law enforcement training in crisis intervention and how to respond to those with mental illness.

“Why do I care so much about mental illness? This is what I’ve been hearing about and I want to take on the issues that both make headlines and that keep families up at night,” Clinton said.

“Mental illness is not respective to income, status, race, political affiliation or any other category. I believe together we can make sure that the next generation get quality health care without the stigma, shame or other barriers,” she said.

REAL ESTATE EQUITY PROGRAM MANAGER

Are you passionate about social equity, construction and real estate development? Are you interested in creating economic opportunities through catalytic projects across Portland? PDC is seeking a dynamic professional with the skills and experience to manage PDC's real estate equity program in close collaboration with internal and external partners.

The Real Estate Equity Program Manager reports to the Real Estate Development and Construction Manager and ensures equitable construction, workforce, and apprenticeship objectives are met within all PDC real estate projects. Key responsibilities include acting as ambassador to contractors, developers, public agencies, community organizations and PDC staff to identify and advertise opportunities, develop partnerships and increase positive outcomes on projects in which PDC invests. The Real Estate Equity Program Manager designs and implements new programmatic approaches, ensures compliance with policy objectives and evaluates performance against project and program goals.

The ideal candidate will be an expert in construction with significant knowledge of regulations regarding workforce, certified firms and affirmative action with at least seven years of related experience. They will have strong interpersonal skills, demonstrated success in working with diverse partners, and excellent communication skills. They will enjoy analyzing, organizing and reporting on complex information using spreadsheets and have strong negotiation and facilitation skills. They will be committed to social equity, build and maintain positive and productive relationships and be committed to the agency's mission of creating economic growth opportunity for all.

The selected candidate will oversee the agency's next disparity study to support PDC's equitable contracting efforts. The candidate will also manage implementation of new software to publically report on contracting outcomes and work with colleagues and partners to develop programs/initiatives that increase the diversity of prime contractors on PDC projects.

Salary
$79,590 - $104,805 annually
