

The Markets.

Wheat.

Considerable new wheat has already come into Salem Mills and Farmer's Warehouse; receipts being about 1,000 bushels per day now. The yield of fall-sown grain falls far below expectations, having been drowned out by excessive rains and choked by wild growth of weeds in many instances. Spring wheat turns out handsomely, however. Both W. J. Herren and Salem Mills pay 65 cents per bushel for new wheat, and the market, through the world generally, shows improvement within a short time. The prospect for the new crop is now better than we expected, though we have yet no reason to anticipate anything like a high price. It is simply less disastrous than we feared, and there is room to hope for improvement.

Wool.—Mr. W. J. Herren informs us that he is prepared to purchase good clean wool at 15 1/2 cents, and that is the highest figure we hear of for small lots. There is but little wool left unsold.

NEW VARIETY OF WHEAT.—We made a note last year that Kinney & Co., of Salem, imported some wheat from Australia, that was a variety new to Oregon, with the intention of introducing its cultivation here, and ascertaining if it retained the character it had acquired both for quality and yield. We have been shown ripened grains of this wheat, sown by Mr. Wm. B. Stephens, who lives a few miles north of Salem, and he also showed with it some of the original wheat. The new wheat was one-third plumper than the seed sown, and Mr. Stephens thinks the yield will exceed anything ever known in Oregon, with equal cultivation.

GOOD TIMOTHY.—The largest timothy we hear of came from Mr. Palmer's place in the Waldo Hills, stood 7 feet 2 1/2 inches high, and the heads was 11 inches long. Who can beat that?

San Francisco Market.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

San Francisco, Aug. 7. Flour—Golden Gate, extra jobbing, $5 87 1/2 payable in silver at sixty days. Wheat—Steady; inferior grades $1 30 1/2 to $1 35 1/2; with some sales of choice milling at $1 55.

Oats—Quiet at $1 35 1/2 to $1 40. Barley—Brewing, $1 50 1/2 to $1 55. Legal Tenders, $9 (100). Liverpool wheat market to-day—58 60 1/2 to 59 for average California; 58 1/2 to 59 for Club.

California Markets.

We copy the following from the San Francisco Commercial Herald of Aug. 3d, 1876:

There is considerable disengaged tonnage in port seeking business, at the same time there is a large number of vessels now on the U. S. berth, and loading with dispatch, most of them being secured some time since at rates ruling from 600 to 700, according to time and port of discharge. The Br iron ship Dryad arrived here from Calcutta a few days since, under a home charter to a Granger at $2 24 6d, but upon arriving here was rechartered to the Grangers' Business Association to load for Liverpool at $2 17 6d. The fleet now on route to this port from star aggregates upon 300,000 tons of registered tonnage, about the same quantity as en route one year ago. At this writing, freights to the United Kingdom are entirely nominal—say 55 to 60s according to the port of discharge. We do not see any special desire to make charters or to do any spot business at date—ship owners' views still being firm at 60 shillings and upwards.

The export trade in July (the first month in the current harvest year) was unprecedentedly large, embracing some twenty full cargoes of wheat and one of flour to England and the European continent, besides considerable flour to China and South and Central America. The aggregate exports stand thus: Of wheat for the month of July, 645,004 cts, against 281,055 cts same time last year; for August, 33,714 cts, against 32,307 bbls for a corresponding period of 1875. While we have made this good beginning for the harvest year, we are encouraged by the promised returns of the harvesters to believe that we are to continue to do a larger export trade in August, and so continue for the year upon which we have so auspiciously entered. Since the incoming of August prices for wheat in Liverpool have shown a rising tendency, said to be occasioned by the advent of wet and rainy weather in England, thus jeopardizing the ingathering of harvest. Whether this improvement of 46 1/2 in values is to be permanent is yet questionable. It should, however, be remembered that the wheat averages in England for the past ten years have been about 11s, and very rarely going as low as 9s a quarter. Thus far in the season wheat deliveries have been free, the fruit of early contract purchases. Receipts now are liberal, and we confidently look for a continuance of free supplies.

Wheat—Within the past few days cablegrams from Liverpool announce a rise of 1/4 of a quarter on average California cargoes, occasioned by unfavorable weather to the harvest in the United Kingdom. This advance has been the occasion of a slight rise here, yet there is no excitement, no speculative feeling among local dealers or exporters, the English rise having been already discounted by shippers on this coast, leaving no margin for profit as yet. Wheat cargoes costing here $1 52 1/2 per cwt, freight 45, and exchange 40 1/2, make the cost and freight in Liverpool 46 2 1/2 a quarter, and which is even more than English purchasing orders will admit. The transactions for the week so far as reported aggregate as follows: 20,000 cts prime for export, private; 7,500 cts do, $1 50; 3,500 cts do, $1 50; 3,000 cts choice old milling, $1 52 1/2; 1,000 cts inferior mixed, $1 48 1/2; 1,000 cts very common, $1 25; 200 tons good shipping, $1 51 1/2; 1,000 tons prime shipping, $1 52 1/2. We submit quotations of the Liverpool market of August 21, 1876: average, 54 60 1/2 to 55; club, 58 1/2 to 59; average, 58 1/2 to 59; club, 58 1/2 to 59; 1874—average, 41s 2 1/2 to 41s 1/2; club, 41s 6d to 41s 3/4.

Hops—We have little to say about our home market; price 100 1/2 to 110 for choice. Emmet Wells' New York circular of July 21st says:

Quotations nominal and prices unchanged. Home crop reports are less favorable. The hot weather is beginning to have a bad effect upon the vine in some of the important districts. We have complaints of lice, thin vine, and slow arming out, the tendency being toward a "top crop," a crop in which the fruit clusters near the top of the pole. The quality of a top crop is usually better, though in quantity considerably less than when there is a profusion of arms to the vines. Foreign crop had not yet proceeded favorably. The reports had not yet produced any favorable influence upon the trade in London. It is reported that contracts have been made up in this State for the new crop at 20c. We would advise growers not to contract at any price. Wool—Advices from the interior state that fall shearing has already commenced in the southern counties. With us stocks are very much reduced, and that remaining will not foot up more than 500,000 lbs of all kinds. The trade is chiefly in best Northern and Oregon, of which there are free receipts. The last Oregon steamer brought down 200,000 lbs, and much of this has been placed at fair prices. The fact is, trade in Wool has been running very smoothly for the past six weeks, and within that time all good parcels and Lamb's Wool have reached market, and have found buyers at 100 to 110, merely to test the East on this class. The parcels referred to were more or less dirty and burry, and the quotations will have no binding influence on the market hereafter. Sales embrace the following: 20,000 lbs inferior and burry Spring, 96 1/2; 15,000 lbs, 13c; 40,000 lbs Northern California, good to choice, 17 1/2; 100,000 lbs, 12 1/2; 50,000 lbs Valley Oregon, 19 1/2; 20c for best. Eastern Oregon not in demand except at low rates.

European Grain Markets.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The Mark Lane Express says: A more lively business has been had in foreign wheat. Millers have operated with increased freedom, and there has been no further quotable decline. Supplies of barley continue scanty and values are therefore maintained. Oats are drooping in tendency, the imports materially exceeding the requirements. Maize sells readily at old decline on the past week, with fair inquiry for distant shipments. The floating cargo trade has been decidedly steady lately, wheat showing an improvement of fully 6d, owing probably to the unsettled weather and some slight revival of continental demand. Prices on the continent have improved lately, because the yield in France proves disappointing.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Clearances of grain from Atlantic seaboard ports for Europe for the week were 500,000 bushels of wheat, including about 150,000 bushels for the Continent; 1,100,000 bushels of corn, nearly all destined for the United Kingdom; 50,000 bushels rye, mostly for Norway and Sweden; 118,000 bushels oats for France and United Kingdom, chiefly the latter.
