SALEM, FRIDAY, OCT. 26, 1877.

CAME TOO SCON.

Waldo Hills, Oct. 18, 1877.

The present week affords such beautiful weather that we may say the Fair was held one week too soon. It is, however a difficult matter to settle the question, as to what time in the fall is best to hold the State Fair. The equinoctial storm varies from the 13th of Sept. up to the 15th of Oct. This year it occupied about one month, and closed out with the last days of the Fair. It would be hard to estimate what this State Fair might have been, if clear weather had prevalled for a week before and during the continuance of the Fair. Many thousands of persons were prevented outright from attending the Fair and a great amount of stock and valuable articles did not arrive on the grounds in time for regular entries in the several classes and WALDO HILLS, Oct. 18, 1877. articles did not arrive on the grounds in time for regular entries in the several classes and divisions of the Society. And in many cases there could not be that close scrutiny and examination of articles, which might have been necessary to make judicious awards. The officers and superintendents and award the officers and superintendents and award. The officers and superintendents and awarding committees, did all they could to mete out to all, strict justice and fair play. Errors may have been committed. To err is human ele.

SEED GRAIN.

HOWELL PRAIRIE, Oct. 18, 1877. Farmers cannot be too careful as to the condition of their seed grain this fall. Wheat condition of their seed grain this fall. Wheat and oats that have swelled or sprouted in the least should not be sown. Great losses have resulted to sowers of defective seed grain. It has been fully tested that much benefit has resulted from changing seed grain from one farm to another. Indeed, all kinds of seeds should be changed so as not to sow on the same land more than two consequitive years.

Potatoes in particular, should be changed. Potatoes in particular, should be changed.

I once true the same potatoes on the same land for six years, and though the land was rich river bottom soil, yet the yield went down to thirty bushels per acre, from one hundred and fifteen the first two years. It is to be hoped that great care will be exercised this season in the selection of seed grain, and in such as shall be sold for foreign markets.

as we have now, is encouraging to all farmers and stock men. foot is the country yet.

Wigandia Bettles.

Messrs. Weatherford & Co., of this city, have perfected arrangements with a firm in Phildelphia for the manufacture of bottles in which to put up 'heir celebrated preparation, "Wigandia." The first lot was received in their store on Wednesday. They have the word "Wigandia" sunken in two sides and a monogram of Westherford & Co., Salem, Oregon, on the front, which is really a near or weatherford & Co., Saint, Oregon, on the front, which is really a near piece of lettering. On the reverse side is a blank space for the label. "Wigandia," the justly celebrated cough mixture of this firm, made from our own mountain balm is at-tested by hundreds, who have used it, to be the best cough and cold remedy ever intro-duced in Oregon. Persons suffering with colds should hunt a bottle of it immediately.

Tae Grand Jury, at the present term of court here has bad an unusual amount of business before them. About a dozen men are in jail and several are out on bail. New cases are presented, and it is doubtful if all the cases can be passed upon them this week. The court will adjourn on to-morrow evening, as Judge Boise holds court at Albany next week. Burglary, larceny, and other unlawful acts are becoming, alas, too common in our midst. And if the law were fully enforced against all species of gambing, whisky selling without license, and rowdyism growing out of the traffic, cases would multiply ad infinitum.

Horses Stolem.

Last week, while Mr. E. C. Keyt, who resides at Perrydale, was attending the State Fair, two men he had left at work on the farm in his absence, siole two of his best horses and decamped. Mr. K. had been hunting for traces of them for nearly a week and only succeeded in finding any clue to the direction taken last Wednesday, when he went to Dallas and got out warrants for them and again started in pursuit. They were seen near Dallas by Mr. Hubbard. Mr. Keyt has been unfortunate in losing borses. One of his animals was rode off last fall, but recovered it after a brief hunt.

Premium Blankets.

The State Fair is no doubt a good thing says the Oregonian and the management worthy of commendation for the liberal premisms which they offer to encourage home manufactures, but the society should adopt some means to protect itself from imposition with the of those who seem never satisfied with the liberal premiums they receive when their articles are first exhibited. It is positively asserted that one pair of home made blankers have been exhibited and worn the blue ribbon grapually for the last class was a second of the last clas bon annually for the last cloven years, never having been used for any other purpose. A scelety brand would stop that kind of work and be an inducement for others to come in competition with some prospect of success,

Dismissed.

It seems that the case of the State of Oregon vs Lawrence Hall for forgery, was dismissed yesterday, at the request of the Prosecuting Attorney. It is presumed that the age and ignorance of the boy as to the crime, and in regard to his kindred and friends, and the amount of the forgery being but five dollars, mercy leaned toward him. It is to be hoped that he will take warning hereafter and learn that "honesty is the best policy."

Hand Scalded. Mand Scalded.

A little child of Wm. Histi's in this city, got one of its hands badiy scalded vesterday. Its mother had just taken a pot of beans off of the tire and placed it on fire floor near the stove; the little youngster, who is just big enough to be meddlesome, came prospecting around the stove and finding the pot, it drove its hand into the almost bolling beans, the skin was completely cooked on its little hand and will be many days before it will be of use to it again.

GRAND JURY REPORT. Report of Grand Jury for October term of Circuit Court for Marion county for the year

Grand Jurors, with Mr. J. M. Harrison as foreman visited the Clerk's office, and found it in good order, clean and neat, and an ap-pearance of system in keeping books, papers etc., prevailed throughout; found Sheriff's office in order—jail apparently well kept County Judge's office clean and carefully kept, and a general appearance of order and neatness throughout the whole building.

The south side of the Court House near the roof, needs repair to prevent damage from rain. The Penitentiary, so far as we were able to see and learn, is kept in good order. The only thing we see to regret is that as many able hodied men are idle. If employ men could be had for them, we think I would be better for the officers, the State and the prisoners. The City Prison is small and perhaps inadequate to the necessity of the city. The Capitol Building, is in good order inside; the outside needs protection from the elements to prevent damage. Found the Poor House and lands properly kept—building substantial and properly taken care of.

John M. Harrison, Foreman.

INFORMATION WANTED.

Last winter Mr. D. D. Prettyman of Polk county, received intelligence that his wife's sister would leave Arkansas in the Spring, overland by wagon, for Oregon. Supposing her to have started but not hearing from her, Mr. Prettyman wrote, September 10:b, to the Postmaster at Clarksville for information and has just received the following reply:

Your letter of the 10th ult., concerning Mrs. Sophronia Dixon's whereabouts was re ceived in due time. After many inquiries I have succeeded in finding out that she. (with two daughters and son) started for Oregon on or about the 15th of April in Company with Rev. Jesse Marshell and others. It has been reported here that disaster has befallen the party, but nothing definite can be heard. ED GREENE, P. M.

Mr. Prettyman is of course anxious to hear farther news and any intelligence relating to his eister in-law or of any member of the Rev. Jesse Marshall's party will be gladly received by him at the Salem P. O. Other papers please copy.

GOOD AS FOUND.

Saturday last Mr. Frank M. Bewley re ceived one of those surprises that don't hap-pen every day in this wicked world, and one that does our heart good to record. About five years ago Frank signed a note as en-dorser for a particular friend of his who was starting in business in East Portland. Misfortune overtook the business affairs of the East Portland mechanic, and when the note East Portland mechanic, and when the note matured Frank was called upon to pay it. It cost him $826, a goodly sum that Frank had scraped together by hard work, but he paid it without growling and charged it to "experience account." Frank's friend dropped out of sight and for four long years never a word from him until last Saturday when Cal. Scoville, of Wells, Fargo & Co., drove up and got Frank's receipt for a package containing $750, and a note from his friend, dated at Philadelphia, Pa., stating that the balance would be forth-coming at an early day. Frank considers that money as "good day. Frank considers that money as "good

The Tellurium Mines.

Mr. I. N. Muncy, of Canyonville, Douglas county, has been in the city during the past week for the purpose of interesting capital to aid in the development of the several rich ledges of the Tellurium Quartz Mining Company. These mines are only about two and a half miles from Canyonville, and are and to be of great richness and extent. There are six well defined lodes, specimens of which have been assayed and found to yield largely of gold, silver and copper. Several shafts have been sunk, one to the depth of firty feet. At present a force of twelve men are engaged day and night in working these mines, and already one hundred tons of the rock have been got out. The furnace has been completed and will scon be in working

That Earthquake.

Under date of October 14th, Mr. R. V Short, of Boon's Ferry, sends us the follow-ing, "I thought I would send you a little short, of Book's Ferry, and the location, "I thought I would send you a little note of the earthquake yesterday. At 2 o'clock I was picking apples at my house, I heard a noise resembling that of an old building falling. Then the trees and houses shook so as to shake the apples off, and the plastering out of the chimney. In T. A. Seeley's field it shook sheaves of oats down and nearly shook down the fences. One pe-culiarity about the shock or concussion at my place was, it did not effect the water in the river. I have not been able to find any effect of the shock in the ground yet.

The Langborne, Pa., Beacon pointedly ays: "Were a man to go to a bank and get a little accommodation—for instance, couple of hundred dollars for thirty dayshe would have to pay a dollar or two for it Were he to object to paying on the plea that it cost the bank nothing to lend him money. and that the currency would probably be be set down as a fool, without ceremony Yet, similar objections are made by sensible people when a newspaper asks pay for little services rendered."

Officers Elected.

Union Lodge No. 166, I. O. G. T., at Tur-ner's Station on the 20th inst., elected the following officers for the ensuing term, viz.: E. E. McKinney, W. C. T.; Percilia Riches, W. V. T.; C. E. Platts, W. S.; Joseph Miller, W. F. S.; Alma Riches, W. T.; Fones Wilbur, W.; E'sie Riches, W. M.; John McKinney, W. I. G.; W. A. Howell, W. O. G., and John Swintzer, P. W. C. T.

White Bull Mine.

White Bull Mine.

The managers of this corporation met in Portland a few days since and contracted with Measrs. Randolph & Bodecker to complete the tunnel already commenced, their contract to close whenever they strike the main ledge, and as soon as this is accomplished parties will be sont in to take out a ton of rock, which will be brought to Portland to undergo the process of amalgamation.

TRADE WITH JAPAN.

The New York Tribune has the followlowing remarks that should be regarded as rather suggestive to Oregonians, as we are situated at the gates of the Orient: "Japan is one of the natural markets for the products and wares of the United States. Of the civilized industrial nations of the world the United States is the nearest. She is only 6,000 miles distant, while England is 12,000, and other industrial European countries are from 9,000 to 11,000. The United States has the advantage also of two lines of steamers to Japan, so that there is no bar to trade for lack of direct steam transportation, as there is in the case of South America. Nevertheless, look at the position of the United States in the trade of the Empire. Of the exports of Japan we take only seventeen per cent., and of her imports we furnish only four per cent. England, 6,000 miles further away, takes thirtyfive per cent. of the imports. England have scrutinized the market of Japan closely, and have sent there the things that can be sold. They have made w thorough and sustained effort to capture the market and have succeeded. The Americans in their free and easy style, are waiting for the Japanese to come here as buyers. They will never come. And that is not the way a trade is se-

SALEM TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The Assocition met at the usual place—Central school building—at 4:40 p. m. and was called to order by the President, Miss Mattie L. Powell.

Roll call, Miss D'Arcy was tardy. The Secretary not having the minutes of the previous meating in his possession, they was vious meeting in his possession, they were not read.

Mr. Randle appointed especial critic.

Under the head of General Business, Miss Curl inquired it pupils could go from one school in the city to the other at their pleasure. It was thought they could not. Some discussion was had in regard to dropping negligent scholars a grade in their studies.

The regular discussion of the subject—spelling was opened by Miss Warriner of South Salem school. She teaches spelling to beginners from charts and black-board exercises.

Mr. Randle, of North Salem school, follesson should be placed in sentences by the pupils that they may learn the definition of each word. Children should not be required to lumber their minds with words that they do not use and cannot comprehend. The do not use and cannot comprehend. The reading book should be used as a spelling book; all difficult words there should be spelled and defined in accordance with the regulations of the course of study.

Miss Powell followed with a very able paper on this subject. She thinks children should learn to spell words in sentences should learn to spell words in sentences instead of in perpendicular columns. Purils should know how to use a word before they are required to spell it. Spelling books should be printed in script, as we invariably spell by sight, and in script. It is absurd to require pupils to learn to spell long columns of words that they cannot use. Spelling should be graded that students may learn only those words which they use and understand.

Children should be taught the meaning of prefixes and roots of words of course not in a single grade, but a few in each grade, and by the time they have finished the course of study, most of them will be able, by this means, to define nearly every word in use.

Spelling should invariably be taught by writing exercises. Oral spelling should not receive that attention which is generally given to it.

Mrs. Curl goes over the spelling lesson with the pupils explaining and defining every word, after which the pupils study and recite it. Uses the reading book, giving dictation lessons from it daily. Thinks written the study has a simost exclusion about the proof simost exclusion. ten spelling should be used almost exclu-

Miss Taylor thinks the written and oral exercises should go together. Teaches the meaning of suffixes. In oral spelling requires the pupil to pronounce the word dis incily before spelling it, that he may learn the correct pronunciation of words as well as orthography. In writing, each word should be divided into sylables, that the pupil may learn to properly syllabify.

Messrs, Steeves and Gregg joined in the general discussion.

Reading was selected for discussion at the next meeting and Mrs. L. G. Adair, of the Central school appointed leader. Mr. Randle, the critic, made some valuable suggestions, Some general criticism fol-On motion adjourned to 'meet at the usua

Painful Accident.

Mr. P. J. Newburg met with a painful ac-cident at the Capital Lumbering mills yescident at the Capital Lumbering mills yes-terday morning. He was working the edger, when in lifting a board and in the act of turning around, he made a misstep, disloca-ting his right leg at the knee joint. He was, conveyed to the office of Doctors Hall & Reynolds, who proceeded to reset the joint, and at the present writing he is resting as comfortably as could be expected. Mr. New-burg came to this city last Monday, for the first time and went to work for the Capital Lumbering Company yesterday morning. Lumbering Company yesterday morning. We understand he is entirely out of means. we understand he is entirely out of means, and has a family in Portland, several of whom are sick at the present time, and who are dependent upon the husband and father for support. Bear Steak. Frank M. Bewley, at LaFore's market on Commercial street is cutting up bear steak this date for his numerous customers and this is where his bearship came from. For a number of days past the grangers in the vicinity of Mr. Lewis Savage's farm have lost a number of sheep by the nocturnal visits of this Mr. Bruin. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Savage had time to attend to Ms bearship and came to town for Billy Anderson and his dogs. The bear was started in Mr. Savage's pasture, and within five minutes he was up a tree. Two or three well directed shots brought him down, when he was dispatched and brought to town.
