The towns along the line of the Narrow Gauge are exhibiting "goaheadativeness" to a considerable extent. building warehouses &c At Perrydale McGrew's warehouse is completed and is receiving grain while the next important feature (?) is a salooa, will be running in full blast in a building now being erected for that purpose. At Dallas, the present terminus of the road, things have changed to a remarkable degree; business seems to have crawled out of the channel which have been holding her progress in check for years, and in new life has sprung up which bids fair to leave the old time habits and things of the past. About twenty dwellings have been and are being erected; a large depot building nears completion, and before many days have elapsed several business buildings will have received the "finishing touches." Poor McMinnville and Amity! they seem to be totally proscribed from the field of towns. And what is the reason of this? abroad. Again we repeat: "The gods help those who help themselvs."-Reporter.

Articles of Incorporation.

The following articles of incorporation were filed on Friday in the office of the County Clerk in Portland:

The Columbia River Portage R. R. Co. Incorporators: U. B. Scott, Z. J. Hatch and S. H. Brown, Purpose to build a railroad around the rapids of the Columbig river on its left bank at the Cascades and Dalles; capital stock, $275,000. Each share, $100. Place of busines, Portland, Oregon.

The Oregon Staatz Zeitung Publishing Co. To publish a newspaper in German and English language, in the City of Portland, Oregon; capital stock, $5,000, Incorporators, O. P. Mason, J. Folkmen, Henry Bescheinen and Geo. Herrall.

Prisoners Brought Up.

Sheriff Twilight and Chiefact Police Barry came up from Astoria last evening, having in charge three persons who were convicted at the last term of court. They are Nicholas Florentine, an Italian fisherman, who goes to the pennitentiary for one year on a charge of larceny; H. G. Neuman, for three years on a charge of arson. Neuman was a baker, and gave as a reason for the act, that if he burned out Mrs. Binder there would be one bakery less and business with him would improve. He was greatly exercised because Mrs. B. had declined his offer of marriage. And Ah Sing for one year on a charge of larceny.

The Velocipede Nuisance.

The running of velocipedes in this city has got to be a nuisance. The City Marshal has done all in his power to prevent this in the business part of the city, but there is nothing to back him in it but a resolution passed some years ago, and the binding force of which is now brought into question. Last Friday one of these vehicles passing a team hitched to a Sne rig on Liberty street came near being the cause of a very expensive smash-up. The horses became frightened, and in their efforts to get away one of them was thrown down, but fortunately no serious damage was done. The City Council ought to pass an ordinance prohibiting the running of these things inside the city limits, and making parents responsible for all accidents which may occur by the use of velocipedes in violation of the law or ordinance.

The ninth annual fair of Union county, takes place October the 7th. It is expected to be a grand success.

PROSPERITY OF THE UNITED STATES.

Facts and figures show that our country is rapidly overcoming the losses occasioned by the civil war, and the balance of trade from being generally against us, has changed to be largely in our favor.

Recent statistict from the Treasury Department shows that during the year which terminated June 30, 1878, the exports of goods the produce and manufacture of the United States exhibited a magnitude never before attained, the value being $680,683,798, which, added to the value of foreign products, $14,200,402, aggregated $694,884,200. The imports of foreign commodities during the same period fell to $437,051,533, showing an excess in the value of exports over imports of $257,832,667. As compared with the trade in the year immediately preceding, the changes were as follows: An increase in the value of domestic exports of 891,013,574, in those of foreign production of $1,395,406-a net increase of $92,408,980while in the value of merchandise imported there was a decrease of $14,271,593. The excess of exports over imports was therefore greater by $106,680,573 in the year 1878 than in 1877. Of specie and bullion the total exports were $33,733,225, and the imports $29,821,313, an excess in the exports of $3,911,912. The total movement of merchandise and specie during the last fiscal year was as follows: Exports, $728,617,425; imports, $466,872,846; excess in exports of $261,744,579. As compared with man from East Salem school neighborhood, the imports less by $25,224,694, and the apparently favorable balance greater by $95,204,662.

as a nation, balancing our accounts with other nations, of possessing an income lmore than two hundred and sixty millions of dollars greater is in rather a dilapidated condition, and a than our expenditures. While, no doubt, the increase of wealth and property created within our own borders by successful trade production the looks of the same, and should be applied and manufactures is fully up to the same standard.

Our country is not only becoming independent of other countries, as a manufacturer and producer in all branches of trade, but we are been made the subject of very severe criticism actually entering foreign markets as competitor with Great Britain, even sending our cotton building. goods to Manchester.

To give an example of the great independence we are attaining as a nation, we will state that during the eleven years previous to 1874 our imports averaged in excess of exports an hundred millions of dollars a year, while in the past five years the exports have steadily increased so that in 1878 the exports were $728,616,425, imports $466,872,346-a most remarkable and

One effect of this great increase of our exports present time not more than one eighth of the national debt (say about $200,000,000) is owned of the United States was chiefly held in foreign countries. Thus we gradually relieve ourselves commerce, compared with surrounding as a people of the burden of paying interest

> All things considered, the United States are prosperous nation, and this prosperity must be generally felt as the burden of foreign debt decreases and we can retain the surplus of 1 cme production as a capital fund for the fuller development of our home enterprises.

Supposed Lost Child.

This morning a little child of Mr. Black's who lateley moved in the city and who lives in East Salem was found missing from the mothers presents. Mrs. Black commenced search, and not finding the child about the premises gave the alarm to the neighbors who joined in the search, but the search proved of no avail. The mother then sent word to Mr. Black who is employed on the RECORD, that their little girl was lost. He immediately rushed home very much alarmed. But lo and behold, when he arrived there the lost child had just been found. She had crawled under the bed and gone to sleep, where she was found by the mother.

Making a Tour of the State.

William Hoynes, of Chicago, associate editor of Pomeroy's Democrat, called this afternoon. Mr. Hoynes is a young man of pleasing address, and a graduate of law. He is securing data of this coast to write up a book, which he expects to publish shortly, and wishes to give correct imformation, and for that purpose has come to this coast. He will vsiit Southern Oregon and returning go to Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory before going East.

Ancient Order of United Workmen.

In our notice of the organization of a lodge, on Friday night last, in this city, of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, it read "Workingmen," which is incorrect. This order is no new or flashy movement confined to this coast, but has been organized and in operation for several years in the East, and has proved successful and profitable to the communities in which they are in operation. It believes in the existence of a God, the Creator and preserver of the Universe, and recognizes as a fundamental principal, that usefulness to ourselves and others is a duty which should be the constant aim and care of all. The aim and purpose of the Order is to give equal protection to all classes and kinds of labor, mental and physical, to improve the moral, intellectual and social condition of its members; to endeavor by wholesome precepts, fraternal admonitions and substantial aid, to inspire a due appreciation of the stern realities and responsibilities of life; to create a fund for the benefit of its members during sickness or other disability, and in case of death to pay a stipulated sum to such person or persons as may be designated by each member, thus enabling him to guarantee his family against want.

East Salem School House.

In our meanderings through town we note the improved appearance of the Central school building; and in conversation with a gentle-1877 the exports were greater by $69,979,968, the question was raised: Why does not this school house receive the same attention? Thinking that perhaps there was good ground for We are therefore in the favorable condition this complaint, we took a look at the last named building, and found that the complaint was not without foundation; for the building coat of paint has become actually necessary for the preservation of the building as well as before the schools are opened. Attention has been more particularly drawn to this building by its being situated so that almost everybody passing our city on the trains see it, and it has by those who have occasion to pass by the Burglary In South Salem.

During Saturday night last, burglars effected an entrance in the rear of Owens brick store by breaking out a pain of glass and unbolting the door. Mr. Owens having occasion to go to the store on Sunday morning, discovered the back door standing ajar, which led him to see if any thing was missing. On investigation he found satisfactory showing in our favor as a nation; they had taken about sixteen plugs of tobacco, showing actual prosperity that cannot be a few cigars, a dozen pocket knives, and about 45 cents in five cent pieces. They got a candle and proceeded to examine the safe, but for some has been to reduce the amount of our national reason did not attempt to open it. The safe debt owed abroad as payment for this excess of exports has been chiefly made by return of our national scentiate. It is estimated that at the in it at a time. How is This for High?

T. H. Parrott, of East Portland, leader of the East Portland band, has just received from Philadelphia the smallest cornet that was ever exhibite i in this State. He had it made to order on purpose to blow the high notes in the Washington Guard band. The cornet is in A flat, a fourth above E flat, and perfect in tune and tone. There is no necessity of having clarionets in brass bands, as this instrument plays the highest note. It is a perfect beauty, and under the strong lips of Tom we shall no doubt hear from it soon. - East Portland Call.

Burglary-Attempted Assassination.

Some time during Friday night the house of Mr. Jacob Smith, an old and highly esteemed citizen of Carlton, located along the west side railroad a few miles from St. Jo, was entered by two burglars and an attempt made to assas sinate him. During the warm weather Mr. Smith was in the habit of leaving his window open in order toget the fresh air. Friday night, as it was oppressively warm, he also left the door of his room ajar. About midnight Mr. Smith was awakened from a sound sleep by some one whispering in his room. Naturally enough he moved in his bed, which was a sufficient notice to the burglars that their presence had been discovered. Before Mr. Smith could effect his escape or even raise an alarm one of the burglars sprang upon him, at the same instant striking at him with a knife. Realizing to the fellest extent his danger, Smith threw up his arm and warded off the blow and then grappled in deadly earnest with the robber. A desperate struggle followed, during which Smith punished his antagonist very severley, sending in his blows thick and fast, receiving in return several severe thrusts from the robber. The fight was of very short duration, and the robber finding his pal had deserted him and left him to fight it out alone, broke away from Smith, and springing through the half open window effected his escape. Smith's injuries are severe, but not considered dangerous. The men evidently intended to burglarize the premises, but on being discovered did not hesitate to attempt murder to successfully accomplish their purpose. Oregonian.

Woolen Mills. The Ashiand Woolen Mills, says the Tidings, are now manufacturing the best quality of flannels, cassimeres and other styles of woolen goods. Their blankets are superior to any in the market are in demand more rapidly than they can be manufactured. A two-thousanddollar order was received a few days since from a leading mercantile firm in Portland, which is now being filled. Salem has not enterprise enough to rebuild her woolen mills. It is not for the lack of capital, for the capital is right here at home, sufficient to build the mill and start several other paying enterprises, in manufactories. The trouble is, some of our capitalists cannot see that they can as readily receive a large profit from those industries, and also build up out city, as they do by placing their money in other channels that do not benefit the community at large as well as themselves.

WOULD-BE HORSE THIEVES.

SHAUERTON, August 27, 1878.

Mr. Entrop: While waiting at the Commercial hotel for the Silverton stage, to-day, I noticed in a Portland paper a minute description of the Portland robbers and murderers. I thought nothing more of them until I arrived They stated that they were hunting bees, and wanted to go into the orchard to see if any were ily granted. In a short time some horses running in the orchard became suddenly frightened, and my mother, apprehending that something M. Hogan, of Portland, Oregon State Dele- was wrong, hurried out and found that the colt least doubt but they are the same chaps, and would advise our neighbors to be on the lookout, not for that $600 reward, but in order to shadow of buckshot into their leather before they know where it comes from.

This is the name of a flourishing little village just started on Wild Horse near what was formerly known as Richard's station. The town site was selected, surveyed and plotted only a few months ago. Then, not a house was there, now there is a large Agricultural Hall, one best market, one drug-store, one grocery stere, one hotel, one livery stable, one harness shop, one blacksmith shop, one school bouse and a number of other buildings and residences, and still they continue to improve.
