COMMERCIAL.

THURSDAY, June 22, 1882.

During the last few days this section has enjoyed refreshing showers, that have had the effect to cool the atmosphere and revive all growing things.

Wool—No change to note in the wool market. Hops—There has been an increased enquiry; market is very firm; the demand is mostly speculative; sales of poor Oregon, 14c; medium, 25c; choice, 30c@37c.

CHICAGO MARKET. Wheat—$1 11 1/2 August; there is very little doing in spring wheat; dealings are mostly in No. 2.

California Crops and Markets. The San Francisco Commercial Herald of June 15th contains the following: Within the past few days many grain charters have been written, and at very low figures as will be seen by details annexed.

The wheat market abroad knows no change of importance, and prices at San Francisco remain about as heretofore. The crop prospects of California promise better than was anticipated some weeks ago, but they are apt to put a high figure on their coming crops.

News from the Upper Country is encouraging, as they had good rains in the vicinity of Walla Walla, and probably elsewhere in the Upper Country, so that their crop prospects are good, and farmers there feel much encouraged.

The wool market is rather at a stand; purchasers are not anxious, and claim that they do not know how they can make themselves whole on prices already paid, as they think the future of the wool market is not satisfactory.

On the 12th inst. the first new barley of the season was marketed. It was from near Dixon, Solano county. Crop, 730 cents, received by Eppinger & Co., and sold at $1 65 per cental.

The Sonoma Democrat gives a good report of the crop outlook in that county, and says: The late frosts which have come into this county, spreading their moisture almost like rain-drops, have been of incalculable benefit to the grain and vine crops, and Sonoma county may now count on a harvest that shall meet the expectations of the most sanguine of ranchers and vineyardists.

The Georgetown (El Dorado) Gazette says the hay and barley crop in that section will be large. The El Dorado county papers generally speak of the fruit and grape crop as very promising. The great drawback, however, is the lack of quick transportation, owing to the

GOLD AND STOCK COMPANY'S REPORTS.

San Francisco Markets. San Francisco, June 21.

Wheat—The demand is fair, but buyers refuse to pay extreme prices; quote No. 1 shipping $1 67 1/2 @ 1 70.

Barley—New barley is weak, and prices favor buyers; sales of No. 2 feed at $1 40; offerings of old are light and growing smaller every day; prices favor sellers; sales of No. 1 feed, old, $1 77 1/2; brewing barley unchanged.

Potatoes—The market is favorably affected; light receipts; Early Rose, 60c@81; Garnet Chili, 75c@81 1/2.

Onions—The market is overstocked with red; quote 40c@50c.

Grain Bags—Calcutta—25,000 were sold yesterday at 91 July. This sale was made in the interest of the bear movement. Large lots are held firm at $9 40@9 50, July.

Salmon—Columbia River—The steamer Colima took out 2,300 cases for Eastern account; general features of the market are unchanged.

Wool—No change to note in the wool market. Hops—There has been an increased enquiry; market is very firm; the demand is mostly speculative; sales of poor Oregon, 14c; medium, 25c; choice, 30c@37c.

GENERAL CROP REPORTS.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 17.—Reports from Minnesota, Dakota, and Northern Iowa are to the effect that rains the past week have brought forward wheat and corn amazingly.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 16.—The Farmers' Home Journal reports the result of a trip over a considerable portion of Kentucky. The prospect for wheat was never more flattering.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 16.—Reports from southern and central Missouri state that warm weather the past week had a marvelous effect on crops, ripening wheat, and bringing corn forward in a marked degree.

ST. LOUIS, June 19.—Dunn & Co.'s commercial agency have crop reports from Missouri, Southern Illinois, Northern Arkansas and Indian Territory. In the drooping season of last year even, it appeared that the handsome balance after all liabilities were discharged left a hopeful feeling.

ST. PAUL, June 21.—The weather since Saturday has been cooler, with rains almost every day, and less favorable again to corn, though reports as to wheat are extremely cheerful.

Elsewhere we publish the announcement of Mr. Fendel Sutherland, the foremost breeder and grower of fine sheep in the northern Oregon. Mr. S. is desirous of closing out business on account of ill health, and offers some of the best bargains that will ever be offered to the people of Oregon.

JOHN W. GILBERT, of Salem, pays the highest price for wool. He is a reliable dealer, and, as a consequence, gets all the Marion county trade.

Wool—No change to note in the wool market. Hops—There has been an increased enquiry; market is very firm; the demand is mostly speculative; sales of poor Oregon, 14c; medium, 25c; choice, 30c@37c.
