Home, Farm Loans to Lane Veterans Drop

By BOB NEWCOMB
of the Register-Guard

A total of 437 farm and home loans amounting to $4,777,550 were made to Lane County veterans by the Oregon Department of Veterans Affairs last year. That was 203 fewer loans and $2.2 million less than recorded for 1961.

H. S. Saalfeld, director of the department in Salem, announced also that a decrease was recorded for the state as a whole last year. In 1962, he said, 3,958 loans were granted totaling $41,283,250—$21 million less than in the record year of 1961, when 5,944 veterans were issued the state loans.

He said that of the nearly $336 million borrowed under the program since it was started in 1945, $177 million has been repaid in principal and interest. As of Dec. 31, 1962, 26,475 loans were still outstanding in the amount of $229.9 million.

TRAFFIC CLUB ELECTS ITS SLATE—Roy J. Sampson, associate professor of transportation at the University of Oregon school of business administration, last week was elected president of the Eugene Traffic Club, succeeding Glen W. Wright, assistant general agent with the Oregon Electric Railroad.

Others elected include: Jerry A. Gates, chief clerk of Burlington Lines, vice president; R. J. Rice, general agent of the Soo Line Railroad, treasurer, and Ken Knowlton, chief clerk with the Great Northern Railway, secretary.

New directors appointed are Joe Folz of Consolidated Freightways, Carl Ugan, Southern Pacific Co., and R. A. Gosline, Wright, as retiring president, continues to serve on the board of directors.

PARTNERSHIP EXPANDED—Robert O. Porter, 28, who has been in charge of sales at Porter Foods Unlimited, 270 W. Eighth Ave., Eugene, has become a partner with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Porter, it was announced last week.

AIR MAC INC. MANAGER WINS AWARD—Robert W. Keith, manager of the Eugene branch of Air Mac, Inc. of Oregon, a sales distribution firm representing numerous manufacturers material-handling and construction equipment, recently was honored by the company.

At an annual sales meeting in Portland Jan. 10-12, Keith received a plaque citing him for "15 years of foresight, loyalty and cooperation in the building of Air Mac, Inc., presented by S. B. McDonald, president, of Seattle.

Phillip Larsen, a salesman in material-handling, and Bill Kyker, salesman in construction equipment, accompanied Keith to the meeting for the company's eight branches in Washington, Oregon and Montana.

BOXCARS TO GET WIDER DOORS—The Chicago and North Western Railway Co. has announced it will convert 870 of its boxcars later this year by enlarging their doors to nine-foot widths to meet the needs of Pacific Northwest lumber and plywood producers.

H. C. "Bud" Campbell, general agent for the company in Eugene, said the boxcars with the enlarged doors will be ready for use starting next April.

ELECTED TO HEAD MERCHANDISERS—Zane E. Kemler, general manager of the Super Val service division of McDonald Candy Co., Eugene, has been elected president of Service Merchandisers of America—a trade association numbering about 70 American and Canadian wholesale firms and 250 manufacturing firms.

Kemler is serving his third consecutive year as a director of the group. He has served one year as secretary-treasurer and another as vice president.

He has been with McDonald Candy Co. since 1939. He and his wife, Frances, live at 1910 Woodlawn St., Eugene.

ACCOUNTING OFFICE OPENED—D. W. "Bill" Barker, 30, who has served as office manager for Eugene public accountant Alton Lenhart for the past six years, has opened his own accounting firm in temporary offices at 1430 Willamette St., Eugene.

Barker is a former undergraduate student at Oregon State University and the University of Oregon. He is a native of Ontario, Ore.

In about a month, Barker will move into permanent offices now under construction at 1752 Willamette St., he said.

Barker, his wife, Beverly, and their 4-month-old son, Steven, live on Fir Butte Road, Rt. 1, Box 1058, Eugene.

MANAGEMENT CHANGE AT MIDGLEYS—Walter D. Schmieding, 65, this week was honored at a dinner in Eugene marking his recent retirement as manager and partner at Midgleys Millwork & Glass, Eugene.

Schmieding started with the company in 1922 and assumed the position of manager in 1938. He saw the business grow from a 16-man operation producing millwork mainly for residential use to its present size. The firm now employs 35 persons and produces architectural millwork for commercial and public buildings as well as for residences. And it includes a department which sells and installs glass and aluminum products.

Schmieding sold out his interest to the other partners—his sons, Donald Schmieding, 34, and Robert Schmieding, 36, and to Duane Marshall, 39. Donald Schmieding has become manager, succeeding his father. Robert Schmieding is chief estimator and Marshall is job supervisor and chief draftsman.

The firm in recent years has produced millwork for hundreds of major building projects in Western Oregon. Projects included millwork at North and South Eugene High schools, and the Lane County Court House.

During World War II, Schmieding served as general manager of Lane County War Industries, a cooperative industry producing hardwood truck bodies for the Army, and at the same time continued as manager at Midgleys. He and his wife, Alice, live at 795 Crest Dr.

ELECTRICIAN WINS PRAISE—Thomas C. McCormick of 750 E. 36th Place, Eugene, has been cited as "contributing more than any one individual to the success of the Marine Corps 'Toys for Tots' campaign the past Christmas season."

The citation was presented recently by Marine Maj. L. W. Larson, commanding officer of Company B, Fifth Engineer Battalion, at McCormick's place of employment, Georgia-Pacific Corp.'s Springfield plywood plant.

Major Larson presented McCormick with a pen and ashtray as a gift in formal ceremonies at the plant. He cited McCormick for his volunteer work in repairing toys collected in the recent drive.

Flee East Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Two border guards fled Red-ruled East Berlin in uniform Saturday, one of them under fire. They escaped in succession some 48 hours after Soviet Premier Khrushchev made an approving visit to the Communist wall.

U.S. Taxpayer Has Company in Woes

By SAM DAWSON
Of the Associated Press

NEW YORK—Other people's troubles often can be a comfort—even if they shouldn't be. And awareness of the squabbles in the Communist bloc can ease the pain for Americans bewildered by government spending rising to $122 billion and the prospect of Treasury deficits that seem to grow with each fresh look at the books.

And also the dissension in what has been billed as an Eden, the European Common Market, could do something for any shaken morale of Americans faced with stubborn unemployment, labor strife reaching the acute stage in some areas, a continuing deficit in international dollar settlements.

Even when things look bad, it's a comfort to know that we aren't alone. And the chances are we'll work out our problems as quickly and as well as will the others—and probably faster and better.

The Communists' troubles are economic as well as political. The policy split between the Soviet Union and China is the political part of it. But their struggle with agricultural failures, their loss of markets in Western Europe, their inability to get beyond hit and run gains in scattered areas of the world in their competition with American industry—all are becoming more evident. That's what is behind Soviet Premier Khrushchev's increasing imitation of Western capitalism and his attacks on the Common Market.

But the spectacularly successful venture of the six European nations also is running into problems. In a number of areas the big growth in industry is slowing down. The costs of production now are rising faster in Western Europe than in the United States.

At home the United States will have to deal with rising discontent in labor's ranks over the inroads of automation on jobs, and insistent efforts of management to hold down increasing production costs.

Congress will have to decide if tax cutting will help solve this problem by increasing consumer purchasing power and business spending power so that production will rise and more jobs be created.

And Congress will have to decide how high Treasury deficits can go without hurting the purchasing power of the dollar at home and its standing in world financial centers.

But the rest of the world will be having its troubles, too. Problems aren't an American monopoly.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At all drug counters.
