RNC

The party's robust $87 million raised to date — dwarfing what Democrats have raised — has also lifted spirits, as has improving economic confidence.

The consensus in Nashville is that the Republican-controlled Congress, not Trump, has let down the party.

"There is a level of frustration that Congress didn't repeal and replace Obamacare," Ohio Republican Party Chairwoman Jane Timken said. "They want the president's agenda passed. They blame Congress."

While Trump and Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell have feuded before and since the failed health care vote in July, there was little talk in Nashville of dumping the veteran Kentucky senator as leader.

"I'm not ready to abandon McConnell," Pennsylvania's DiGiorgio said. "But I would urge him to come together and get this done."

Trump has complained about McConnell and other Republican senators who have criticized the president or opposed his efforts. He notably pointed to Sens. John McCain and Jeff Flake, Arizona Republicans, during an angry speech to supporters in Phoenix on Tuesday.

Trump's intraparty attacks have some GOP strategists worried that the fighting could harm Republicans' chances of holding the Senate in next year's midterm elections, though that would require Democrats to retain almost all of the 10 seats they occupy in states Trump won last year.

Chairwoman McDaniel said Trump's taunts are the outspoken New Yorker's way of urging action.

"The president wants to see his agenda passed," McDaniel said. "He's channeling what I'm hearing from the American people, which is, 'We gave you the White House. You have the Senate. You have the House. Why aren't you getting these things done?'" films. However, you are obviously very intelligent and versatile. Are you concerned about becoming typecast. What would be your dream role?

EY: I would love to try something besides the action genre, like playing a lawyer. I'm really willing to play anything. I'm drawn to complex characters, and I'm up for any type of challenge. So, hopefully, my next role will be a very interesting. But you never know what you're going to get.

KW: This has certainly been a banner year for female empowerment films: "The Zookeeper's Wife," "The Beguiled," "Wonder Woman" and "Girls Trip," to name a few.

EY: We talk a lot about it. This is a good thing for us. We have as much to offer as men.

KW: Ling-Ju Yen asks: What is your earliest childhood memory?

EY: The blue wallpaper with apples in the small apartment in a suburb of Paris where I grew up. That's my first memory.

KW: What is your favorite dish to cook?

EY: I like sliced potatoes in fine layers with creme and garlic, and baked with cheese on top.

KW: When you look in the mirror, what do you see?

EY: It depends on the day. Let me have a look. Today, I see someone with no makeup who's sweating, since she just came from the gym.

KW: The Uduak Oduok question: Who is your favorite clothes designer?

EY: Ooh, it's hard to answer that. For the red carpet, I like Christian Dior, because they know how to make clothes for petite women like me. And they know how to be classic and edgy at the same time. I like what they do.

KW: The Viola Davis question: What's the biggest difference between who you are at home as opposed to the person we see on the red carpet?

EY: They're quite opposite. That's why I like the red carpet. You can really have fun expressing a different side of yourself. I'm normally very low-key. At home, I just wear my dirty jeans and a t-shirt with no makeup. You'd think I was a different person, I guess.

KW: If you could have one wish instantly granted, what would that be for?

EY: Eternal life.

KW: Larry Greenberg asks: Do you have a favorite movie monster?

EY: When I used to go on holiday with my parents as a child, we'd stay in a house with other people. One of them had a machine that played old movies, and I became fascinated by "King Kong."

KW: The Pastor Alex Kendrick question: When do you feel the most content?

EY: When I'm with my loved ones.

KW: What advice do you have for anyone who wants to follow in your footsteps?

EY: Perseverance is one key. And do what you like.
