FROM PORTLAND TO ROSEBURG. Tuesday morning, August 25th, a party consisting of Gen. Tansatt, formerly of the U. S. army, now visiting Oregon as civil and mining engineer, in the interest of the O & C. R. R. Company, Mr. Cogswell, connected with the Independent Statesman, Concord, N. H., now traveling in Oregon; Capt. Bickner, of Salem, Mass., who commanded a regiment that traded on the H. R. Company, at year sold his cargo to the H. R. Company, at Vanocover, accompanied by Messrs. Schuling and Brandt of the R. R. Company, went up the road as far as Roseburg, your correspondent having been kindly invited by Mr. Schuling to join the excursion.

After enjoying a good bed at the Roseburg hotel we took the train back again at early morning and stopped at SNOWDEN SPRINGS.

Where I am how writing this. There are a number of Springs at this place. Above the hotel on the hill side, are cold springs of pure water of the finest kind. Across the creek from the railroad and house is a salt spring of such briny attributes that a very slight taste leaves a permanent impression. It is not improbable that the manufacture of salt could be carried on here to some advantage. The spring that has given celebrity to the place comes up in the valley, a short distance from the house, and pours forth quite a resin. Its constituents are about equal parts of chlorides of magnesium, sodium and calcium. Carbonic acid gas rises very abundantly; there is also a trace of iron in the water. There is no doubt that many diseases will be relieved by participating of the waters and in fact many have been so already. The spring had a local celebrity and was visited by many for years past. Dr. D. Peyton has bought half interest in Mr. Snowden's 320 acres and a rather large house has been erected, and before another year increased accommodations will be provided. During the summer many have applied more than could be accommodated. The price is about 500 feet above sea level and the climate of Umpqua is free from malaria and the most healthful known. This of itself will prove of great benefit to invalids and with the creative property of the water added, and the good accommodations and clean fare to be had at the Yoncalla House, it will be seen that attractions multiply, not only for invalids but for pleasure seekers generally.

For the angler, trout is waik in the beautiful creek that pushes its way through the hills and circles past the house. For the sportsman, game birds are abundant in the hills and deer come at night and crop the cabbage plants in the garden. They have venison on the table most of the time. The house and spring are situated in one of the charming valleys—Yoncalla—for which Umpqua is celebrated. It is a beautiful country, consisting of great hills and lovely valleys, "jumbled together in admirable confusion," possessing the charm of a natural life, cultivated fields and unimpaired wilderness, side by side. Hill sides almost inaccessible become steep and wooded, and other hill sides sloping with fields of golden grain. Of course such a land is the natural home of the wild deer, for his forest retreats are within sight of the cultivated valleys. Here grouse, quail and pheasants raise their heads, and the winding streams must be stocked with speckled trout. Speaking of the water of Snowden one must conjecture as to the source of the varied supply, salt spring, chloride spring and pure spring water are all to be found in

From a Physician. Hyde Park, Vt., Feb. 7, 1875. Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Sons, Boston. Gents—You may perhaps remember that I wrote you several weeks ago in regard to the use of the PERUVIAN STRUP by my wife, who was suffering from general debility, the sequense of Typhoid Dysentery. I had tried the most noted physicians in this State, and also in Canada, without relief. At your recommendation she commenced the use of the STRUP, the first four bottles made but little impression, but while taking the fifth she began to improve rapidly, and now, after using six of the dollar bottles, she has regained her strength and is able to do most of the work about the house; and I feel that I cannot speak too highly in praise of the PERUVIAN STRUP. I have prescribed it to several of my patients, and have procured the sale of several dozen of it here. You can make any use of this letter if you see fit. Yours very truly, H. D. BRADMAN, M. D.

As long as you cough, there is danger, for the cough is a Safety Valve. Use "WINTER" and be cured. Sold by all druggists.
