

Timber-r-r-r Draws Gallery

Some Eugene scenes Friday: At left, University of Oregon students jam together at ringside as a tree slowly falls. The campus trees were hard-hit. The two signs seen in downtown store windows speak an obvious message. The lower panel, left to right, shows the time when a flying branch hit this clock at a Eugene funeral parlor; a store window dummy who looks a little weatherworn; and a couple of unidentified high school students who gagged it up a little while on a tour of the downtown area.

