Goals To Postpone.

Portland, where he will engage with Abel the photographer, learning the art of taking photographs. We gladly recommend Mr. Willis to the people of Portland as a very worthy young man, and regret losing him from Salem, the only link we wish him in that he may find in Portland as many friends as he leaves behind him.

An exchange says: We heard of a case the other day where a young man applied to his employer for a short leave of absence. The employer, having his view of his business, suggested for a reason, that the young man delay his vacation a few days. "I would," replied the young man, "but the fact is I am going to get married, the day is appointed, and I want to be there when it comes off." He was there on time.

Juggernaut is in a bad way since the English Government imprisoned for life for murder the hereditary protector of the god, a man of high rank, to whom the Hindoos pay divine honors. The late Car Festival was a failure, and it is in contemplation to hand over the god's affairs to the management of the Court of Wards. A receiver for a religiously-invent duty? What next?

"A little four year old, bright eyed girl, who has planted a little garden all by herself, was asked by an older sister if she didn't expect a good many profits from it. She quickly replied with great dignity, "What are you talking about profits for on week days? Don't you know they all died long ago, and went to heaven in chariots of fire?"

The London papers are discussing the question of physicians fees. A correspondent says that he visited a doctor, and after consultation asked, "What is your fee?" His reply was characteristic. "Specialists and extortionists charge two guineas, quacks ask half-a-guinea, but a physician's fee is a guinea. I am a physician."

One of the English, "beauties," is very careful of her complexion. She is in the habit of wrapping up her face in a raw veal net every night before going to bed, leaving openings in the mask for mouth, nostrils and eyes. She is married.

"Are grapes healthy?" asks an exchange. As a fruit, grapes differ. George Washington, Christopher Columbus, Noah, Napoleon I, and Mary Queen of Scots ate grapes, and they are all dead now. Draw your own conclusions. [—Norristown Herald.]

A nurse in a Glasgow hospital has had to pay £5 damages and costs for taking, without the consent of the boy's parents, some healthy flesh from the arm of a juvenile patient in order to graft it upon the body of another.

When a Rochester lady of color wants to alight from a street car, she don't jerk the bell as if she wanted to demolish the entire car, but politely asks a gentleman "to be kind enough to agitate the communicator."

"Do not marry a widower," said the old lady. A really made family is like a plate of cold potatoes. "Oh! I'll soon warm them over," replied the dame—and she did.

The people of the parish of Didsbury cannot catch their souls their own. A London draper bought the rights of a bargain advertised like

LABOR.

There is one way that the price of labor can be kept at fair rates, provided always that the Chinese leave, and that is, for every man to go on to a piece of land of his own, and make a home; make it a pleasant home, one that you will be proud of when you exhibit its good qualities to visiting friends, or casual callers.

Don't be scared at the fact of not having the means of subsistence while working out this desirable object, remember that it takes labor to accomplish it, and if you start in with a full determination of making a farm without a dollar, your subsistence will come to you in some way or other. You may think sometimes that Elijah's crower or ravens will have to bring it to you, but it will come, and if you keep on at work, long before your oldest boy is large enough to help, you will have a comfortable home, whereon all your physical wants can be supplied.

If you are not disposed to go back into the new settlements, where you can get government land of the best quality, for the simple taking, you can find plenty of land at small prices, within a few miles of our largest towns. There is plenty of land within 30 miles of Salem, where a man of persevering energy, could make a home which would in two or three years furnish everything needed for the sustenance and comfort of a family.

Such land can be bought of the railroad companies, and of private individuals, at low prices, and on such easy terms that the payments would be hardly noticed. The land along the foot hills east of this place is of an excellent quality, is well adapted to the raising of cattle, sheep, and hogs, and as to healthfulness it cannot be surpassed in any country. With the vast amount of uncultivated land there is in our State, there is no excuse for any man to be without employment.

Sugar Producing Plants.

The following is a letter from the Department of Agriculture, explains itself. Any person who has any knowledge as to the matter inquired about, will please communicate with this office, or with Mr. David Newsome, Salem, Oregon.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, WASHINGTON, Sept. 28, 1878.

Mr. David Newsome, Bowell Prairie Dear Sir—I have information—fifty many years ago the Oregon Indians made sugar from a kind of root, growing in your country. As I am in search of plants, producing saccharine juices, I will be glad if you will make diligent inquiry in regard to this plant; and if possible send me specimens of the root, or plants; or put me in communication with those who would be likely to furnish me with either.

Very respectfully, WM. G. LE DUE, Commissioner.

Fire Last Night.

Last night about 8:30 o'clock, Dr. Golden's stable was discovered to be on fire, the alarm was sounded which soon brought to the scene of conflagration the fire department, but too late to do much good, as the fire had gained such headway that but little could be done, the stable and contents, in all valued at about $300 was burned to ashes. The stable standing just north, was owned by widow Logan was burned considerably, though the fireman managed to save it from being a total loss. There was $200 insurance on Dr. Golden's building, but we have been unable to learn whether or not there was any insurance on Mrs. Logan's barn. The fire was the work of an incendiary, evidently done for the purpose of getting up some excitement and causing people to leave their houses, so that they might be able to carry on a plunder game in the neighborhood. Dr. Golden and his family were camping at the Fair grounds, and knew nothing of his loss until about 12 o'clock, last night.

A Good Showings

From the following figures it will be seen that Salem has done remarkably well during fair week, the records in the recorders court show that there have been only 17 cases during this time, as follows: Drunk and disorderly, 10; Vagrancy, 1; Larceny, 3; Assault with intent to rob, 1; Assault and battery, 1. Selling to action without license, 1. For which the city received the sum of $44.64. Considering the great number of people that have been here during the time we think this is a good showing for the capital city.

Checky Trick.

We have heard of many low down checky ways of dead beating one's way through this world, but the latest was practiced at the door of the theatre the other evening, by a young man, well known in this city, who had the brass to ask admission to the theatre on the ground that he was a newspaper man. His story was so well learned, and told that the door keeper didn't require the usual certificate or pass, and foppish dead beat got to see the theatre "on his check."

A Little Girl Knocked Down on State Street last night by a Ruffian.

Last night about 8 o'clock Mrs. Martin sent her little girl down town on an errand, after attending to the errand on which she had been sent, started homeward, was followed by a ruffian who overtook her and knocked her down, her cries brought assistance, and the scoundrel took to his heels and succeeded in making good his escape.

The Downy (Los Angeles county) Carrier says: We were shown the other day by Mr. Barnett, the tail, at least three feet long, of a sturgeon, hauled ashore the other day this side of Anaheim Landing. The fish weighed between 150 and 200 pounds, measured five and a half feet in length and four feet across, and its mouth was sufficiently large to take in the Christian Church.

A business meeting was held at the Christian church last Thursday evening, at which time it was decided, that if sufficient amount of money could be secured to pay the salary, the church would employ Elder Burnett for the coming year. The members of the congregation are being visited and subscribe pretty liberally.

Personal.

We received a call from Master Carr, editor of a paper published at the Catholic school at Portland Oregon. He is a bright, manly acting boy of 12 years. If he keeps on as a journalist and improves, until he is as old as some editors now at work, he will become nearly perfect.

In the State of Alabama the negroes chew the tassels of the fir tree instead of tobacco and seem quite pleased with the substitute. Well, does not the old adage say, "Be fir-chewers and you will be happy?"

A Kentucky man has just been informed of the death of an uncle in Germany, who left him a fortune of $400,000. As soon as he gets the money he will borrow $10,000 more, if he can, and buy Rarus.

"Dogs treated," is an up town sign. The dog goes there whenever he feels like taking a nap.

IN THE WHOLE HISTORY OF MEDICINE, no preparation has ever performed such marvellous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long-continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in the throat and lung disorders of children, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept at all times on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and effects, Physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and Clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its remedial effects, and will always cure where cures are possible. For sale by all dealers.
