

Arms Negotiations Nearing Stalemate

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Of the Associated Press

WASHINGTON—Berlin settlement talks between the United States and Russia seem to be grinding to a standstill. East-West negotiations on disarmament similarly appear on the verge of stalemate.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk discussed both issues Thursday with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin. The hour-and-45-minute talk failed to yield any progress on either problem.

Just before the meeting Rusk said that if the Soviet government continues to insist on discussing only the problem of how to reduce or to eliminate western positions in Berlin "then there is no basis for serious negotiations in that direction."

On disarmament he is reported to have asked the Soviet government through Dobrynin that it reviews its opposition to international inspection as a means of safeguarding an arms cut agreement and thus try to find "some way to take some steps to get on with disarmament."

Moscow Speech

Earlier this week Soviet Premier Khrushchev insisted in a speech in Moscow that U.S., British and French troops must be removed from West Berlin. The real reason the Western powers want international inspection is to obtain espionage information in the Soviet Union, he said.

U.S. officials privately see prospect of breaking the deadlock between the U.S. position reflected by Rusk and the Soviet policies stated by Khrushchev. Nevertheless as Rusk said Thursday, they expect talks to continue on the ground that both Moscow and Washington prefer to maintain contracts on major world issues even if their efforts at agreement get nowhere.

Rusk is due to go over much the same ground with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at a meeting in Geneva toward the end of next week. The two are scheduled to go to Geneva to sign final accords on the neutralization of Laos.

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White said Rusk and Dobrynin covered Berlin and disarmament and mentioned Laos. White said the meeting was preliminary to the Rusk-Gromyko conference.

Disarmament talks which began at Geneva last March in a 17-nation conference are scheduled to resume next Monday after a month-long recess. Rusk declared at his news conference that U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean was returning to Geneva for serious negotiations and he added: "We hope somehow that we can find a way to get started on this process of turning down the arms race."

'Major Obstacle'

But he said that Khrushchev had "seemed to confuse international inspection . . . with espionage."

"This is a major obstacle which has to be overcome," Rusk said, "because it is difficult to see how we can take the road toward disarmament without effective insurance that the agreements are in fact being kept."

Talking about his exchange of views with Gromyko and Dobrynin on the Berlin issues, Rusk said the Russians have excluded "a great many things which are of interest to us."

He cited as examples "the permanent peace settlement for Germany as a whole . . . or arrangements with respect to Berlin as a whole."

"If the only thing that is to be discussed is Western interest, vital interests," he continued, "and the only purpose of such discussion is to seriously reduce or to eliminate Western positions, then there is no basis for serious negotiations in that direction."

Deaths Held Accidental

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — Funeral services are scheduled Sunday for former Gov. and Mrs. James T. Blair who were killed by carbon monoxide fumes at their home Wednesday night.

Services will be at Jefferson City's First Presbyterian church. Sheriff Horace Debo said authorities agreed the deaths were accidental. The former governor apparently left the motor running when he put their car in the garage about 7:30 p.m. An air-conditioning unit in the garage circulated the fumes through the house.

Blair, who was 60, had been a leader of Missouri Democrats almost 40 years. He served as governor from 1956 to 1960.

Engineer Blames Brakes

Rail Wreck Cause Matter of Dispute

MISSOULA, Mont. — The engineer of a passenger train which crashed last month in Western Montana says brake failure was responsible.

But his opinion was disputed Thursday by Carl H. Burgess, a Northern Pacific Railway vice president. Burgess testified at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing that the wreck was caused by the negligence of the crew.

Engineer Elden Lynn of Missoula said he closed the throttle of the Northern Pacific North Coast Limited and three times tried to brake the train without effect.

One child was killed and more than 200 persons were injured as 15 cars of the 17-car Seattle to Chicago train sped off the tracks on a mountain grade northwest of here June 10.

Lynn's testimony, recorded earlier at a closed company probe into the wreck, was entered as evidence as the hearing closed.

Lynn and his fireman, Gerald Haines of Missoula, did not testify at the two-day ICC hearing, walking out of the session with their attorney early Thursday.

The attorney, Jay Kurtz, objected to introduction of testimony on the train's speed. Railway officials said it was traveling at 87-89 miles an hour when it plunged off Evero hill. The speed limit on the grade is 30 miles an hour. The descent is about 50 feet per mile on the eight-mile grade, steeper on the NP line.

Burgess, of St. Paul, testified the derailment was caused by negligence of the crew. He said there was no indication of mechanical malfunction.

An NP doctor, John A. Evert, said blood tests indicated the engineer was under the influence of alcohol when he took command of the train about 2½ hours before the crash.

The engineer and firemen were identified by witnesses Wednesday as being patrons of two taverns before taking control of the train. However, Lynn claimed he had only one beer.

W. P. Kennelley of Seattle, superintendent of motive power for the NP, said the 6,003-horsepower diesel locomotive must have been wide open when the luxury train left the tracks.

Rex Bell's Will Filed

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Lt. Gov. Rex Bell left the bulk of his estate to his sons and made no bequest to his widow, former movie star Clara Bow.

In a will filed for probate Wednesday, Bell's estate was estimated only as "in excess of $10,000."

The will, dated Nov. 17, 1961, mentioned Miss Bow, the one-time "It Girl," only in a clause declaring, "I am married to Clara Bow Bell, but . . . we have lived separate and apart for many years."

Miss Bow has lived in seclusion for 10 years or more in the Los Angeles area. However, she came out last Monday to attend a second funeral service for Bell, conducted in Glendale, Calif. The initial rites were conducted in Las Vegas.

Brazilian Chamber To Vote on Cabinet

BRASILIA, Brazil — The Chamber of Deputies was to decide Friday whether to accept a predominantly non-political cabinet and end the government crisis that prompted President Kennedy to postpone his visit to Brazil for the second time in a year.

The deputies were summoned into special session to vote on the list of ministers submitted by Prime Minister Francisco Brochado da Rocha.

Approval would give Brazil a cabinet for the first time in 17 days. Rejection would force Rocha to quit and renew the deadlock between the Conservative-dominated Parliament and President Joao Goulart, whose Labor party is in the minority.

Rocha represents Goulart's third attempt in the past two weeks to form a new government to deal with Brazil's deepening economic troubles marked in recent days by food riots which left more than a dozen persons dead.

Rocha is a member of the middle-of-the-road Social Democratic party and his nomination to the prime minister's post won overwhelming approval from the chamber last Monday. But this was not considered a guarantee he could get approval for his program or his cabinet.

In presenting his choices for cabinet posts to the chamber Thursday night, Rocha promised to put forth immediately an emergency plan to deal with the growing problems of Latin America's biggest nation. He said the program will include "short term solutions" to such problems as food shortages, spiraling inflation and agrarian and institutional reform.

The governmental crisis began late last month when Prime Minister Tancredo Neves and his cabinet resigned to become eligible under the constitution to run for re-election to Parliament.

Goulart first nominated Neves' foreign minister, Francisco San Tiago Dantes to succeed him. But many conservative deputies considered Dantes too friendly toward Castro's Cuba and his nomination was rejected.

Goulart then named a conservative, Senate President Auro Moura de Andrade, whom the chamber approved. But Andrade quit after only 36 hours in office in a dispute with Goulart over selection of ministers for the air force and navy.

Services Set For Engineer

PORTLAND — Funeral services are scheduled in Portland Saturday for Albert G. Skelton, 65, former Portland division engineer for the state Highway Department.

He died in a hospital Thursday after a long illness. Skelton, who retired in 1960 after serving more than 40 years with the department, also held the rank of Marine Corps brigadier general.

He was active in the Oregon National Guard until 1957.

Survivors include the widow, Helen; a son, Robert N., Portland; a daughter, Mrs. Suzanne Nipp, San Mateo, Calif.; a brother, Joe L. Skelton, Salem; a sister, Mary V. Skelton, Corvallis; and four grandsons.

Following the funeral, there will be private burial ceremonies at Independence.

Trip for Funds

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika — Agricultural Minister Derek Noel Bryson is to leave July 17 for a tour of Europe and the United States to raise financial help for this East African nation.

Employees Approve Union Representation

PORTLAND — The National Labor Relations Board announced Thursday that employees have voted for union representation at two Portland firms.

At Allied Plating Co., employees voted 24-12 for representation by the International Machinists, AFL-CIO. At Portland Ice & Cold Storage Co., the Teamsters' Dairy Ice and Ice Cream local won 4 to 2 with one vote void.
