Critic Lists Show He'd Like to See

By RICK DU BROW
Of the United Press International

HOLLYWOOD — Television shows I'd like to see:

● On "Bonanza." The four heroes see a wounded man at the side of the trail. They look at each other, and keep riding.

● On "The Defenders." Attorney E. G. Marshall tells his son, "We'll talk about the principle later. Did you get the fee?"

● On "Route 66." The two traveling do-gooders stop to help someone, and are told: "Look, I've got two hands, and I'd like to work things out by myself. So mind your own business, and keep moving."

● On "Today." Host Hugh Downs telling a guest, "Be specific, will you? What do you think I am—a salesman?"

● On "Ozzie and Harriet." Someone uses a four-syllable word, and there are strange stares.

● On "The Donna Reed Show." A handsome stranger asks to use the telephone, makes a pass at Miss Reed, and she kisses him passionately.

● On "David Brinkley's Journal." A half-hour probe of "Chet Huntley Reporting."

● On "Naked City." Officer Horace McMahon telling Paul Burke, "Throw him in the cooler, work him over for a while, and he'll come around. They're all rotten when you get to know them."

● On "Wagon Train." The four heroes see a wounded man at the side of the trail. They look at each other, and keep riding.

● On "The Nurses." A young girl says she really doesn't care much about being a nurse, but she flunked out of college, couldn't hold a job and thought she might as well try this.

● On "The Untouchables." Eliot Ness is offered a bribe, accepts it happily, has a rousing good time, kicks a newsboy, laughs at a little old lady begging for a few cents to buy some bread, and no one ever finds out.

● On "Walt Disney's Wonderful World." Anita Ekberg and Norman Mailer narrating a nature film.

● Jack Paar on "Meet the Press."

● On "Open End." David Susskind saying, "I really don't have much to say tonight. Perhaps you gentlemen have some ideas."

● On "Tonight." Host Johnny Carson informing a guest: "Well, now that you ask, I prefer 'Johnny to 'Jack'."

The Channel Swim: Good news: NBC-TV cancelled "McKeever and the Colonel" . . . bad news: ABC-TV renewed "Ozzie and Harriet."

NBC-TV's "Car 54, Where Are You?" may switch to CBS-TV and replace "The Real McCoys" for that network next season . . . CBS-TV's "Lassie" moved into the "top 10"-rated shows with its five-parter about its starring canine getting lost in a runaway balloon.

Frederic March narrates a half-hour NBC-TV special April 21 on the Revolutionary War battles of Lexington and Concord . . . writer Harry Golden guests Monday on the same network's "Tonight" . . . P. G. Wodehouse talks about his latest Jeeves book — "Stiff Upper Lip, Jeeves" — March 29 on the "Today" show, also on NBC-TV.

British TV Shows Births

LONDON (AP)—Films of births by Caesarean section were shown on British television Wednesday night in full detail. Squeamish viewers were advised in advance not to watch, and the BBC said it received no complaints.

The operations, one for a normal head-first delivery and the other for a breech-positioned baby, were filmed in January at a London hospital.

They showed the mother's abdomen opened and the baby being extracted by the surgeon, a woman. She spoke through a portable chest microphone as she worked, explaining the operation.

The program, "Your Life in Their Hands," is a weekly show on medical problems that normally has more than a million viewers.

Songwriter Settles Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In 1922 songwriter Leo Mantin wrote a piece entitled "Around The World in 90 Minutes."

The song "Around The World" in the film "Around The World in 80 Days" was stolen from his song, Mantin claimed. He filed suit against the estate of Mike Todd, the film's producer, for $1.5 million, charging plagarism. The song "Around The World" was credited to the late Victor Young.

The case was on trial Wednesday—with a piano in the courtroom to facilitate the presentation of evidence—when attorneys for both sides announced a settlement. The agreement was reached out of court, and the amount involved was not disclosed.

Rocket Test Successful

SAN NICOLAS ISLAND, Calif. (AP) — The new medium-range Sergeant missile was tested 21 times high in the New Mexico desert, but what the Army wanted to know was whether it would also work at sea level.

Wednesday, the Army said, it worked fine.

The Sergeant was lobbed 70 miles to a target on San Miguel Island in its first public firing at sea level. This was the second in a series of three test shots being conducted to see how the Sergeant withstands the corrosive salt-laden air and behaves in the more dense atmosphere at sea level. The New Mexico tests were conducted at White Sands 4,000 feet above sea level.

The Sergeant, a 34-foot single-stage missile that operates on solid fuel, already is being deployed in Europe. It has a range of about 75 miles and is capable of carrying nuclear warheads.

San Nicolas is 55 miles southwest of Los Angeles.

Television Previews

Alcoa Premiere Absorbing Drama

Tonight's Alcoa Premiere show at 10 on channels 9 and 12 is an absorbing drama.

Entitled "Labyrinth," it's an adaptation of Lawrence Durrell's novel of the same name. Mark Rodgers adaptation stresses the adventure elements.

It's the story of a quintet of tourists who come to the Isle of Crete to visit the famous Labyrinth there, and what befalls them when they do. Performances are good, with Salome Jens being a standout.

Other Thursday previews:

8 p.m., Perry Mason (6)—Pretty good show tonight. Mason's wily lady client, played with skill by Patricia Barry, gets him accused of a murder.

9 p.m., As Caesar Sees It (9-12)—Sid's opening sketch about a couple who move into a new apartment, and his monologue about a man who talks to himself are good. But his take-off on Candid Camera falls flat.

9:30 p.m. McHale's Navy (9-12)—A Tokyo Rose-type character gets the goods on the captain. He suspects McHale's men of sabatoge and forces Ensign Parker (Tim Conway) to act as his counterspy. This show is always at its best when Joe Flynn as the captain and Conway get involved with each other.

10 p.m., Andy Williams (13-8)—Guest include comic Shelly Berman and dancer Rita Morena.

Movies

7:30 p.m. (2)—"13 Rue Madeleine." James Cagney, Annabella. Semi-documentary spy story that gets confused in the middle and never seems to get straightened out. (1947—fair).

11:30 p.m. (12)—"Lady in the Dark." Ginger Rogers, Ray Milland. Musical fantasy about a successful career woman under psychoanalysis. (1944—good).

Friday (daytime):

9:35 a.m. (12) — "Timothy's Quest." Dickie Moore, Virginia Weidler. Soap opera-type tale of a pair of orphans seeking a home and love. (1936—poor).

3 p.m. (13) — "Jump Into Hell." Jacques Sernas, Kurt Kasznar. War film about the heroic paratroopers and their feats in Indo-China. (1955—fair).

3 p.m. (8) — "Crosswinds." John Payne, Rhonda Fleming. Average tale of island intrigues, with Payne the victim of a double-cross and Rhonda captured by head-hunters. (1951—fair).

4:15 p.m. (6) — "Harlem Globetrotters." Dull story about one of the members of the famous Negro team. The basketball game scenes are the best things in the film. (1951—fair).
