Humboldt Neighborhood Association to Hold Community Meeting on Renaming Jefferson High School

The Humboldt Neighborhood Association will hold a community discussion from 5:30 to 7:45 p.m. at the North Portland Library, 512 N. Killingsworth Jan. 29 to discuss existing memorials in the community that perpetuate systemic racism and exclusion.

The most recent Humboldt Neighborhood Association (HNA) meeting led to a discussion surrounding movement to renew a motion to renew the neighborhood policy stating:

"This board is opposed, as a matter of policy, to retaining names of schools and other public institution names for former slave owners or others who did not respect equal opportunity for all." - Clifford Walker, Humboldt resident and HNA Historian

The HNA discussion was focused on Thomas Jefferson and the local high school named after him. While Jefferson is revered as a founding father, the author of the Declaration of Independence and a successful president, many choose to overlook his behaviors as a slave holder (and abuse, including sexual abuse, toward those he enslaved) as well as writings suggesting he favored eugenics and White supremacy.

These conversations are happening throughout the country and world; anyone interested in these questions or this is invited to join the Humboldt Neighborhood Association and other community members Jan. 29 to discuss next steps.

Hors d'oeuvres and refreshments from Coffee House 5 will be offered.

Capacity for the room is 85 people and attendees will be admitted on a first-come, first-served basis; the meeting will be video recorded.

If you would like to RSVP electronically or have any questions, comments or concerns, you may fill out a questionnaire at <https://goo.gl/forms/hdVZGIB-Gv2CMmiXf2>.

Oregon Jewish Museum Hosts 'Never Again: A Jewish Response to the Rohingya Crisis'

The Oregon Jewish Museum and Center for Holocaust Education will host, 'Never Again: A Jewish Response to the Rohingya Crisis' from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., Jan. 29 at 724 NW Davis Street.

The Rohingya are a majority-Muslim ethnic minority who have been ruthlessly oppressed by the Myanmar military, suffering indiscriminate killings, forced evacuations, rape, and other forms of violence. Over 600,000 Rohingya have been forced to flee their homes since August.

The United Nations has called it a "textbook example" of ethnic cleansing.

Join the Oregon Jewish Museum to learn about the history of the conflict and a presentation on the state of affairs from Yusuf Iqbal, president of Americans for Rohingya. Rabbi Joshua Rose, of the Congregation Shaarie Torah, will offer a reflection on a Jewish view of the crisis, and professor Amanda Byron, Holocaust and Genocide Studies Project at PSU, will briefly review the history of genocide.

Postcards urging members of the Senate and Congress to take action to end this crisis will be available for attendees to sign.

The program is jointly sponsored by the Oregon Board of Rabbis, the Never Again Coalition, the Oregon Jewish Museum and Center for Holocaust Education, and the Holocaust and Genocide Studies Project at PSU.

This event is free and open to the public.
