador Everett F. Drumright has resigned and returned home from Formosa for undisclosed reasons, but presumably due to opposition to release of the papers.

Hurley's reports said that on the whole, Chiang and the Chinese people favor democracy and would follow Roosevelt's leadership. But, he said, the Chinese central government gave importance to "conserving its strength for maintenance of its postwar internal supremacy as against the more immediate objective of defeating Japan."

Warning Sounded

George Acheson, in charge of the U.S. Embassy in Chungking during the absence of Ambassador Gaus, warned in August 1943 that the possibility of some kind of compromise between China and Japan could not be completely disregarded.

He said this was "because of anti-Western bias of the generalissimo, Madame Chiang and a widespread suspicion in Chinese government circles that Great Britain will not, after the crushing of Germany, devote her naval and other resources wholeheartedly to the defeat of Japan, thus making a compromise peace between the Anglo-American allies and Japan probable."

McCarthy Hearings

Hurley was mentioned during hearings of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., when it was charged that the State Department and some of its representatives in China during World War II had been responsible for withholding aid and handing China over to the Communists.

In August 1944, Hurley became Roosevelt's personal representative in China and in December of that year he became U.S. ambassador there.

Chiang's policies were criticized directly by John Paton Davies Jr., a diplomat fired by the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in 1954 on

Nazi Moved From Prison

JERUSALEM (AP)—Adolf Eichmann was moved in strictest secrecy Wednesday from his prison cell near Tel Aviv to the Jerusalem court building where his appeal against the death sentence will be heard Thursday.

The Nazi bureaucrat convicted of complicity in the slaughter of six million Jews was taken before dawn to the same quarters where he lived during his four-month trial last year.

Eichmann is not expected to testify during the hearing of his appeal by the Israeli Supreme Court. But once more he will occupy the bullet proof glass prisoner's dock in the court chamber as his West German defense attorney, Robert Servatius, tries to save him from the gallows.

The hearing is expected to take four or five days, with a two-day recess over the weekend. The court probably will take at least a month to consider its verdict.

If it upholds the death sentence handed down on Dec. 15, Eichmann has one last recourse. He can appeal to President Itzhak Ben-Zvi for clemency.
