Narrow Escape of a Cool Boy.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. F. R. Smith, who lives in the hills one mile south of Salem, was repairing his well curb, and after removing it from its place, stepped into the wood shed to get a rope, but short as the moment was, a little lad named Freddy Roe, about 9 years old, son of a widow, managed to step into the hole and plunged into the well.

The Grasshopper Plague.

We have read of the terrible plague that has lately devastated portions of the Western States and committed fearful ravages in Nebraska and Kansas. All through the nation contributions are being made for the relief of the destitute and starving families who have suffered from this scourge.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.—We have received advance sheets of the opening chapter of the new serial, "The Story of Sevenoaks," to be published in Scribner's monthly for January from the pen of Dr. Hollaud.

UNEXPECTED FRIENDS.—Last Saturday evening Mr. O. Dickinson was surprised by the arrival of Mr. Orlando Wilder and wife, of Orland, Indiana, who came passengers by the steamer Ajax.

ENCAMPMENT ELECTION.—The following are the officers elect of Jefferson Encampment No. 14, I. C. R. C., for the term commencing January 1, 1875; elected at the last regular meeting: E. H. Ballinger, E. C.; I. M. Harrison, E. Coun.; I. B. Florer, S. C.; D. C. Sherwin, I. C.; W. T. Rigdon, W. S.; Mrs. B. Florer, W. T.; G. E. French, C. of H.

The Bulletin says that two boys, sons of Mr. Craig, of Junction City, were drowned last Thursday in attempting to cross the river at that place.

Robert Hargrave for selling liquor to Indians was held to bail yesterday by Commissioner Willis in sum of $250. He was taken to Portland to be jailed.

Mr. W. S. Ladd is detained at Chicago by the illness of one of his sons who has the measles.
