Special Program At UO Concerns Library Careers

A special program concerning career opportunities in librarianship will be held Wednesday by the University of Oregon Library to coincide with National Library Week.

"Life as a Librarian" is the theme of the program scheduled for 2 p.m. in the Current Newspaper Reading Room of the University Library. It is open to both students and the public.

Short films on librarianship, a tour of the library, and a display of rare books will be featured.

The event is sponsored by the Staff Assn. of the University of Oregon Library. Marian Greene, reference librarian and Judith Doig, head circulation librarian, are handling arrangements.

Librarians who will be present to answer questions include: Carl W. Hintz, university librarian; Alan Wolstencroft of the Oregon State Library in Salem; Elizabeth Findly, head reference librarian at the University; Claire Meyer, social science librarian; Perry D. Morrison, assistant university librarian; Jo Anne Kingdom, humanities librarian; and Robert Lockard, social science librarian.

Representing education for librarianship will be Edward Brazee, visiting field work scholar from the University of Washington, and Ione F. Pierson, assistant professor of librarianship at the University of Oregon.

Social Security Receipts Totaled

Almost $13 million was received in Lane County during 1962 in benefits paid out by the U. S. Social Security Administration, according to the Eugene district office of the federal agency.

The county has about 15,000 persons receiving benefits. These include retired and disabled workers, the spouses of retired or disabled workers, widows or widowers, dependent parents, and children of retired, deceased or disabled workers.

In the Eugene office, the number of persons receiving benefits is increasing. For December, 1962, there were 15,371 beneficiaries receiving $1.4 million—about a 9 per cent increase over the same month the year before.

Completion of Ideologies Veteran Lecturer's Topic

Few speakers have had more platform experience than Charles T. Vetter, Jr., lecturer who will speak at a University of Oregon assembly Monday.

The assembly will be at 8 p.m. in the ballroom of the Erb Memorial Union. Vetter's lecture will be on "Competing Ideologies—Today's Challenge."

Vetter, lecturer and training officer for the U.S. Information Agency, is a regular lecturer at the State Department Foreign Service Institute, the Military Assistance Institute, the Air University, the School in International Service of American University (where he is a professional lecturer), and for other overseas orientation programs. He also lectures before state and national meetings of educational, service, government, military, religious, and trade organizations. In 1962 he made a six-week official lecture tour of nine Latin American countries.

Vetter has been in government service since 1950, when he was a research and liaison officer with the Department of State. He has been with the U.S. Information Agency since 1953.

Vetter is a graduate of Hamilton College and received his LL.B. degree from National University Law School and his LL.M. degree from George Washington University Law School.

In recent months, Vetter has also been engaged in training of over 40 Peace Corps groups throughout North and South America.

Vetter's lecture appearance at the University of Oregon is open to the public.

Air Force Team To Visit Campus

Two Air Force officer selection representatives will visit the University of Oregon campus Tuesday to discuss the Air Force's officer training school with interested students.

Capt. Berlyn E. Schultz and Capt. Carey A. Springer will be at the University's Erb Memorial Student Union from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Appointments may be arranged through the Eugene Air Force recruiting office, DI 3-2021.

In addition to information about the officer program, the men will be prepared to answer questions about other programs of the Air Force.

All-Day Seminar Planned By Trial Lawyers Tuesday

A panel of nationally-known trial lawyers is expected to lead an all-day seminar in Eugene Tuesday on the trial of personal injury cases.

The meeting will be held in Harris Hall at the Lane County Courthouse.

The seminar is open to all lawyers and is sponsored by the National Assn. of Claimants Compensation Attorneys (NACCA). The organization has a membership of about 20,000.

A key panelist will be John Lane of Charleston, W. Va., president of the organization. He is one of the nation's outstanding trial lawyers, according to Eugene attorney E. B. Sahlstrom, who is making arrangements for the seminar.

The seminar will open at 8:30 a.m. and adjourn at 5:30 p.m. No advance registration is being taken. The fee is $10.

Student Head Elected

CORVALLIS — Oregon State University students elected a new student body president Friday. He is Grant W. Watkinson, junior science major from Newport. Watkinson polled 1,802 votes to 1,452 for Michael Koch, St. Paul.
