MEETING OF PILOT COMMISSIONERS.

The Commissions of E. J. Moody and A. W. Hewitt Revoked.—Moody Held Liable for the Expenses Incurred by Stranding of the Stanton.

The semi-annual meeting of the board of pilot commissioners was held at their office in Astoria on November 29th. The following report of the proceedings we take from the Astorian:

Present—J. A. Brown, J. G. Hustler and J. H. D. Gray, commissioners, and S. T. McKean, secretary. Meeting called to order by the chairman, Captain J. A. Brown, at 2:30 P. M. Minutes of the last semi-annual and special meetings read and approved.

The matter of the British bark River Avon vs. A. W. Betts, river pilot, was first taken into consideration. In this case complaint was filed September 8, 1881, by Captain John Holzer, master of the British bark River Avon, against River Pilot A. W. Betts, for carelessness and incompetency in getting his vessel ashore in the Columbia river. In consequence of complaint not being sworn to and no party appearing to prosecute the same, the board did not take any action in the matter.

The board now proceeded to investigate the charges of Henry Hewitt, consignee of the British bark Santon, vs. E. J. Moody, river pilot. The following witnesses were called and their testimony taken, viz.: Captain Thomas Rodgers, master of said bark Santon; Captain E. P. Parker, master of the steamer Clara Parker; E. J. Moody, the defendant in the case.

After hearing the evidence and duly considering the case, the board found as follows: FINDINGS OF THE BOARD. In the matter of the charges of Henry Hewitt, consignee of the British bark "Santon," vs. E. J. Moody, Columbia river pilot, after thorough investigation we find that E. J. Moody went on board the bark "Santon" on November 7, 1881, while lying at Astoria and offered his services as Columbia river pilot, which was accepted, and that said bark, under the pilotage of E. J. Moody, was wrecked on her way to Portland with Pilot Moody in charge, and that during the time that said Moody was in charge of said bark, on the 7th of November, he was intoxicated and incompetent, and on the morning of the 8th November, in consequence of said Moody being still under the influence of liquor, said bark was stranded and incurred an expense of $922.00, and we find him liable for the above amount with costs of suit. We therefore revoke E. J. Moody's license as Columbia river pilot.

It appearing that Pilot A. W. Hewitt is not connected with any steam or sail pilot boat, and has moreover left the pilot grounds without the consent of this board, the secretary was instructed to notify said Hewitt that his license as pilot on the Columbia river bar is therefore revoked. After transacting some minor business the board adjourned, sine die.

Happy Me. Bice alias May, the burglar, who furnished so many items some months since, and who was sentenced to the penitentiary by Judge Stott for 24 years, has, it seems, become converted. He writes to a lady of East Portland, who "ministered" to him while in prison a long letter, the last paragraph of which we quote: "I am comparatively comfortable here. One thing particularly I am very thankful for is good light, and at present I have plenty of time to study your valuable gift to me. I can always find profitable employment with my Bible and hymn book. I am not in the least despondent; I feel that God is here as elsewhere, and so long as I dare to do right through His assisting grace, he will make Himself known. May his will be done."

ACQUITTED.—The following particulars in regard to the shooting of Wynning at Sweet Home, Lin county, by James Lewis, his partner in a bar stone quarry, we take from the Albany Democrat. The parties met in a shop at the mill and quarreled about their business matters and after some words Lewis left the shop and started down to a neighborly when the Frenchman picked up a club and chased him about eighty yards from the shop and was about to overtake him, when Lewis drew his revolver, turned and fired, the ball striking Wynning in the abdomen and he fell upon the ground. Lewis told the neighbors what he had done, and requested them to take Wynning to the house, which they did, and sent for medical aid, but he died before it arrived. Lewis gave himself up, and on last Monday had an examination before Justice Rowell, Sweet Home, and was acquitted on the ground of self-defense.

MRS. TELLER ARRESTED.—At the instigation of District Attorney Piper, says the Salem Statesman, Mrs. Teller was yesterday arrested on a warrant issued by Thos. Pearce, justice of the peace for Cole Precinct, accused of murdering her husband, Judge Piper appearing for the State, and Messrs Hayden, Knight and Ford appearing for Mrs. Teller. On motion of the district attorney, the examination was postponed until the medical analysis by Drs. Hall and Reynolds could be completed. As the offense of which Mrs. Teller stands accused is not a bailable one, the defendant was placed in the custody of an officer until the preliminary examination is held. District Attorney Piper has been on the look out in the case, and is satisfied that it can be successfully made out, and Mrs. Teller proved to be the murderer of her husband.

PREPARED FOR ESCAPE.—U. S. Marshal Hopkins, of Washington Territory, and Worden Sperry arrived in town Tuesday evening with six prisoners in charge en route to the Territorial prison at Seato. They were under sentences of from one to six years. Yesterday morning Jailer McManus discovered a fine saw made of a watch spring in the cell which three of them occupied at the county jail. They had evidently been provided with this in hopes that they might find means to effect an escape. They will hardly be able to pack any such tools into the penitentiary.

OUR CLUB RATES. The Willamette Farmer has no canvassing agents in the field, and seldom makes any effort in that direction, except that Mr. Clarke and his son occasionally find new friends in their travels. To sustain a circulation usually requires constant work in the field, and perhaps the strongest proof of the popularity of this newspaper is the fact that without any organized system of canvassing, its subscription list is much larger than any weekly newspaper in the State, except the Oregonian, and has a much larger circulation among the producers of Oregon and Washington than any other newspaper.

Simply by the force of its own merit and the popular appreciation that recognizes it, the FARMER has found its way to every corner of the Pacific Northwest, but it still needs the assistance of good working friends to increase this circulation and place it on a basis of prosperity that will furnish its publishers means to improve it in all its departments.

No other agricultural community, with the same population, anywhere in the known world, has as good a local journal, devoted to producers, as this is. The growth of the country, and its rapid improvement, justifies the belief that support will increase in the future; but this being the season of the year when producers realize their harvest, and when they provide reading matter for the coming year, we request all our friends to do what they can to increase our circulation in each neighborhood.

We do not ask this for nothing either, but will extend the proposition we have made for years past, which is more liberal than club rates given by any other Oregon newspaper. For three new subscribers and $7.50 in coin we will credit the sender one year on his own subscription, and to all who may procure new subscribers we will credit four months on their own subscription for each new name, and $2.50 accompanying it; or in that proportion for as many names as may be sent.

Any person desirous to work for the Farmer in this way can apply to us, for special terms, for we wish good work done everywhere. While we are willing to pay liberally for increase of circulation, and offer the above terms in proof of the fact, we still recognize the good will and friendliness of those who get up such clubs, and appreciate their efforts as done more for friendship than for gain.

We will send sample copies, or send the FARMER a month on trial, free, where those desirous of getting up clubs may request, for we are glad to have the paper thus introduced to the notice of new readers, and almost always retain those who try our paper in good faith, as permanent subscribers.

We especially ask our friends to call the attention of new comers who may settle near them to the value of the FARMER as a farmer's organ, a news journal and a general family newspaper. There is an old saying: "What is the use of having friends if you can't make use of them?"

HOW TO REMIT MONEY. Money can be paid by any authorized agent of the WILLAMETTE FARMER, of whom we publish a list this week, or, if more convenient, can be sent to us direct, as follows: Currency can be sent safely in an ordinary letter, for letters properly mailed never fail to reach us.

A $2.50 or $5 gold piece can be sent in a letter and registered for ten cents, and the register fee will be returned in postage stamps with the receipt.

If you have a money order office, you can hand the Postmaster whatever sum you wish to send us, and tell him to deduct the money order fee from the order, and then you can make change easily.

Silver will come cheaply and safely as third class matter, but must not be sealed up, and there must be no writing on the inside. Tie it up in a little bag, attaching a tag to write address on, or else fold it in paper and place in an open envelope addressed to us, and postage and register fee will only be thirteen cents, which you can deduct at our expense, using postage stamps to make exact change.

Either write amount sent, your name and post office on the tag or envelope, or notify us by letter or postal card the same day. We will take the risk of money sent as above, and receipt will be sent you direct from this office. We are willing to stand the expense in case money is sent to us direct.

We publish below a list of our authorized agents, but with the full instructions we give above for remitting money through the mails, at our expense, any subscriber can deal direct with this office as easily as by an agent, and subscribers at the hundreds of places where we have no agent cannot be at fault as to how to send money to us.
