

Need for Better Facilities Cited

Pilots Rate Eugene Airport

Lack of restaurant facilities and convenient transportation to Eugene were cited by Oregon pilots in a survey as the major reasons they don't use Mahlon Sweet Municipal Airport more often.

Results of the survey—sent to 2,500 Oregon pilots—have been compiled by Lloyd Castner, administrative assistant to the Eugene city manager.

Of the 733 pilots who returned the completed questionnaires, 565 of them said they have visited Mahlon Sweet on at least one occasion—and 432 of them either in 1961 or this year.

A total of 268 pilots said they would make more frequent visits if better facilities were available. Of those using Mahlon Sweet, 363 or 64 per cent, said they came here for business reasons.

The pilots were asked to list what they consider the five most important services to be provided by a fixed base operator at an airport, regardless of whether they have visited Eugene's airport.

The survey indicated the pilots consider, in this order, these services the most important:

gas fueling, repair and parts service, transportation to the city center, restaurant facilities and tie-down assistance.

Pilots were asked to rate a number of facilities at the airport. These included:

Pilots lounge: excellent, 13; good, 75; fair, 71; poor, 153; no answer, 253.

Ramp and taxiway lighting: excellent, 102; good, 159; fair, 50; poor, 39; no answer, 215.

Safety measures: excellent, 103; good, 180; fair, 43; poor, 24; no answer, 215.

Weather bureau: excellent, 331; good, 110; fair, 6; poor, 5; no answer, 113.

Fixed base operator: excellent, 43; good, 149; fair, 110; poor, 68; no answer, 195.

Transportation to city center: excellent, 8; good, 31; fair, 92; poor, 213; no answer, 221. (A number of pilots expressed "strong discontent" and said there is a need for a courtesy car or inexpensive rentals.)

Gas fueling service: excellent, 74; good, 203; fair, 101; poor, 38; no answer, 149.

Repair and parts service: excellent, 28; good, 67; fair, 79; poor, 43; no answer, 348.

Pilot training: excellent, 27; good, 48; fair, 36; poor, 22; no answer, 432. (Many of the transit pilots were unable to express an opinion on this phase of service.)

Hangar space rental: excellent, 5; good, 22; fair, 40; poor, 71; no answer, 427. (Only two Lane County pilots rated the hangar space facilities as excellent while 32 said they are poor.)

Restaurant facilities: excellent, 1; good, 8; fair, 18; poor, 231; no answer, 307. (Actually, there are no restaurant facilities at Mahlon Sweet at this time.)

Radio aids: excellent, 216; good, 149; fair, 19; poor, 16; no answer, 165.

Tie-down facilities: excellent, 29; good, 90; fair, 73; poor, 144; no answer, 229.

Condition of runways: excellent, 226; good, 159; fair, 12; poor, 6; no answer, 162.

Castner said the survey was taken to help in "more accurately planning the future facilities and services offered at the airport."

A $950,000 bond issue for airport improvements will be before Eugene voters on the November general election ballot.

Thank-You's Still Arriving From Korea

Letters of thanks continue to come in from Korean orphanages that received gift clothing and other items collected by Eugene residents last summer.

Molly Holt of Creswell, who helped in the collection drive, said she has received letters from the Chinhae Baby Home; from Masan So Hwe, another baby home; and Masan Young Shin Orphanage.

Chinhae and Masan are both cities near Eugene's sister city of Chinju.

Mrs. John Kendrick, wife of a U.S. naval officer at Chinhae and an acquaintance of Miss Holt's, helped see that bags of items sent from Eugene reached the orphanages.

Most of the material was sent to Chinju orphanages, the Sungkuk Orphanage at Pusan, and the Holt Orphanage at Seoul.

Miss Holt, a nurse who worked at various Korean orphanages, attended the University of Oregon the past year. She said Thursday she will attend the University of Oregon's School of Nursing in Portland this year, but plans to remain active in Korean orphanage work. She said she will return to Eugene for meetings of the board of the recently-formed Korean Orphan Fund.

UO Foreign Student Advisor Appointed

Howard L. Ramey, assistant professor of speech and producer-director in the Educational TV program at the University of Oregon, is foreign student advisor for this year in the absence of Kenneth S. Ghent, on a Fulbright exchange grant in Dacca, Pakistan.

Ramey has been a staff member at the University since 1951.

Two More Burglaries Reported

The number of burglaries committed in Eugene late Wednesday night or early Thursday rose still higher with reports of two more coming into police headquarters later Thursday.

One was at the Amazon Market, 1815 W. 11th Ave., from which $425 in currency and checks was taken. The money was stolen from the owner's office, police said.

Also entered was Pohl's Market, 18th Avenue and Chambers Street. The burglars, who forced a door, took a cigar box containing 53 silver dollars.

The box containing the money was found later, however, with discarded loot from a burglary at Christensen Pharmacy, 1740 W. 18th Ave., across from Pohl's. Police said the burglars apparently stopped in a field behind the pharmacy to sort out the loot, keeping some $600 taken from the pharmacy's safe and leaving about $300 worth of checks and other items.

Another burglary the same night was at Universal CIT Credit Corp., 3045 Royal Ave., outside the city. Burglars pried open a small safe and took about $120 in petty cash.

MacLaren School Boy Leaps to Freedom

WOODBURN (AP)—An 18-year-old boy fled from MacLaren School for Boys Thursday night.

School authorities said the boy, Gene Milton Pratt of Multnomah County, complained of a stomach ache was driven to the school's infirmary.

He leaped out of the car and fled into the darkness, officials said.
