The platform seats were occupied by leading merchants and business men, and professional men of the city, and three-fourths of the audience were composed of substantial citizens, while the worsingment were represented by a large attendance.

At 2 o'clock Mayor Bryant called the meeting to order.

The Governor made a short and forcible address, dwelling upon the magnitude of the occasion and the propriety of calling such a meeting to convince the President of the United States that it was not, as had been intimated by a member of his own cabinet, merely a hoodium cloment that demanded the restriction of Chinese immigration, but midd men, properly holders and the mercan-

can State Central Committee, read resolutions re-affirming the resolution recently passed by the chamber of commerce and telgraphed to the President. The resolutions were adopted with the greatest enthusiasm.
The following gentlemen then addressed the meeting: Irving M. Scott, of the firm of Prescott, Scott & Co., Hon. Philip A.
Roach, A. P. Williams, of the firm of Livingston & Co., Lieut. Gov. James A. Johnson, Col. W. H. L. Barnes, Wm. T. Coleman, Rev. Dr. Cox, of the Methodist dent of the chamber of commerce.

It was strongly urged that whatever the action of the president might be, agitation should be kept up to influence Congress if possible, to pass the bill over the vete, or, failing in that, to rouse the people of the whole country to appreciation of the importance of the issue, that will eventually end in obtaining the desired relief.

Governor Irwin adjourning the meeting, said that it was called for one purpose, and that purpose had been accomplished. It was to let the president know the true feeling of the people on the subject under considera-tion. Time alone would tell what its effect tion. Time alone would tell what its children might be.
