Town and Country Church

Conference Set At Oregon State

Three Emerald Empire residents, Mrs. Edsel Chase and Mrs. P. L. Herbig, both of Eugene, and the Rev. Phillips Todd of Westfir, are serving on the conference planning committee of the 14th annual Town and Country Church conference at Oregon State University.

The conference, open to the public, will be held Aug. 6-10.

Mrs. Chase represented the Oregon Farm Bureau Federation on the planning committee, and Mrs. Herbig, president of the Oregon United Church Women, represented the Episcopal Church Women, Diocese of Oregon.

This year's conference will feature a "new look," planners emphasized. Conference sessions have been designed to provide "continuing education" for clergy, church and community leaders and others interested in the town and country church. Three basic curses in communications, changes in Oregon agriculture and forestry and implications of community change will be featured.

In addition, daily general sessions are planned on such subjects as the changing concept of the "family farm," rural area development, resources of the land grant institution, family income management, community action through farm and home organizations and music. Several elective classes will also be offered each day.

The conference is planned and sponsored by representatives of the Archdiocese of Portland in Oregon, state and local church women's organizations, denominational representatives, Oregon Council of Churches, Oregon Farm Bureau Federation, Oregon-Washington Farmers Union, Oregon Home Economics Extension Council and Oregon State Grange in cooperation with OSU and the Cooperative Extension Service.

Further information on the conference and registration procedures is available through the Lane County Extension office in the Lane County Courthouse or by writing to the Rev. Loren H. Bush, Church of the Good Samaritan, 35th and Harrison Streets, Corvallis.

Missioner's Letters Tell Of Africa

Life as a Methodist minister in his native land, Southern Rhodesia, is not easy, letters from the Rev. Simon Kowo to Eugeneans indicate.

The minister, who served as an assistant pastor at First Methodist for six months last year, is now pastor of a large Methodist church in North Salisbury, S. Rhodesia. His letters to the Eugene church and to friends here tell of numerous difficulties.

On May 14, he said in a recent letter, he was nearly the victim of a murder attempt. Full details of this are not known in Eugene, but the Rev. Kenneth Simonds of First Methodist said that he understood the attack was attempted by a "racial hothead." The Rev Kowo apparently was not injured.

The Rev. Kowo's finances are "short," the Rev. Simonds said. First Methodist has established a "Simon Kowo Fund," and church groups and individuals have been contributing to aid the African minister's work.

This work now includes the administration of a very large school for native children. The school was established last fall, and now has 32 teachers and some 1,000 students. In Southern Rhodesia, the Rev. Simonds, said, the government provides schooling for only a selected number of colored children. The Rev. Kowo's school, which is apparently approved by the government, is for colored children denied schooling by the government.

8 Windows Installed In Vestibule

Eight stained-glass windows, purchased with donations by parishioners, have been installed in the vestibule of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Eugene.

The windows represent the Seven Joys of Mary, and the scenes include the lily, symbolic of the Annunciation; a pair of angels, symbolic of the Visitation; the Christmas rose, symbolic of the Nativity; the star of Bethlehem, symbolic of Epiphany; a pair of turtle doves, symbolic of the Presentation; the temple, symbolic of the finding of the child Jesus in the temple, and one blooming and one withered lily with leaves, symbolic of the Assumption.

These windows replace ones of yellow stained-glass, and were made by Bavarian Art Glass Studio in St. Louis Park, Mo.

In National Parks

Students Conduct Services

Early every Sunday morning, the strains of a familiar church hymn echoes in the tall firs at the Oregon Caves National Monument, near Grants Pass, as a casually clothed tourist congregation begins an outdoor worship service.

Similar scenes may be found at Crater Lake National Park, Yellowstone, Yosemite and the Grand Canyon—throughout the national park system of the United States.

Conducting this year's services are 162 college and seminary students. On weekdays and Saturdays, they serve as regular salaried park employes, working as bellhops, waiters, service station attendants, guides, truck drivers and in a number of other jobs.

But on Sunday and in their free time, they are pastors in the nation's largest parishes.

Now in its 10th year, the program is titled "A Christian Ministry in the National Parks," and is sponsored by the National Council of Churches.

Summer programs are held in 31 parks, and year-round ministries have been set up in seven more. In addition, two parks have winter ministries.

Half of this year's student staff are seminary students with previous preaching experience. The other student ministers represent various fields of training, including religious drama, Bible study, recreation and Christian education.

The program was founded, informally, by the Rev. Warren Ost, now director of the program. In 1946, when he was a student, he took a summer job at Yellowstone Park's Old Faithful Inn. There, he organized a 120-voice choir, all students, and later founded a student ministry program.

In 1952, the National Council of Churches brought this and other park ministries together in a single cooperative program, with the Rev. Ost as director. Since that time, the program has grown steadily.

Health Unit Plans Tuesday Film Showing

"Mrs. Hazard's House" and "One Day's Poison" are films scheduled for a Tuesday showing by the Lane County Health Dept.

The health department is currently sponsoring a series of films of interest particularly to mothers.

The films Tuesday will begin at 10 a.m. standard, 11 a.m. daylight, in Harris Hall at the courthouse. These films cover topics of safety and discipline. A discussion will be held after the showing.

The health department reported that mothers who viewed the first film in the series last Tuesday were favorably impressed. Expectant mothers in the group voted to form a group of their own and are planning to meet weekly on Mondays at 10 a.m. standard, 11 a.m. daylight, in Harris Hall.

Gas Firm Declares Quarterly Dividend

PORTLAND (UPI) — Directors of the Northwest Natural Gas Co. Thursday declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share on common stock and $1.43 per share on preferred stock.

The dividends will be payable Aug. 15 to stockholders of record Aug. 6.

C. H. Gueffroy, chairman of the board of directors, said net income in the year ending June 30 reached an all-time high of $3,360,000. Operating revenues set a new record of $28,026,000, which Gueffroy attributed to new customers, unusually cold weather and greater usage by some large industrial customers.

Quartet to Sing At Baptist Church

Gospel songs, hymns and Negro spirituals will be included in a program Tuesday at River Road Baptist Church, 1105 River Rd., Eugene, by the Westmont College Male Quartet.

The quartet, now on a nine-week tour from the Santa Barbara, Calif., campus, will begin its program at 7 p.m. standard, 8 p.m. daylight. The program is open to the public without admission charge.

Television Previews

Ch. 9 to Recap Track Meet

Televisions Previews below, and radio and television schedules elsewhere on this page, are all given in Pacific Daylight Time.

A recap of Saturday's events in the U.S.-USSR Field Meet at Stanford Stadium, Palo Alto, Calif., will be presented at 10 o'clock tonight on Channel 9

The Saturday-Sunday competition between American and Russian athletes will have both taped and live coverage. Tonights special hour-long broadcast will replace Room For One More.

Other Saturday previews:

7 p.m., Fight of The Week (9-12)—Rocky River of Argentina meets Don Fullmer, of West Jordan, Utah, in a 10-round middleweight bout at Madison Square Garden.

7:30 p.m., Wells Fargo (13-8)—An above average episode for the series. John Doucette plays an army sergeant determined to protect his men against the brutality of a glory-seeking colonel in this repeat showing of "Reward For Gaine." John Anderson plays the role of the Indian-hating colonel who creates trouble by ignoring a treaty to order an attack on the Piutes.

8:30 p.m., Leave It To Beaver (9-12)—A repeat showing of "Beaver's First Date." For years Beaver disliked girls and dancing but after going to dancing school he changes his mind.

9:30 p.m., Have Gun, Will Travel (6) — Paladin w... through snow and blizzard in Alaska in an attempt to help the man he respects most in the world—a chaplain being hunted by a gunman.

Movies

7 p.m., (2)—"The Skipper Surprised His Wife." Robert Walker, Joan Leslie. Limp comedy about a naval officer and his wife and their domestic troubles. The wife spends most of the film with a cast on her leg and the sailor dons the apron in the family. (1950—fair).

9 p. m., (13-8)—"Monkey Business." Cary Grant, Ginger Rogers, Marilyn Monroe. Zany and often hilarious comedy about a scientist who discovers a rejuvenation tonic and tries it out himself with surprising results. (1952—good).

11 p.m., (13) — "East of Eden." James Dean, Julie Harris, Raymond Massey, Jo Van Fleet. A superb film. Dean delivers a great performance as the sensitive youth who feels unloved and unwanted by his father. The cast is top noteh, notably Jo Van Fleet who won an Oscar for her portrayal of Kate. Directed with taste and skill by Elia Kazan. Based on just a portion of John Steinbeck's novel of the same name. (1955—excellent).

11 p.m., (8) — "The Searchers." John Wayne, Jeffrey Hunter, Natalie Wood, Ward Bond. Fine western drama. Wayne and Hunter play theh searchers looking for a girl (Miss Wood) who was kidnapped by Indians many years before. Suspenseful throughout. (1956—good).

11:15 p.m., (6)—"The Happy Time." Charles Boyer, Louis Jourdan, Linda Christian. A fine comely about the ups and downs in the daily lives of an eccentric family headed by Boyer. Miss Christian plays the role of a French maid. (1952—good).

11:15 p.m., (9)—"The Naked City." Barry Fitzgerald, Howard Duff. New York police investigate a girl's violent death. The city is the real star with fine New York scenes in a conventional plot. (1948—good).

11:15 p.m., (12)—"Out of the Past." Robert Mitchum, Jane Greer, Kirk Douglas, Rhonda Fleming. Gas station owner with a past meets a desperate woman and winds up in murder. Complicated but intriguing mystery melodrama, well made. (1947—good).

Salvage Office Adds To Phone Service

St. Vincent de Paul Salvage Bureau in Eugene, a workshop program for handicapped persons, has added a 24-hour telephone answering service to facilitate the pickup of donations. The telephone number for the bureau, DI 5-0595, will remain the same.

Special needs of the Bureau at the present time include usable clothing and mattresses, according to H. C. McDonald, manager. Free pickup service and collection bags will be provided, he said.

The bureau's combination warehouse and retail outlet is located at 1880 W. 11th Ave., Eugene.

Eagles Honor Two Eugeneans

Two members of the Eugene Aerie No. 275, Fraternal Order of Eagles, have received state honors.

Edward Fretwell, 650 W. 19th Ave., Eugene, has received a trophy as the best ritual conductor in the state. Mrs. John Parsons, 1480 W. Hilliard Lane, Eugene, was honored for her record of enlisting more Eagles Auxiliary members than any other state secretary.

Fretwell is chaplain for the Eugene Eagles, and Mrs. Parsons is secretary of the Eugene Eagles Auxiliary.

Both received their awards at the recent Eagles state convention in Bend.
