

May-Ekstrand

Miss Diane Eunice Ekstrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Ekstrand, and Gary Allen May, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ensley D. May, were married recently in Bethesda Lutheran Church. The Rev. H. Milton Peterson officiated.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of lace and tulle over satin, with pearls and sequins on the scalloped neckline. Her shoulder veil of illusion was held by a bandeau of petals and she carried white carnations centered with an orchid.

Miss Joan Kathryn Harris was maid of honor and other attendants were Mrs. Jon Roid, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Geraldine Gartzke. They wore sheath dresses of blue satin with overskirts of sheer nylon and carried cascade bouquets of pink carnations.

Robert Putnam was best man and ushers were Dennis Ekstrand and John Roid.

A reception was held in the church parlor where Mrs. Emanuel Nelson and Mrs. Robert L. McManus, the bride's aunt, cut the cake. Mrs. Arthur Jincks, the groom's aunt, poured coffee. Mrs. Rex Vaughn and Miss Sharon McManus served punch. Miss Teana Wellen presented the guest book and Miss Edna Devereaux took care of gifts.

The couple now is at home in Eugene where Mr. May is employed by a plywood company.

'Dear Abby'

—Abigail Van Buren—

DEAR ABBY: There is a girl in our dorm who is knock-out to look at. She has a face and figure every girl envies and she has a great personality to go with it. Our problem is that she must be afraid of men. She is asked for dates, but if a boy even tries to put his arm around her she hauls off and just about fractures his skull. They say that it is like pulling teeth to get her to go out a second time with a fellow who is even mildly affectionate. How can we help her?

DEAR DORM MATES: Fix her up with a dental student!

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for nine years. I married young just to get out of the house. I was completely honest with my husband and told him before he married me that I didn't love him. He said he would take that chance and I would learn to love him later.

We have five beautiful children. I respect him and admire him and am proud to be his wife because he is a kind and generous man and a wonderful father, but I still have not learned to love him. I am a good and faithful wife, but I know now that I will never have the kind of love every woman dreams of. (Not within my marriage at least.) Should I continue in this loveless marriage? I am thinking of my children.

DEAR MISSING: Keep thinking of those children. Many women have written to tell me that they married for "love" (the kind every woman dreams of) but it didn't last long. The reasons: they neither admired nor respected their husbands. If yours is kind, generous and a wonderful father, count your blessings. No one has everything!

DEAR ABBY: Would it be proper for a mother to go down the aisle with her only daughter and give her away in marriage? She has no brothers or uncles to give her away, and her father hasn't done a blooming thing for her since she was born. To be honest with you, he took off years ago. I don't know where he is and I am not about to hunt him up. Thank you.

DEAR WIDOW: Talk to your clergyman about the "giving away" part of the ceremony in your church. Not all ceremonies include it. And in some, it is perfectly permissible for a mother to go down the aisle with her daughter. Or the bride may go down alone.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
