The large department stores do a great deal of catalogue advertising in country towns and districts where the home merchants do not advertise. Had you noticed it lately?

It requires a financier to take $80 and with it pay his expenses for a 40 day stay at Salem, including several railroad trips to Portland and a run to Southern Oregon. That man should be a banker, not a politician.—Press.

Hot dry weathep will soon be on us and if something is not done soon we will have no fire protection this summer. The city has ample funds in the treasury to give us very good protection if only the right steps were taken.

Next Friday the town will be thronged with people from all parts of the country to attend the G. A. R. Ball, Camp Fire and Bean Supper. The next event to attract the masses will be a grand Fourth of July celebration and then the District Encampment sometime in September.

Betting is quite lively in Portland on the hanging or non-hanging of Theodore Durrant. The odds are ten to one that he won't hang. One enthusiast even goes so far as to say that according to California's code of laws, a person who can butcher so artistically as Durrant, should be presented with a gold medal. San Franciscans are proud of Durrant; they think he's a great animal and should be exhibited; they want to tickle his aristocratic palate with wines and delicacies, and send him each day a bunch of La Belle France roses, that his cell may be kept cheerful. In any other state, the grave of this beast would have long since been kept green with skunk cabbage.—Portland Chronicle.

There is some significance in the announcement that the Rothschilds have in the past few months bought up 127 silver mining claims in one district of New Mexico, ranging in price all the way from $1,000 to $186,000. It is further said that representatives of this great monied firm are scattered through the Western states, where silver has been developed, and that they are quietly buying up all the available mines. They are supposed to represent the London Exploration Company and two of them are at present in Seattle, getting their bearing preparatory to going into the silver districts of this state and British Columbia. It is just possible that London anticipates giving to the United States a double money standard. It may be that the commissioners recently appointed by President McKinley to promote bi-metalism through an international agreement, will be aided by European powers to accomplish their mission.—Mining Herald.
