

'Dairy Month' Event

12 From Lane Win Contest Awards

Twelve Lane County boys and girls won individual awards and the Central Lane YM-YWCA won the group award in a "Dairy Month" posture contest Wednesday.

The contest was sponsored by the Lane County Dairy Group—made up of producers, processors and distributors. Group Chairman E. A. "Buzz" Bailey said the contest will become an annual event as part of the promotion of "Dairy Month." The contest was held at the Y building, with participants judged on body and limb proportion, balance, body alignment, carriage, and poise. The Central Lane Y won a $75 prize for having the highest number of points compiled by first and second place winners. The Future Farmers of America (FFA) won a $50 second prize, and the Campfire Girls a $25 third prize. Individual winners, who received trophies and plaques, are: Girls, aged 10-12—First, Judy Shirk, YWCA; second, Lynn Shannon, River Road Park & Recreation District. Boys, 10-12—Danny Cameron, Future Farmers of America; David Dotterer, YMCA. Girls, 13-14—Linda Forrest, Campfire Girls; Marylyn McGaffey, Campfire Girls.

Boys, 13-14—Roger Bennett, North Eugene Track Club; Bob Kirk, Boy Scouts of America. Girls 15-16—Mary Jean Heym, YWCA; Terry Cullver, YWCA. Boys 15-16—George Archer, FFA; Terry Burbee, YMCA.

UO Professor Pens Articles

Two articles by University of Oregon Journalism Professor Warren Price have been published recently. "International Communications: A Bibliography and Interpretation," appeared in Montana Journalism Review in May, and "Current Graduate Research in Journalism and Communications" was the title of an article which was in the spring issue of Journalism Quarterly. Price, a member of the University of Oregon faculty since 1942, spent spring term lecturing at Montana State University. He is the author of the book, "The Literature of Journalism: An Annotated Bibliography," published in 1959, and several articles.

Technology Course De-Emphasized

Dairymen May Stop OSU Scholarship

Oregon's dairy industry will receive a recommendation not to grant its usual $1,000 scholarship this year to help support a student in dairy technology at Oregon State University. The Education Committee of the Oregon Dairy Industries made the decision, according to Ellis "Hap" Rackleff, chairman of Eugene, "mainly because of the de-emphasis in the course of dairy technology" at OSU. He said the committee did not wish to extend its commitments into another four-year period "in view of present trends." Three students now attending OSU under the dairy industry scholarships will continue to receive aid, however, so long as they continue to qualify. Rackleff said the course of dairy technology will become a part of the food technology department at Oregon State University at the close of this year. The Education Committee of the Oregon Dairy Industries is a non-profit organization supported by the state's commercial dairies. Rackless has been a member of the committee since the program started. He said it is his personal opinion that all the Pacific Northwest institutions may find it necessary to get together and form one regional dairy technology school "to keep down per student costs and to maintain a degree of specialization useful to the industry."
