

Forest Safety Conference Closes Here

Roster Contains Record Number

The 28th annual Forest Products Safety Conference came to a close in Eugene Saturday after two and a half days of concentrated deliberation on how to reduce industrial accidents.

E. A. Roles, of Longview, Wash., conference chairman, said that 425 persons had registered—the largest number ever to attend the conference, according to Elmer Steege of Springfield, registration chairman.

Besides delegates from Oregon, Washington, Canada and California, the conference attracted forest products representatives from New York, Wisconsin and Arkansas.

'Safety Awareness'

Terry Lawson, training and safety coordinator for Crown-Zellerbach Corp. in Vancouver, B.C., reviewed a few of the ideas developed by discussion groups during the convention. Problems cited included a need to keep both employees and employers well informed of safety problems; the need to make safety programs an integral part of production; the need for "safety awareness," and the need "to assume that man has a continuing capacity to learn."

Robert L. Wilson, associate professor of forest engineering at Oregon State University, had the job of summing up the conference.

"We can't anticipate all the problems that will arise in the field of safety in the future," he said. "But I'm convinced that safety is largely a matter of common sense."

Communication

Bear in mind, he said, that safety instruction requires communication. At OSU, he said, there is a sign on the wall which states that principle: "Engage mind before starting mouth."

"You have been presented with much information here," Wilson told the delegates. "If you don't use this information—take it home with you—to reduce accidents—then I don't think you have any place in your particular organization."

An awards banquet was held Friday night. The election of conference officers and directors took place Saturday morning.

Senator Stennis: Army Should Decide Case of Major Roberts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., says it's up to the Army—not the Senate—to decide the case of Maj. Archibald E. Roberts.

Stennis, who is chairman of the subcommittee investigating charges that military officers' anti-Communist speeches have been muzzled, said Friday his committee would take no action until the Army completed its inquiry.

Man, Wife Die In Same Hour

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — An elderly Tampa couple, married for 52 years, died within minutes of each other.

Doctors said both died of natural causes. The man, Jacob Lott Lightsey, 82, had been ill for three weeks, doctors said. He died early Friday.

His wife, Bessey Anderson Lightsey, 71, discovered the death a short time later and telephoned relatives and the family physician.

At 2:15 a.m., less than 15 minutes after the doctor arrived, Mrs. Lightsey died.

"The basic question involved is whether Major Roberts violated military regulations by prior policy clearance as required by established procedures," said Stennis in a statement.

Stennis said he could not condone a breach of military discipline but added he expects the Army to give Roberts a "full, fair and impartial" hearing.

Roberts, who served under former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker and says he drafted Walker's controversial pro-blue troop indoctrination program, was suspended by the Army Thursday night shortly after he gave a speech without Pentagon clearance to the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Roberts contends — that the United States is menaced from within by communism and says he wants to tell his story before Stennis' Armed Services subcommittee.

"It has been said that Sen. Stennis' investigation of military muzzling is one of the last surviving freedom forums in America," said Roberts. "I hope to prove this."

Asked if Stennis' decision not to summon him before the group was disappointing, Roberts said no — not so long as he ultimately gets a chance to testify.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., whose allegations that the Pentagon was muzzling military officers brought about the creation of the Stennis subcommittee, said he also favored leaving Roberts to the Army, for the time being anyway.

Californians Hurt In One-Car Mishap

Two California men were hospitalized in Eugene Saturday morning following a one-car mishap on Highway 58 at the Crescent Lake junction, east of Willamette Pass.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital for observation were Henry Meyer, 24, and Donald Pisor, 24, both of Woodland Hills, Calif. Both received lacerations and abrasions and were in good condition.

The two men were injured when their car overturned. Cause of the mishap wasn't immediately known.

Portlander Elected By Editors' Group

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Robert Notson, managing editor of the Portland Oregonian, was elected treasurer of the American Society of Newspaper Editors Friday.

The group is holding its convention in New Orleans.

Lee Hills, executive editor of the Detroit Free Press and executive editor of the Knight newspapers, moved up to the presidency, replacing Felix McKnight, executive editor of the Dallas, Tex., Times Herald.

Television Previews

'Defenders' Tops TV Fare

Tonight's best bet for television entertainment is "The Defenders," which will be shown at 8:30 on Channel 6.

Once again Lawrence Preston finds himself acting as defense attorney in a kangaroo court. This time in a good show titled "Reunion With Death." A crew of the Korean War feels one of their men was a traitor. The whole play takes place in a hotel room and it's a tribute to writer, director and actors that it holds audience interest from start to finish. All performances are good but Leonard Stone as the plane's captain is particularly good.

Other Saturday previews: 7 p.m., Opening at Century 21 (2)—An hour-long broadcast will highlight the opening day activities of the World's Fair at Seattle. Twenty-one television cameras were used to cover the official opening ceremonies and to take viewers on a capsule tour of the fair.

7:30 p.m., Boxing (9-12)—Joe Brown of Baton Rouge, La., defends his world lightweight title against Carlos Ortiz of New York City in a 15-round bout live from Convention Hall, Las Vegas, Nev.

8:30 p.m., Leave It To Beaver (9-12)—No real crisis here tonight, just a normal incident in a boy's life. Beaver gets a new typewriter and hopes to make his schoolwork neater, but he finds typing is hard to learn and soon he finds he is paying Eddie Haskell a dollar to type his work. Things finally come to the point where he has to pay Eddie weekly or do the job himself. As usual, Eddie steals the show even though he's only on for a few moments.

10 p.m., Gunsmoke (6)—Some action in this leisurely series tonight when a gunman sets up an ambush for Marshal Dillon. One of the plotters for the ambush is a girl and the good marshal bites. It's a wonder this isn't the last show of the series.

Movies

8 p.m. (2) — "The Men." Marlon Brando, Teresa Wright, Jack Webb. Paralyzed war vet tries to adjust to society without the use of his limbs. Brando's first film and a superb one. Dramatic, persuasive, with fine work in every department. (1950—excellent).

8:30 p.m. (13-8)—"Soldier of Fortune." Clark Gable, Susan Hayward. Just another routine adventure story set in Hong Kong. This production is handsomely mounted and has name stars but it can't disguise the commonplace plot. (1955—fair). Beginning of re-runs for summer.

11 p.m. (13)—"Assignment In Brittany." Pierre Aumont, Susan Peters. Secret agent disguised as a Nazi bears the usual "amazing" resemblance, goes to France and scores a victory for the underground. Trite melodrama. (1942—fair).

11 p.m. (8)—"Easter Parade." Judy Garland, Fred Astaire, Ann Miller. Forget the plot and enjoy the talented cast performing 17 Irving Berlin tunes and you have more than enough. (1947—good).

11:15 p.m. (6)—"Monkey On My Back." Cameron Mitchell, Dianne Foster. Often interesting dramatized biography of boxer Barney Ross, his early rise to fame in the ring, his high spending days as a gambler, his heroic career in the Marines during World War II; and his eventual downfall to narcotics addiction and his struggle to "kick the habit." Brutal at times in its realism, with helpful performance from Mitchell. (1957—good).

11:15 p.m. (9)—"Best of the Badmen." Randolph Scott, Robert Ryan. Marshal goes after the Sundance Kid, who heads a murderous band of outlaws. Fairly good western. (1948—fair).

11:15 p.m. (12)—"Five Graves to Cairo." Franchot Tone, Anne Baxter. Tedious comedy about a soldier who loses his outfit and promptly outwits the Nazis in North Africa. Distinguished by Erich von Stroheim's portrayal of General Rommel. (1943—fair).
