

Renewal Complex Planned

54-Unit Scheme In Springfield Are To Cost $500,000

Construction of a $500,000 54-unit apartment complex in Springfield's urban renewal area is scheduled to start late this summer.

Lee Anderson, executive secretary of the Lane County Housing Authority, said Wednesday the two-story garden-type apartment structures will be built on a two-acre tract in the vicinity of First and F Streets.

Parkside Inc., a corporation, will build the housing units comprising one, two and three bedroom apartments. President of the corporation is Harry Ritchie of Eugene. Vice president is Maurie Jacobs, also of Eugene. K. W. Battleson of Eugene is treasurer.

Paul Boga, architect for the project, said Tuesday it is hoped that the rent for the units will range from $80 to $95. He said each apartment will have its own yard.

The corporation has offered to purchase the two-acre site for $37,969, somewhat more than the appraised price of the land.

Anderson said the Lane County Housing Authority will meet Monday afternoon to take formal action on the firm's purchase offer.

Already under construction in the urban renewal area is a 28-unit apartment at 650 Mill St. Cost of this project is about $250,000, Anderson said.

VLT to 'Revive' 'No Flowers'

The Very Little Theater production of "Send Me No Flowers" will be "revived" for three performances next week.

The show, which ended its original nine-performance run June 2, will be given Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 21-23. The Thursday night performance, June 21 has been sold out to a private group, however.

Tickets for the other two performances will be available at the theater boxoffice at 24th and Hilyard beginning Monday.

Second Lane Youth Camp To Be Given

The second Lane County youth camp, for some 30 boys 15 to 18 years old, will open Monday at Blue Mountain Park south of Cottage Grove.

The camp will be similar to one last year in the same spot when 20 boys participated for eight weeks. This year's camp will last 10 weeks.

Youth camps were made possible by an act of the 1961 Legislature appropriating $50,000 to the State Forestry Department for experimental camps during the 1961-63 biennium.

Lane was the only county to have a camp last year. This summer Marion County will also have one. Costs are shared by the state and the county.

Glenn Hoff, teacher at Howard elementary school in Eugene, director of last year's camp, will again be director for the camp this summer.

The goal of the camp is to encourage potential school dropouts to remain in school and complete their educations.

Top Quarter Horses to Compete Here

Almost 200 registered quarter horses will compete for $3,000 in purses at the Lane County Fairgrounds this weekend.

The show will bring together the top quarter horses from the Pacific Northwest, Western Canada, California—and even one horse from Hawaii.

The show is being sponsored by the Oregon Quarter Horse Assn. It will start Friday morning and continue through Sunday. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children at the Saturday night and Sunday afternoon events. There will be no charge during Friday's halter class competition or during elimination events scheduled earlier Saturday and Sunday morning.

Quarter horses gain their name from the fact the breed was originated for quarter-mile distance racing. They are speedy, sure-footed animals that are favored by working cowboys and rodeo performers, and are popular for pleasure riding and show competition.

Ralph Cook, owner of Creeks Trees Farm near Springfield, is show manager and Emilie Marsh, Eugene, is serving as show secretary.

The judge for the show will be Dee Burk, of Waggoner, Okla., considered one of the nation's best-informed judges for quarter horses.

The Friday halter classes will get under way at 7 a.m. standard, 8 a.m. daylight in the covered arena building at the Lane County Fairgrounds. Here the horses will be judged for their conformation.

The working classes will be Saturday and Sunday and it is in these events that the greatest spectator interest lies. Because so many horses are entered in the events, Saturday and Sunday morning will be devoted to elimination rounds. The elimination winners will compete Saturday night, starting at 7 p.m. standard, 8 p.m. daylight, and Sunday afternoon, starting at 12:30 p.m. standard, 1:30 p.m. daylight.

Each of the shows will start with a "Parade of Champions," for horses that have earned that designation from points won in previous shows.

Popular working class events include "cutting," in which the horses "cut out" a designated cow from a herd without any assistance from the rider. There will be an open cutting class Saturday night and two cutting classes for senior and junior registered quarter horses only on Sunday afternoon.

Other working classes include "bit reining," in which the horse and rider demonstrate skills in quick stopping and maneuvering; barrel racing, in which the course is around a series of barrels; calf roping; western riding; pole bending, western pleasure riding; and other events which show off the special skills of the quarter horse.

There will be events for junior riders (under 19 years of age) both Saturday night and Sunday afternoon. The youth activities are open to all horses, not just registered quarter horses.

Dale Robertson, who is "Jim Hardie" of television's "Tales of Wells Fargo," will enter his prize horse, "Tidy Bar," in some of the events. He purchased the horse from the Creek Tree Farm at Springfield. Robertson will be unable to be here to personally ride his sors since he is on location for a motion picture near Tucson. His horse will be ridden by Tony Garcia, trainer at the Creek Trees Farm.

Tickets for the quarter horse show may be purchased from Four H Club members, who earn a commission, or at the Outdoor Store in Eugene or Fee and Richey Jewelers in Springfield. Tickets may be also purchased at the arena door for each performance.

Smart "Cutting" will be one of the events in this weekend's Oregon Quarter Horse Assn. show at the Lane County Fairgrounds. Horses are required to "cut out" a designated cow from a herd without help from the rider, as the horse, "Prince Tivio" is doing here. "Prince Tivio," ridden by J. L. Bartlett above, is owned by the Deer Island Ranch, near Portland, and is expected to be one of this weekend's competitors.
