SCHOOL CHILDREN ON THE STAGE.

Professor Crawford, Superintendent of the public schools in this city, in his report just issued, takes strong grounds against the practice of allowing the pupils of the public schools taking part in public exhibitions, and says: The regular work of instruction during the past term was very seriously disturbed by the public presentation at New Market Theater of some spectacular and musical performances in which most of the actors were school children from the public schools.

ANOTHER VERSION.

The Other Side of the Story Regarding the Killing of the Chinese Grader. An altogether different story is now being told in relation to the killing of a Chinaman on the grade of the Oregonian narrow gauge road near Gervais. It was stated that Searles, the spike driver, was without any provocation attacked by the Chinaman. The other side of the story is, as gleaned from the railroad hands, white men, that Searles, or Searley as some say is the name of the man, and not Searles, as reported, first threw water on the Chinaman and they retaliated in the same manner, when he knocked one of them down.

A Vancouver man mourns the loss of a Valise and $100 in Money. Saturday afternoon the Vancouver boat carried an unusually large crowd from this city. Among those on board were Mr. and Mrs. Struble, who had been making their usual Saturday visit to the metropolis, and were returning to their home with numerous bundles and other odds and ends which attested the fact that they had been doing considerable buying at our different stores.

A Little School Girl Seriously Injured While Engaged in the Pastime.

Among nearly all school children there is a game played which is called "snap the whip," although affording considerable amusement, is attended with a great deal of danger. The last accident caused by indulging in such pastime, was that sustained by a little girl named Ball living on the Tualatin river in Washington county, a short distance from here.

SO UNWILLINGLY DISOBEYED.

Concerning some of these rehearsals, it is true, many a child has received impressions that may not be effaced for years to come. Has it not often occurred, also, to those who have brought before the public some very interesting and entertaining compositions, much less content than those referred to, that too many of the actors have been school children who were thus overtaxed? The whole subject is one for serious consideration.

About two months before arriving here Petersen states that he was sent aloft on the lower yard of the masted.
