SALEM, FRIDAY, APRIL 19, 1878.

HEAVY ROBBERY.

One of the heaviest robberies that has taken place in Southern Oregon, says the Standard or some time occurred on last Tuesday night The particulars as we receive them are as fol low: Some time during Tuesday night parties by some means accured the keys to the safe in the store of Asher Marks. They proceeded to the front window upon which they pasted a large piece of paper, They then BROKE THE WINDOW,

The paper serving as a hinge preventing the glass from falling to the floor and making a noise. In this manner admission was gained. They passed through the store to the safe, not twenty feet from which were four men alceping. As precautionary measures they placed a chair in the hall so that should the sleepers be roused the alarm would be given so that they could make their escape. They also took the key from the ring so as to prevent tinkling, which might possible discover them to the sleepers. They opened the safe taking out the coin, amounting to

THIRTY-ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS, THERTY-ONE HUNDERD DOLLARS,
Which they took from the bags, leaving them lying on the table. Quite an amount in gold notes and greenbacks were left untouched in the safe. After they had secured all they were looking after they quietly retired, and not until Wednesday morning was the robbery known. Steps were at once taken to ferret out the bold robbers. The entire population was en the lookout, and great excitement prevailed.
At last an individual struck a trace, He found at a China wash-house a paper that at a China wash-house a paper that CORRESPONDED PRECISELY

With the one on the window. Upon a point of the broken glass hung a piece of goods evident ly from a Chinese garment. Inside the store was also found a small chies! which was known to belong to a Chinaman. With these proofs the authorit es begun making arrests of Chinamen, and not intil sixteen were ledged in jail and but one or two remained in town did they stop. It is believed that the Chinese cook working for Mr. Freelanders, the book-keeper of the firm, stole the key from his pocket and gave it to the parties who did the job. There was, undoubt-edly.

TWO REPARATS PARTIES

In the affair, as another key which was in pos-session of another member of the firm, who re-sided in another part of the city, was also stolen and when found it was not needed threw it away. They had it arranged so that if one failed the other would succeed. Mr. Marks was at the time present in this city, but as soon as a telegram reached him yesterday he started home. The parties who performed the work were not fools as may be seen by the manner in which they conducted it, and almost convinces us that Chinamen

WERE NOT THE PERPETRATORS The reason, we are informed, why the gold notes and greenbacks were left untouched, was notes and greenbacks were left untouched, was probably on account of the firm registering the number of each bill received. It was a heavy robbery and if the firm do not succeed in escer-taining the perpetrators it will be quite a severe blow to them, although they are very wealthy and can stand it it needs be.

Oregon Statistics.

From the Commercial Reporter we glean the following statistics for the year 1877: It shows the State debt to be $717,000; the total tress ure shipments to San Francisco for the year, 83,813,000; the total gold product of the mines, $1,192,000. The value of exports of all kinds, eat, wool, salmon, manufactures, lumber, etc. 271,000,000; the coast was tamage entered, 271,005 tons; cleared, 258,258 tons; Foreign imports less than $500,000. It does not give the value of importations from other States and Territories of the United States. It is very important that we have some data of this kind from which to ascertain the balance of trade.

The amay office of Trucy & King, on Front street, has lately been cleaned out, and the dirt that has been accumulating there since 1862, says the Bee, has been taken in hand by Chas. Riggler and is being carted by old Sykes down to the corner of First and D streets, where they have erected a sluice box and by water from the fire plug have begun to work it over for the precious metals it is supposed to contain. Already the showing is very tair, considering the processes it has heretofore undergone, and Charley is most sanguine of strikings veritable bonance. Several dollars in old coins have already been

Face Burned.

Fince the Wilton troups made their appearance here, says the Itemizer, our boys of the ages of from eight to twelve, have conceived a decided liking for theatrica's, and have been decided liking for theatrica's, and have been giving performances around town, first at one place and then another. Last Tuesday evening they were going through their performance at Mr. Hyde's, when Frank Rowell was badly burned by the discharge of a pistol. In the programme Frank was to fire the pistol newards into the air, it being leaded with powder. He was in the act of raising the pistol above his head, but when near his face it went off, the paper was striking his upper lip, and the powder burning one side of his face, having a painful but not dangerous effect. ful but not dangerous effect.

Suit Commenced.

An action at law has been commenced against Henry Failing, John F. Miller, C. M. Cartwright and P. L. Willis for alleged balances due on stock heretofore award by them in the Pioneer Oil Company. The above named partice have owned none of the stocks for five years last past, and did not dream of resting under the least responsibility. The matter will un-dergo judicial investigation, many delicate legal points Leing involved. It seems rough on the parties to hold them for losses when the com-pany was out of debt at the time they withdrew from it.

School Money.

In Polk county there are 2,580 scholars en from three mill assessment, $4,221 70, preportion of fines, licenses, &c., collected by the County Treasurer, $477 47; total, $4,609 77; amount per scholar $1.83. Last year the school money amounted to $1.99 per scholar.

EUMAN REMAINS FOUND.

Some excitement, and considerable speculation, says the Corvallis Gazette, was occasioned in our city, last Monday, by the discovery of a box containing some teeth, decayed bones, etc., undoubtedly the remains of some human being. Whether male or female, white or Indian, is only a matter of conjecture. The box was of fir lumber, badly decayed, the top entirely gone and bottom nearly so. The box was discover ed by Jasper Trimble and Erank Hendrickson, nearly uncarthed by the action of the water and caving of the bank of the river, on the Willamette, immediately below the mouth of Mary's river. Who it is, or how it came there, and river. Who it is, or how it came there, and when deposited, will probably ever remain a mystery, as Mr. Pryor Scott who came here in 1845, one of the first white men, to visit the present site of Marysville, (now Corvallis), has no knowledge of any one ever being buried there. The box is 5 feet 4 inches in length, But whether the remains were those of a male or female, grown, or otherwise, cannot be determined, from the decayed condition of the bones, absence of the skull and many promings rections of the skulland. It is quite probcones, absence of the skull and many promi-nent portions of the skeleton. It is quite prob-able that it was a person, from the fact that pieces of clothing, consisting of very fine cloth, in quite a good state of preservation, were found in the box. No hair was discovered— having been washed away, doubtless, by the action of the water.

P. S. Since the above was in type, Mr. Jac-per Trimble and Henry Emrick came into our office bringing five pieces of silver coin—three American half dollars—two dated 1856, the American half dollars—two dated 1856, the other not legible, and two quarter dollars, one English and the other Spanish, dated 1834 and 1836 respectively. A portion of a net silk purse partly enclosed the same; also a one-bladed buck-horn knife, two porcelain shirt buttons, and some tin foil, such as chewing to-bacco is wrapped in—all found in the box imbedded in dirt.

From the above contents, it is almost certain that it was a male—but the mystery remains

On Tuesday last Sheriff E. J. Jeffery was directed to proceed to the vicinity of Mt. Tabor and take in charge an insane man named Robert Campbell, whose head is turned on religion. He found his man and requested him to come to this city and attend prayer meeting. He needed no second invitation, got meeting. He needed no second invitation, got in the carriage and came to this city. He was examined before the County Judge and adjudged insane and directed to be taken to the Insane Asylum. The papers were prepared and when the Sheriff stepped into an adjoining room to get them, Mr. Campbell quietly walked away. Parties were at once sent in search of him, but up to the present time he has not been found. He visited the Christian Association rooms and then doubtless returned home. tion rooms and then doubtless returned home. He will soon be recaptured and placed in the asylum. On Friday last, an insane man named low made his escape from the Steilacoom asy-lum, while out working with the teamster, and has not yet been captured. Warden Rig-ney, after a search for the lunatic in Tacoma. took the steamer for Olympia, expecting that he had gone that way. Low is a small man, of light complexion, and is considered harmless.

The store of Asher, Marks & Co. was broken pen last Tuesday night and the safe relieved $3,300. It is supposed to be the work of a hinese cook working for Mr. Friedlander, one of the partners in the store, as the keys remained in the safe- The money belonged principally to depositers. Mr. Marks was in Portland attending the convention, of which he was a delegate. He passed up on the train this morning.

Made a Confession.

Made a Contestion.

Jossie Jones, one of the persons arrested for the murder of More in San Buenaventura, Cal., has made a full confession, in which he implicates Sprague, Churchill, the Oregon boy, Lord, Carler, Matart and a new man named W. H. Hunt, hitherto unsuspected. He has been arrested. Jones, by this confession will be very apt to save his neck, while the chances for the others are still more doubtful.

New Patents.

Through Dewey & Co., Patent Agents, San Francisco, we receive the following list of U. S. patents granted to the Pacific Coast inventors viz: Ei Rees, Merced, Cal., shoe fastening; Simen P. Randolph, Scattle, W. T., gang edger; S. Thomas, Junction City, Ogn., borse power; A. W. Vandorston, Salem, Ogn., sheet metal flanging machine;

A Big Frice.

Mr. A. Bush, of this city, has purchased of Mr. Benj. Stark, bleck 41 in the city of Portland. The purchase includes the building known as the Oro Fino Hall and several effer buildings. The price paid is $80,000. This is the heaviest sale ever made in Portland.

It has now been a number of years since Salem has made any demonstration worth mentioning towards celebrating our national holiday. A meeting of the citizens is called to take place to-morrow evening at the Opera House for the purpose of taking proper steps and start the ball rolling. It is not a bit too early to commence operations, and when it becomes known abroad, other cities in this and becomes known abroad, other cities in this and adjoining counties will not make any prepara-tions of their own, but will come and help us to celebrate in a good old fashioned way. It is proposed to have a grand barbeoue in connec-tion with the other exercises of the day. Major N. C. Meredith has got a scheme on foot, and proposes to have a regular battle be-tween the different military companies in the State. The battle will be complete in all its State. The battle will be complete in all its details, with the exception that blank catridges will be fired. Mr. Meredith has spoken to Governor Chadwick in regard to the matter, to Governor Chadwick in regard to the matter, and he expressed a willingness to allow him the use of the State arms. Should this scheme take place, as it undoubtedly will, if our cities will but take hold of the matter as they should, it will be the means of bringing between 12,000 and 15,000 persons to this city on that day. Don't forget that the first meeting will be held to-morrow evening and that a full turnout is desired. Come, let us all go and start the ball in motion and not let it rest until Salem, the capital of Oregon, colebrates its national holiday in a grand and glorious style.

A Sad Case.

Last Monday night, about 11 o'clock, says the Standard, a police officer brought into headquarters a girl between 15 and 16 years of age named Addie Kinney, whom he found wan-dering about the streets with no place to sleep. Her story is strange, ver from its simulation. dering about the streets with no place to sleep. Her story is strange, yet from its simplicity must be true, and is as follows: Some five weeks ago she came to this city from North Yambill, where her parents reside, in order to gain for herself an independent livelihood. She secured a situation in the residence of Mr. Wolf, who resides near Robinson's Hill, where Welf, who resides near Robinson's Hill, where she remained for several weeks. At length she was discharged, and went to the St. Charles Hotel, where she remained for several days. Being without money with which to pay her board, on Monday evening she left that hotel and was cast upon the street, where she was found by a policeman. Tuesday morning she was taken to the Norton House, where she was the still remains. It is her desire to secure, if she was taken to the Norton House, where she still remains. It is her desire to secure, if she can, a situation in some family as servant, in order to earn a living. If she continues to meet with the success she had for the past few days it is an easy matter to conclude where she will finally bring up. It seems strange to us that a father and mother would allow their daughter to come to this city friendless and penniless, to strive for a living amid the snares and temptations of city life; they are either unaware of the danger else are unnatural parents.

FROM MOHAWK.

Most of the farmers in this little valley have Most of the farmers in this little valley have their seeding done, and the prospect is good for a much larger yield than any previous year. Much improvement has been made is the valley since I was here two years ago last January. Emigrants are till coming and going further back into the heavy timber and mountains to hew out homes. One family from Nebraska came up as I did last Saturday on the cars. They were bound to Mohawk for a home of their own.

TO WHOM DOES IT BELONG ?

POLK COUNTY, April 9th, 1878. There is a church in Polk county that was built by the citizens in general irrespective of sect or creed, and known as Union Church. But since it has been built, certain parties have ob-tained a title to the land on which it stands by tained a title to the land on which it stands by unfair means, and now only one sect have control or say in the matter. Things have come aimost to a focus several times, one instance not long since. The young folks proposed to have a singing school to be held in the church. When they assembled, they found the door locked; and afterwards learned that a certain individual was inside with matches and candle in hand, with intent as he says, to knock down the first with intent as he says, to knock down the first one who entered should the door be broken Now, I would like to know if there is any religion in such doings as this? The church that evening, the young man on the in-side would have had a merry time dragging out after he had knocked them down. The ques-tion now is, to whom does that church right-fully belong?

A Boautiful Thought.

When the summer of youth is slowly wastng away on the nightfall of age, and the shadow of the path becomes deeper, and life wears to its close, it is pleasant to look through the vista of time upon the sorrows and felicities of our carly years. If we have had a home to shelter, and bearis to rejoice with us, and friends have been gathered round our fire-side, the rough places of wayfaring will have been worn and smoothed away in the twilight of life, and many dark spots we have passed through will grow brighter and more beautiful. Happy, indeed are those whose intercourse with the world has not changed the tone of of their holier feeling, or broken those musical chords of the heart whose vibrations are so melodious, so tender, and so touching in the evening of their lives.

THE NARROWEST RAILEGAD EVER

A new railroad from Bedford to Billerica enjoya the distinction of having the narrowest gauge of any railroad in the world—two feet.
It was accepted by the commissioners some three weeks since, and is now running seven trains each way daily, and is a curiosity in its way. At the invitation of Manager Mansfield the press of Boston and Lowell were invited to ride over and inspect the new enterprise, which they did yesterday afternoon in company with the Directors and invited guests. Starting from the Lowell depot, a half hour's ride over the Middlenex Central brought the Boston party to the Southern terminus of the narrow party to the Southern terminus of the narrow gauge road at Bedford. The appearance of the little cars and engine of the new road was unique indeed. The cars set very low on the trucks, are forty feet in length, six feet two inches outside width, with walls three inches thick, leaving a total inside width of five feet eight inches.

The care are made by the Rahleft Company of Laconia, New Hampshire, and are models of neatness and beauty, being finished in fancy woods. The seats, which are upholstered in plush, are ranged after the usual order, each scating but one person and each car but thirty persons. All the wheels of the rolling stock persons. All the wheels of the rolling stock are eighteen inches in diameter, except the drivers on the engine, which are thirty mehos. The engine is a model of compactness and is a sort of double-ender, thus saving the use of the turn-table. After a trip over the road one marvels at the smoothness with which the train table in the different oracles in the passes over the ninety different grades in the 8 63 100 miles of road-bed to the northern terminus at North Billerica. All trains are equip-ped with the Miller platform and vacuum brake, and the rolling stock at present consists of two locomotives, two passenger, two observation, six flat cars and one box car. The locomotives, with coal and water and men, weigh motives, with cost and water and men, weigh twelve tons each, the passenger cars four and one-half tons, and the cost of the same was respectively $3,500 and $2,000 each. The road cost about $60,000 all equipped, and the capital stock of the corporation is $50,000, of which $42,000 has been paid in. It costs $18 a day to run its trains.—Exchange.

Personal and Otherwise, Mostly Otherwise Personal and Otherwise, Moetly Otherwise.

A correspondent writing from Mount Idaho, to the Telegram the principal point in the country formerly occupied by the Nez Perces whom General Howard so gloriously "aquelched" last summer, says: "Mrs. Benedict, whose husband was killed by the Indians last summer, is keeping a boarding house at Grangeville. Mrs. Capt. Randall, who went to Oregen after the death of her husband, will return to this place some time during the spring. Mr. Phil. Cleary is certainly right in thinking there is danger of another outbreak. The Indains about the agency and on the reservation, in spite of their remaining outbreak. The Indains about the agency and on the reservation, in spite of their remaining friendly last summer, openly proclaim their intention of joining the Spokanes the coming season should the latter go on the war path. The disaffection among them is wide-spread; and there is no doubt about the Spokanes and some adjoining tribes, should Watkins' programme for the consolidation of the reservations be sought to be carried out. Moses, head chief of the Spokanes, has over live hundred warriors, all splendidly armed and ready to follow him to the death. The people here all look forward with certainty for another war nuless a suffiwith certainty for another war unless a saffi-ciently large number of troops be sent here to overswe the Indians."

Spring Time.

Spring has its own charms, especially for young people who have it within their broads. We think, perhaps, as we get older and are saddened by the glocuiter experiences of into, that the results of the earliest leaves and flowers ot always increase our cheerfulness very much. We know too well the limits of a year, how short a space it is; how little that will be satisfactory afterward can be done in it while it lasts. We think of other Springs that now lie far behind us, and how we lost them in vain pleasures or profitless labor that means to us the same to be a specific to the same to be a sa still more vain. Spring is much rather the lights us in the Spring is more a scusation than an appearance; more a hope than a visible re-There is something in the softness of the air, in the lengthening of the days, in the very sounds and odors of the sweet time, that ca-reases and consoles us after the vigorous weeks of winter. It is catural that the poet should of winter. It is natural that the poet should leve the Spring, which comes to them with a thousand flowers; with the song of hinds; with pure, brighter light and such refreshment that it is like a fountain of journees.

Don't Do It.

Priends, please don't write obituary notices in poor verse, then and send them to the local editor for publication. He sometimes, it is editor for publication. He sometimes, it is true, brings his paper temporarily into ridicule, and makes the writer of the verses a laughing stock, purely through kindness of heart and a desire to please mourning friends. The pure spirits, or crumbling clay of the departed, should only be alladed to in a belitting manner, and the editor that has the nerve to reject the most degerol verse, is not only the best friend of the living writer and mourning relative, but of the departed also. A mourning mother is rarely ever competent of judging of that which is appropriate, in relation to her departed child, and therefore it is the duty of the editor, as seemingly harsh as it may appear, to not only protect his paper from the criticiam of relined seamitive cultivated readers, but also the friends of the dead.
