The Climax Washer.

SALRM, August 15, 1874. Having given a thorough trial to the Climax Washer, sold by B. Hazel, we obserfully certify that in our opinion it fully performs the work of washing clothes, with little or no manual labor, and is, in our opinion, an indispensable article every housekeeper should possess. The cost is less than any other machine we have known, the work is better done, and there is no perceptible wear and tear to the machine or to the clothes it cleaners.
