The Woman's Dress Question.

Mr. Lester was in this afternoon, and his wife and daughter appeared with him. She is a good-looking young girl, and her dress is a credit to her. She is not a great deal younger than her mother, Mr. Lester, but she has a much more graceful figure. Her figure is not as much as her mother's, but it is as much in proportion. Her dress is a credit to her. She is not a great deal younger than her mother, Mr. Lester, but she has a much more graceful figure. Her figure is not as much as her mother's, but it is as much in proportion.

Old Men of Waiting.

While you are examining the price of a man's dress, you might as well look at the price of a woman's dress. She is not a great deal younger than her mother, Mr. Lester, but she has a much more graceful figure. Her figure is not as much as her mother's, but it is as much in proportion.

His Country.

He has found that in many ways a man's dress is just as important as his looks. He has found that in many ways a man's dress is just as important as his looks. He has found that in many ways a man's dress is just as important as his looks. He has found that in many ways a man's dress is just as important as his looks. He has found that in many ways a man's dress is just as important as his looks.