Physical Therapist

Therapist Joins Staff At School

A second physical therapist, Frances Chapman, has joined the staff of the Children's Hospital School in Eugene.

Miss Chapman, a native of Canada, has had formal training and experience in three fields—physical therapy, education and social work.

She holds a B.A. in sociology and zoology from the University of Toronto and took two graduate years of work at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn. In 1955, she received her certification in physical therapy, and is a member of the American Registry of Physical Therapy and the American Physical Therapy Assn.

She is also certified to teach elementary school, and has had experience in this field. In addition, she has had six years experience as a social worker, including work with the Children's Aid Society in Canada and work with tuberculosis patients in a children's hospital.

In addition to her work as a physical therapist at the Mayo Clinic, she has been employed with the Oregon State Industrial Accident Commission and Good Samaritan Hospital in Portland.

The hospital school's other therapist is Dick Ruff of Eugene.

Committee Reports Firms Eying Oregon

SALEM — Seventeen companies have expressed an interest in building plants in Oregon, the advisory committee of the State Department of Planning and Development reports.

They include four chemical companies, three aerospace firms, two each of electronics, food processing and metal fabricating companies, and one paper company, one trailer company, one meat packer, and one that is unclassified.

The committee, headed by Gerald Frank, Salem department store executive, said the department has stepped up its promotional activities throughout the country.

Its motion picture, "Oregon Today," has been shown to 18,000 persons.

Agents of the department reported they are involved in these projects:

- Discussion with a California firm which wants missile facilities.
- Development of a new pre-fabricated housing manufacturing plant.
- Promotion of the Tongue Point Naval Base as an industrial site.
- Assisting development of coastal ports.
- Promotion of an independent research facility in the Albany area.
- Water resource development on the southern coast.
- Work on an industrial development corporation in Roseburg.

The department said it would complete its study of the mid-Columbia area by next July. Its survey of metropolitan Portland now is under way, and it is negotiating now to make a survey of Baker, Union and Walla Walla counties.

The committee disclosed a stepped-up planning program for 1963-65.

It will deal with economic development, land use, transportation, parks, and public buildings and facilities.

It also said it would engage in more research during the next biennium.

The committee and department will help local agencies in expansion of their industries, including giving prospects information on industrial sites.

The department also said it would take an active role in area redevelopment programs throughout the state.

Operated by Oregon Liquor Control Commission

Union Official's Letter Claims Agency Stores Are Illegal

PORTLAND — A union official has protested to Gov. Mark Hatfield that the Oregon Liquor Control Commission was operating agency stores illegally.

D. E. Barnick, liquor commission administrator, denied it.

Leo Butts, Oregon Public Employees Council No. 12 representative, said there was an increasing trend to turn some of the busier state-owned stores into privately operated agency stores and to put them on a commission basis.

Leo Butts, Oregon Public Employees Council No. 12 representative, said there was an increasing trend to turn some of the busier state-owned stores into privately operated agency stores and to put them on a commission basis.

tative, said there was an increasing trend to turn some of the busier state-owned stores and to put them on a commission basis.

Butts asserted in a letter to Hatfield that it was illegal to pay commissions instead of a salary.

No Straight Salary

Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton, in an opinion Friday requested by another union official, state Rep. Edward J. Whalen, D-Portland, agreed that stipulated salaries should be paid instead of commissions.

"We do pay salaries," said Barnick, adding, "It's not a straight salary. It is adjusted every three months, based on the amount of volume and time the individual puts into the agency."

Barnick also said there was no trend to turn state stores into agencies.

Butts cited the store at Broadway and Davis as an example. He said it became an agency May 1.

Barnick said that was true, but added that it was the first state store turned into an agency since at least 1955. He also said it was turned into an agency because of declining sales. He said it was the only way the state could maintain the service there.

Butts' letter said: "I respectfully request your personal intervention as the chief executive officer of the state of Oregon into this matter and that the Department of Justice be instructed to take whatever action is necessary to enforce the intent of the laws concerning the employment of agents."

Butts said that the private operators of agencies selected their stock and pushed the most popular brands to increase their income. He said incentive sales were in contradiction to the state liquor control law.

He said there were a few large agency stores in the Portland area, but said they were small when started and there was no way to anticipate they would grow as they had.

Butts said he and the employees were concerned "because of the encroachment upon civil service positions and the opportunities for advancement that are destroyed upon the establishment of an agency store in this manner."

First forestry school in the U.S. was that of Cornell University.
