

Flemming Praises Theme Of Theatre Assn. Meeting

Delegates attending the annual meeting of the American Educational Theatre Assn. in Eugene Monday were praised for the convention's theme, "Theater of Distinction."

AETA's Highest Honor Goes to UCLA Educator

The American Educational Theatre Assn.'s Citation of Merit Award Plaque, highest honor bestowed by the group, was given Monday to Samuel Selden, head of the department of theatre arts at the University of California, Los Angeles.

This award and several others were made at an awards luncheon held on the first day of the 26th annual AETA convention at the University of Oregon. The luncheon followed the opening session of the convention.

Selden served as president of the association in 1960. He has written more than 50 articles on the theater for leading national and foreign theater periodicals, and has written, or had a part in the writing of, 11 books. Before assuming his present position, Selden was chairman of the department of dramatic arts at the University of North Carolina, and was director of the Carolina Playhouse.

Barnard Hewitt of the University of Illinois, a past president of AETA, was given the Eaves-Costume award by Andrew Geoly, president of the Eaves Costume Co. Hewitt has written a series of books on the theater.

Recipient of the Eaves Junior Award was Geraldine Siks, assistant professor of drama at the University of Washington. She has written children's plays and co-authored a book on children's dramas.

Two graduate fellowships for young scene designers were given this year for the first time by Gothic Color Company of New York. Company President Irving Goldman named Kenneth Kurtz of Gross Point Park, Mich. as recipient of a $1,000 fellowship, and Roy Levine of Brooklyn College as the winner of a $500 award. Kurtz plans to study at the University of Minnesota and Levine will attend the Yale School of Drama.

2 Petitions Filed By Candidates

Dave Scofield, Springfield councilman from Ward 1, and John Danielson, announced candidate for the council from Ward 3, filed their nominating petitions Monday to become official candidates for office.

Both had announced last week they would seek election to the city council.

Scofield, proprietor of Dave's Pharmacy, was elected four years ago as a councilman from Ward 2. He is now seeking election from Ward 1 because of changes made in ward boundaries two years ago.

Danielson, an instructor for Springfield School District 19, will be opposed by Floyd Emerson, 1710 J St., who filed recently.

UO Publishes Journal

The July issue of "The Family Connection," a quarterly publication which is the official journal of the Pacific Northwest Council on Family Relations, has been printed by the University of Oregon Press.

Co-editors of the publication are Theodore B. Johanns Jr., associate professor of sociology at the university, and Curtis E. Avery, professor of education at the university.

The council is one of 33 regional groups of business leaders who have been asked by the UO to help fund the journal. The aim of the program is to expand exports to offset deficits in the U.S. balance of payments.

IP Ceremony Set at Coast Wednesday

Hatfield to Speak At Groundbreaking

GARDINER—Gov. Mark O. Hatfield is to be the principal speaker here Wednesday for groundbreaking ceremonies of International Paper Company's $35 million expansion program. The day's program will begin at 3:30 p.m. standard, 4:30 p.m. daylight with a welcome by Reedsport Mayor Jack Unger. A flag raising ceremony will precede Unger's address.

Also on the program will be the unveiling of what IP says is the world's first industrial totem pole, carved by Chief Leoloska, of Kalama, Wash. This unusual totem pole was designed by Leoloska and tells in Indian symbols the story of International Paper. It will be a permanent landmark of the mill.

Included in IP's expansion are new pulp and paper mills and a sawmill. The sawmill will be built to replace the present mill which will then be closed. Completion date of the program is 1964.

Lamar M. Fearing, IP president, will introduce Gov. Hatfield after making a few remarks. Richard C. Doane, chairman of the board of IP, will be at the groundbreaking and will address the Lower Umpqua Chamber of Commerce at its annual banquet Wednesday night. Other officials of the company from New York besides Doane and Fearing will be George Ward and Leonard Dalsemer, executive vice presidents.

Company officials from the Long Bell division of IP, Longview, Wash., attending the groundbreaking will be H. G. Kelsey, general manager for western operations; Henry G. Reents, manufacturing manager for western operations, and Ali J. Sandoz, woodlands manager.

The ceremonies will be on the mill-site just north of the company's present plywood mill on the "flats." Tents will be erected in the event of rain.
