Mayor Launches Online Survey for Input on Next Police Chief

Mayor Ted Wheeler has launched an online survey to provide Portland residents an opportunity for community input on the desired qualifications for the Portland Police Bureau's next chief. It will be available online through June 12, and can be accessed at <https://www.portlandoregon.gov/omf/Police-ChiefSurvey>.

Multnomah County Awards CAP $200,000 to Support LGBTQ+ Primary Care through Prism Health

Cascade AIDS Project (CAP) announced last week that Multnomah County has awarded $200,000 in operational support to support Prism Health, CAP's LGBTQ+ focused primary care health center.

Now accepting patients, Prism Health is located at 2236 SE Belmont Street in Portland, Oregon. Prism Health offers a safe, affirming, and non-judgmental space where all members of the LGBTQ+ community can obtain the compassionate and culturally effective health care they need and deserve. In addition to comprehensive primary care, it is anticipated that the clinic will offer specialized services for the transgender community, HIV and sexually transmitted disease testing, mental health care, and integrated pharmacy services.

The clinic will serve the full spectrum of Portland's LGBTQ+ community, from patients with private and employee sponsored health insurance to Medicaid and Medicare clients. CAP will likewise prioritize inclusivity and outreach to communities of color and the transgender population to ensure that all members of the LGBTQ+ community have access to affirming and effective health care.

Green Show Performances Return to OSF June 16

Free outdoor entertainment returns to the newly renovated "Bricks" in Ashland June 16 when Dance-Ability International takes the Courtyard Stage as the first Oregon Shakespeare Festival Green Show performers of the season. The Green Show begins with the official opening of the outdoor Allen Elizabethan Theatre and continues through October 15, six nights a week at 6:45 p.m. The full schedule of free performances by local, national and international acts is available here.

Season highlights include performances by Native artists such as Ty DeFoe, Painted Sky Northstar Dance, Kevin Locke and Phoenix Sigalove; appearances by current and former OSF company members in celebration of the Festival community; and collaborations with Oregon Cabaret Theatre, the City of Eugene, Britt Festival and the Pakistan-based Theater Wallay in partnership with Linda Alper and Ithaca College.

The Britt Festival collaboration on Sept. 23 will feature the artists of Kinetic Light (Laurel Lawson, Alice Sheppard and OSF Resident Lighting Designer Michael K. Maag) presenting "Descent From Beauty," a dance work that tells the story of Venus and Andromeda, as brought together by projections of Rodin sculptures. Selected sculptures are animated as the dancers take on their form in movement, using a specially designed set of inclined planes intended to challenge the conventional relationship of slope and wheeled disabled movement. This collaborative work asks how contemporary notions of beauty are informed by our unconscious ideas about movement, disability and race.

The City of Eugene is partnering to bring Urban Jazz Dance (a deaf dance troupe), Embodiment Project (a socially-conscious multicultural group coming back for the Daedalus Project Variety Show) and the hilarious clowning of Acrobuffos to the 2017 Green Show season.

To preview the new Green Show experience, the community is invited to an Access for All celebration on June 15, 5:00 p.m.-6:00 p.m., in the Bricks courtyard. The event will feature live music, food and beverages and will culminate in a program celebrating Lead Donors Joel Axelrod and Judy Yin Shih as well as a host of others who have raised funds for the newly renovated space. The program will also feature a performance by Green Show guests Infinite Flow—A Wheelchair Dance Company.
