

Project Dayshoot + 30

Peninsula Park Girls Make Hearts

Ashwaq Hussein getting off the nightshift

On July 15, 1983 more than 90 photographers spread out across Oregon to capture a visual record of our state. The event was recorded in an exhibit for the Oregon Historical Society and a book called One Average Day. This week some of those same photographers joined other photographers and videographers to celebrate the 30th anniversary of Project Dayshoot by repeating their feat. More than 100 people took part in Project Dayshoot+30, including The Skanner News' multimedia editor Helen Silvis. Here are some of The Skanner News Dayshoot+30 photographs, taken at the Urban League's Senior Center, Rockwood MAX station, the Rockwood Boys and Girls Club; North Killingsworth Street and Peninsula Park. Thank you to everyone who took part.

Four Generations of the Ross Family

Rockwood Boys and Girls CLub

Kaman Trent

Rockwood Three Ladies

Peninsula Park Girl

ULSC Gracie Mason and Lee Leonard

Urban League Senior Center

Israel Rhodes

Life is Love

ALL PHOTOS BY HELEN SILVIS