

Tumble Into Cellar Emeralds Drop Two Games

By DICK STRITE
Register-Guard Sports Editor

The "Little Chicago Cubs," the Wenatchee Chiefs, swept a three-game Northwest League baseball series over the Emeralds with 1-0 and 5-1 victories at Bethel Park Sunday afternoon and knocked the Eugene club into last place in the six-team league.

The Ems now spend the remainder of the week battling their arch rivals, the Salem Dodgers, in games at Salem starting Tuesday and then returning to Bethel Park for four more games, starting Friday.

Sunday's opener was one of the better played baseball games in Bethel Park history.

Dick Estelle allowed the Chiefs two hits, one earned run, struck out seven and walked only one until he was shaken up running the bases and had to be helped off the field in the bottom of the fifth inning. Dave Squires pitched hitless ball the rest of the way.

Art Thompson allowed the Ems three hits, struck out three, walked one, but was guilty of two wild pitches in the second inning when the Ems had one of two good opportunities to score. Roger Tomlinson had walked with two out and advanced to third on the wild pitches, but Arley Kangas grounded out.

Tomlinson opened the fifth with a scratch single and advanced on Kangas' sacrifice bunt. Don Pope scratched a single, Tomlinson advancing to third. Estelle attempted a squeeze-play bunt, but Thompson trapped Tomlinson halfway down the line and threw him out at third. Pope went to second. Carlos Dore grounded to short and Frank DeMoss tossed to second baseman Bill Maloney, who forced Estelle to retire the side. Estelle, attempting to gain the base tumbled over DeMoss whose momentum carried him in Estelle's path.

Billy Cowan, who helped beat the Ems Friday night with two homers, a triple and seven runs batted in, scored the winning run in the fourth when he beat out a bunt with two out. He stole second and scored on Nelson Mathews' single—and that was the ball game.

It was an errorless game that was completed in exactly one hour, 32 minutes and 32 seconds.

The nightcap was a close contest, too—until the eighth and extra inning in the scheduled seven-inning skirmish.

The Chiefs scored in the opening inning when Ron Campbell dumped a Texas-league single to right and advanced to third on Danny Murphy's single between first and second. Cowan's sacrifice fly to right scored Campbell.

Although Ken Fruchter doubled for the Chiefs in both the second and seventh innings, the Chiefs were held scoreless until two were out in the eighth.

In the meantime the Ems knotted the count in the fourth when Tomlinson walked with one out. Wally Cockrell forced him at second, but went all the way to third on Dore's single. Joe McLaughlin scratched a single between first and second, scoring Cockrell. But pitcher Ed Feldman forced McLaughlin at second to end the inning.

Cowan, the former University of Utah athlete was the villain of the piece again. He gained base on an error with two out. Mathews walked and Fruchter singled to center scoring Cowan with what proved to be the winning (but unearned) run, Mathews going to third. Frank DeMoss scratched a single a second, scoring Mathews and sending Feldman to the showers. The best Mark Opatt could do was throw a wild pitch and walk three batters to force in two more runs. Ed Leclair managed to get the side out.

The Ems threatened in the last of the eighth when Pope and Dick Dietz both singled, but both runners were stranded.

Manager Bud Byerly announced the acquisition of pitcher Bob Meckwood from the class A Springfield club and sent pitcher Barry Huntzinger to Fresno.

HIGHCLIMBER

★ How far, how high and how fast will the Webfoots fly when they reach their peak?

That's a question asked by a track-and-field filbert Saturday after the Oregon Webfoots had smashed to their ninth straight Far West championship.

In the process, and under far from good weather conditions, Jerry Tarr negotiated the high hurdles in 13.3 for a new United States collegiate record and Harry Jerome ran the 200 yards in 18.7.

Friday night in Los Angeles Dyrrol Burleson ran the fastest collegiate mile of the season with a 3:57.9 clocking. He is also the fastest half-miler in college track.

Harry Jerome has been clocked in 9.2 (one watch) and 20.8 in the 100 and 220. Tarr has been clocked in 13.2 (one watch).

And the Webfoots of Bill Bowerman haven't as yet, reached their peak. According to Bowerman's training schedule, the peak for all Webfoots will be June 15 and 16 when the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA) championships will be held on Hayward Field.

Saturday at the California Relays in Modesto most of Oregon's Webfoots will be in action. Although maybe the Webfoots aren't in top form track fans will get some idea how swift Jerome may be in the 100 and Tarr in the high hurdles. Maybe they'll be faster in the NCAA next month, but it's certain they will have to be rather fleet Saturday when Jerome tangles with Robert Hayes of Florida A & M and Tarr takes on Hayes Jones.

Those two races are certain to be the feature events as far as Oregon fans are concerned, although there could be world records established in the shot, discus, pole vault and other events.

Although Oregon will be geared to establish a new record in the distance medley and a couple of other relays, the 100 and the high will be the blue-ribbon events.

★ Saturday's Far West championships proved to be a successful "test run" for the coming NCAA championships. The only change will be the position of the start and finish of the mile, 440 and half-mile. . . .

Moving the pole vault to front-center of the west stands was an added attraction and the only hard-to-watch events will be the high jump at the far north corner of the field, (at Philadelphia only a few spectators could see the shot), so something has to "give". The hammer throw, always staged elsewhere than the regular track-and-field arena, will be held on Howe (baseball) Field. . . . Only contestant Saturday was Jerry Stubblefield, who didn't throw the hammer impressively enough to score a single NCAA point. . . .

The "spectator time clock" on the football scoreboard was a fine addition. There were a few "bugs", but not as many as some fans thought, especially when Tarr's 13.3 hurdles and Jerome's 18.7 "220" times were posted. . . . They were sure both were mistakes. . . .

Bowerman was embarrassed about the 220. . . . The judges were placed wrong and Jerome and the other sprinters ran only 200 yards. . . . Usually that happens only at Occidental College and occasionally at Oregon State's Bell Field. . . .

And talk about embarrassment, Tarr was almost blushing when given a standing ovation by the fans after his 13.3 in the high hurdles. . . . Oregon track fans are noted for their enthusiasm, but we've never seen such a responsive crowd as the one Saturday. . . . And only a few stood up during the short races. . . . Most of the strangers are beginning to learn what the oldtime fans have known for some time—you can see a race better by remaining seated than attempting to look over the head of a taller fan in front of you.

★ Here are a few quotes our Dick Leutzing picked up on the field Saturday:

Mike Lehner, who won the 3,000-meter steeplechase for Oregon: "I didn't have too much trouble getting over them (the hurdles). I didn't have to slow down much. I didn't notice any jolt and I didn't have to speed up for them because it was just the normal pace. I didn't have much trouble getting over the water." Lehner is 5-foot-3 and 113 pounds.

Barry Adams, who also ran the steeplechase, said, "I had trouble getting over them, but I can go faster. I just gave up."

Ted Abram, who was tripped enroute to a second place in the 880: "This is the second spill I've taken. I never blame the other guy—the 880 is a rough race."

Keith Forman, who won the three-mile: "I still think I like the mile best. I liked this for the first two laps alright." Forman, with a 25-yard lead, started looking over his shoulder after the third lap and he had no competition after taking the lead in the second lap. . . .

Carl Cluff, Oregon Journal track writer who covered the Burleson-Snell-Jim Grelle mile in Los Angeles Friday night, said that he learned that both Jim Beatty and Grelle will run in the open mile at Modesto Saturday. . . . Beatty has been injured, but hasn't missed a workout even with the bad leg.

Llewellyn, Burleson Take Track Leads

Oregon's Dyrrol Burleson and Terry Llewellyn came up with the only first place changes in Northern Division track and field rankings over the weekend, but they played second fiddle to Jerry Tarr's American collegiate high hurdle record effort at the Far West championships.

Tarr sped to a 13.3 clocking in the highs to erase Dick Atlesey's record of 13.5, which had stood since 1950. The Oregon senior added a victory in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles Saturday to join Burleson as the only triple leaders among Northwest athletes. Tarr also heads the pack in the low hurdles with a 23.0 flat performance around a curve.

Burleson regained the top spot in the mile Friday night when he was timed in 3:57.9 in his long-awaited meeting with world record holder Peter Snell of New Zealand. The Oregon star replaced teammate Keith Forman, who only a week previously had run 4:00.7, as the mile leader.

Burleson also sets the pace in the 880 with a 1:48.2, and in the two-mile with an 8:42.5 clocking, an American citizen's record.

Llewellyn took over first place in the high jump with a leap of 6-9 (12 1/2 inches over his head), thus breaking a tie with Washington State's Henry Wyborney for the lead. Llewellyn's leap erased a Far West record that stood for 21 years—since Oregon's Les Steers cleared 6-8 13/16 in 1941.

In other shuffling among the leaders, Mel Renfro of the Ducks moved from third to second in the broad jump and earned a tie for third in the high hurdles with Steve Pauly of Oregon State. Forman advanced from third to second in the three mile, and Oregon State's Jerry Betz moved up to second place by clearing 14-10 in the pole vault.

Oregon boasts the leaders in 15 of 20 events, while Oregon State has three first place rankings, and Washington and Washington State one each.

The top three in each event:

100—Harry Jerome, O, 9.3; Lynn Eves, OSU, 9.6; Jerry Plowman, W, Jim Puckett, O, and Tom Boswell, OSU, 9.7.
220—Jerome, O, 20.8; Eves, OSU, and Puckett, 21.0.
