

Arab Jetliner Hits Mountain

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—A United Arab Airlines jet with 26 persons aboard crashed into a jungle-covered mountain in central Thailand Thursday night and an American military search party reported its first check Friday indicated there were no survivors.

Three of the 18 passengers aboard the British-built Comet IV were Americans—Mrs. Virginia Gilbertson of Bradford Woods, Pittsburgh, Pa., her daughter Christine and her son Eric.

The American family was en route to the United States from Tokyo, where Mrs. Gilbertson's husband, Dennis, represents the Blaw-Knox Steel Co. of Pittsburgh. They had booked passage on the plane at the last minute when their flight with another airline was cancelled.

Gilbertson accompanied his family to Hong Kong and had planned to return to Tokyo Friday. Friends in Hong Kong said he would leave for Bangkok tonight.

Three Asian newsmen were reported aboard the crashed Comet, on their way to Cairo as guests of the United Arab Republic government. Several other Tokyo and Hong Kong newsmen who were scheduled to make the trip to Cairo postponed their departure at the last minute.

The jetliner flight originated in Tokyo with Cairo the final destination after stopovers in Hong Kong, Bangkok, Bombay and Kuwait.

The pilot of the jetliner radioed Bangkok's airport he was preparing to land when he was 20 minutes away. That was the last word from the plane. The weather was relatively clear at the time.

A U.S. Army helicopter sighted the wreckage on the side of a 4,500-foot peak in the Khao Yai range about 50 miles northeast of Bangkok and landed near the crash site.

American search planes and helicopters were sent out from the big Thai military center at Korat, headquarters of the U.S. task force stationed in Thailand.

Unofficial speculation was that the blast would occur some 30 miles up and would be equal in power to 100,000 tons or more of TNT. The July 9 explosion was between 200-400 miles in height and was in the one million tons of TNT range.

Tuesday's blast is expected to disrupt radio communications severely because it will loose more of its energy directly into the radio-reflecting layers of the upper atmosphere which start at around 20 miles.

President Kennedy said March 2 when he ordered the most recent series of tests, that they would be completed in two or three months.

The three-month deadline falls next Wednesday, and if adhered to strictly, the coming shot would be the last of the Pacific program.

It was reported, however, that the deadline might be stretched a couple of weeks to get in one final 500-mile high submergence shot.

Double broken line (A) shows carefully guarded 60-mile coastal area of East Germany where new restrictions including special police stamps for residents will go into effect Saturday in an attempt to halt refugees fleeing by sea. Lesser restrictions on camping, boating and bathing will extend along the entire Baltic coast, single broken line (B).

Reds Move to Foil Baltic Sea Flights

BERLIN (AP)—The East German government Friday barred all unauthorized trips to the Baltic Sea coast in an effort to halt the flight of refugees fleeing by sea.

The order went into effect at midnight Thursday. The order was designed to prevent East Germans from fleeing by sea. Many East Germans, their way west blocked by the anti-refugee wall, have used boats to flee to Scandinavia and West Germany.

The order said all vacationers would need police permission to enter the three-mile zone. It even forbade the Communist Youth Organization from camping in the zone without special permits.

All coastal fishermen were restricted to East Germany's coastal waters. Crews of fishing boats that go beyond the coastal waters were required to register with the police.

Pleasure sail boats and motor boats were barred from use between sunset and sunrise. They were restricted to certain ports.

Large sailboats and outboard motors of more than 3.5 horsepower were banned altogether. Rubber rafts of the sort used at beaches were barred from going more than 150 yards from shore.

The order said only persons with special stamps on their identity cards would be allowed to live in the 500-yard defensive strip.

It forbade hotels and rooming houses to accept guests in the three-mile-wide zone unless the guests could show a police permit.

The order provided imprisonment for two years and fines of $125 for violations.

British Court To Consider Soblen Plea

LONDON (AP)—The British Court of Appeal Friday agreed to consider Dr. Robert Soblen's plea to be set free in Britain instead of being sent back to the United States to face life imprisonment as a Russian spy.

The hearing was set for next Thursday.

The date was fixed after the court acceded to a request by the British attorney general, Sir John Hobson, to speed up the case.

Soblen, 61, was refused a grant of habeas corpus by the Queen's Bench Divisional Court last Wednesday.

He was taken to a hospital in London July 1 after knifing himself aboard a plane bound from Israel to New York.

British authorities contested the habeas corpus plea on the grounds that Soblen had never officially been admitted to this country.

The attorney general applied for the case to be expedited on grounds the appeal involved the liberty of an individual and that if it were not decided before the end of the law term, July 31, it would have to be held over until October.

Under British law the home secretary must give directions for a deportation within two months of an individual's arrival. This means that some direction must be given by the court before September.

U.S. Puts Pressure on Junta By Chopping Off Aid to Peru

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Of the Associated Press
WASHINGTON—The United States is cutting off aid to Peru in an effort to bring about an early return to civilian democratic government in the South American country.

Announcement of the cutoff of aid, except for relatively minor humanitarian assistance, came late Thursday shortly after the White House had denounced the military takeover in Lima as dealing a serious setback in the cause of democracy in the Western Hemisphere.

'Great Concern' President Kennedy "has noted the developments in Peru with great concern," the White House statement said.

Washington officials said the drastic steps which have been taken by the administration to bring pressure on the military group which seized power in Peru Wednesday were considered essential to protect and promote broad Kennedy aims for all of Latin America.

At least one more U.S. action is in prospect—the suspension of sugar purchases from Peru at premium prices. Peru's annual quota of sugar sales to the United States at present is 190,000 tons with a value to Peru of about $19 million.

Kennedy reportedly was motivated by several considerations in his decision to put his personal prestige behind what amounts to U.S. political and economic intervention in a situation traditionally regarded by the American nations as internal.

For one thing, in launching the Alliance for Progress last year, Kennedy committed himself to the promotion of broad, long-range social, political, economic and governmental reforms in Latin America according to the needs and growth capacities of the different countries which were willing to cooperate.

Another consideration in administration policy making in the present circumstances is that a military seizure of power such as that at Lima may prove to be contagious. Kennedy obviously wants to discourage the spread of military dictatorship wherever possible.

Still a third point in the minds of the President and his advisers, officials said, is the fact that Communist agitators operating in many nations to the south are certain to seize upon the military action in Peru as an argument to restless civil populations that their only choice lies between dictatorship at one extreme and communism at the other. Kennedy obviously intends that the United States shall do everything possible to invalidate that argument.

$81 Million Involved The decision to cut off aid shelves about $81 million worth of loans and grant assistance which the United States has committed to Peru since March 13, 1961, but has not yet actually paid off.

Another $9 million of Alliance assistance was given to Peru under the administration of deposed President Manuel Prado.

The humanitarian programs of aid which will be continued include the providing of school lunches to Peruvian children. The food for these meals, costing about $2 million a year, is already in the warehouses in Peru, officials here said.

Restrictions Lifted ATHENS, Greece (AP)—A series of emergency measures decreed during Greece's 1946-49 war against Communist rebels, including a provision for search without warrant, was revoked Wednesday by a legislative committee acting for the recessed parliament. A ban on the Communist party, however, was retained.

Willamette Gets Grant

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two grants worth nearly half a million dollars have been approved for Salem and its Willamette University, Sen. Maurine Neuberger reports.

Mrs. Neuberger said the Urban Renewal Administration has approved a $454,455 advance for planning an urban renewal project near the Willamette campus. The project is expected to require an additional $480,655 grant, which has been reserved in expectation that Salem will apply for it, she said.

The Community Facilities Administration cleared a $400,000 college housing loan for construction of two women's dormitories and dining facilities for 93 women. Another $33,000 will be paid by the university.
