

Boat Launched

A steel ferry boat, designed and built by Roscoe Hill, of Harrisburg, was launched in the Willamette River near Harrisburg by Hurd and his daughter, Janet, last week. The boat was constructed in the rear of Hurd's hardware store. The boat will be used by Ted Bayne, Peoria farmer, for the transportation of livestock and farming equipment to his 600-acre island farm.

Lane C of C Brochures Revised

Hill Discusses Highway 126

The Lane County Chamber of Commerce voted Tuesday night to have 25,000 revised Lane County Park and Recreation brochures printed.

The brochures will cost $1,800 and will be available in a few days, according to Bob Smith, Springfield, chairman of the publicity and advertising committee.

The group, meeting in Springfield this month, heard Jess Hill, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, report on a conference on road construction held recently in Salem. He said little was achieved at the meeting because there appeared to be no state funds available for desired improvements in Lane County.

He also stated that he believes Route F, the Clear Lake cutoff and Highway 36 from Mapleton to Florence, will be renamed U. S. Highway 126 in the near future. Various chambers in the area have recommended this redesignation.

The group established a forestry committee and a natural resources committee. Harrison P. Hornish will head forestry and Byron Price the natural resources committee.

The chamber decided to hold winter monthly meetings in the Eugene area in the future to avoid additional driving requirements of its members during months of poor driving conditions.

Next month's meeting will be in Oakridge and the May meeting in Cottage Grove.

Three Testify In Astoria Damage Suit

ASTORIA (AP)—Three witnesses testified for the plaintiff Tuesday in Ernest J. Combs' $233,373 damage suit against Astoria policemen and city officials.

Combs is asking the settlement for a pistol shot in 1958 that has kept him in a hospital, paralyzed.

Defendants in the case are the late Brewer Billie, city manager at the time; H. A. Ellsworth, then Astoria police chief and now police chief at Eugene; and John Patrick Codd, Astoria policeman, who fired a shot to halt Combs.

Combs had been stopped for a traffic violation, Codd said, and drove away in his car with the policeman in pursuit. Codd said he fired a warning shot at the ground when Combs got out of the car.

But Combs fell with a bullet in his back. Codd said on the stand Tuesday that he charged Combs with reckless driving in a complaint filed in Municipal Court after the shooting. He filed no other complaint, he said.

Dr. Edward W. Davis, the first witness called, testified about Combs' treatment. Davis, a Portland neurosurgery specialist, said Combs was permanently paralyzed from the waist down as a result of the wound.

Mrs. Melba Combs, the plaintiff's mother, said she was lying in bed awake early the morning of July 12, 1958, when the shooting occurred.

She said she heard her son drive in, then heard another car, then a shot.

Codd wouldn't let her see her son lying on the ground, she said, but put him in the police car and took him to an Astoria hospital.

She did not find out he had been shot until physicians told her later, she testified.

Ronald Eugene Horne, 17, of 795 W. 18th Ave., Eugene, remained in critical condition Wednesday at Sacred Heart Hospital with a spinal cord injury suffered Monday night in a two-car collision on Highway 99E between Junction City and Harrisburg.

The hospital had these reports on five other persons hospitalized after the crash: Ronald Horne's mother, Mrs. Charles Horne, 44, in fairly good condition; her other son, Fred, 14, in good condition; Jeannette Harries, 16, of 178 Bushnell Ln., in fair condition with possible internal injuries and a fractured pelvis; and Georgia Dee Claxton, 18, of 2375 Park Ave., in fairly good condition.

Stephen Glen Gaines, 19, of Rt. 2, Box 458B, Eugene, driver of one car, was discharged from the hospital Tuesday.

State police said the accident occurred when a tire blew out on a car driven by Mrs. Horne and sent it into the path of Gaines' oncoming auto.

Board Warns Kite Flyers

Spring and kites seem to go together, but electric wires and kites do not, warns the Eugene Water & Electric Board.

A kite caught in an overhead wire can mean serious injury or death, or just be a nuisance to the entire neighborhood.

So the utility offers these words of wisdom for those who want to fly their kites:

• Don't fly them near overhead wires because many kite strings can make dangerous conductors of electricity.

• Don't use light wire or metallic string on the kite. A wet string itself can make a good conductor, but a wire or metallic string, wet or dry, can really give a jolt.

• Don't use a metallic kite. If this got tangled in electric equipment it could interrupt electric service in the entire neighborhood.

• And finally, if despite the warning, a kite does get caught in an overhead wire, don't try to get it out yourself. Call EWEB and a serviceman will remove it.

Lions Club Projects

Proceeds from the home and sport show are used for Lions club projects. These include the sight conservation program and other projects to aid the blind, a university scholarship and donations to local charitable organizations.

The hours of the show will be: 5 to 10 p.m. March 29; 1 to 10 p.m. March 30; and 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. March 31.

The students will tour schools and industries and attend banquets by local civic groups. They will be housed in private homes during the tour.

Porter will appear before the Springfield Young Democrats at the Springfield Municipal Power building at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Also on the program at the meeting will be Ina Randolph, appointed Lane County treasurer, who is seeking election to a full term.

Board Rejects Site Work Bid

The Eugene School Board Tuesday rejected the one bid made for site preparation for the new Edgewood Elementary School.

The bid, from Robert J. O'Neil, was for $37,188.80.

L. L. Erdmann, school district business manager, said the architect's original estimate of $10,000 was low. Further study showed that more work was involved. However, the $37,000 figure is still too high, he said.

Bids will be called again on April 6.

Three films will be shown at the Eugene Public Library Thursday at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. in the upstairs lecture room. Admission is free.
