

Additions to the Civil Rights Walk of Fame

Footsteps of nine civil rights icons were added to the International Civil Rights Walk of Fame during the 2012 Trumpet Awards events in Atlanta. Attorney Fred D. Gray, who served as the lawyer for the Montgomery bus boycott will be honored along with: Rev. Willie Bolden, JT Johnson and the Civil Rights Foot Soldiers, Rev. Dr. E.T. Caviness, Dosan Ahn Chang Ho, Constance W. Curry, Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, Charles J. Ogletree, Jr. and Dr. Walter F. Young. The footsoldiers were the staff and volunteers from the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

The International Civil Rights Walk of Fame was created in 2004 by Trumpet Awards founder, Xermona Clayton, to give recognition to the men and women who sacrificed and struggled to win equality under the law. The display has become one of the most visited tourist attractions in the city of Atlanta.

"This walk of fame tells a phenomenal story about the legacy of this nation," Clayton said. "It is a permanent testimony to those who have dedicated themselves to progress of our people and to this nation."
