FIFTH ANNUAL ASSEMBLY

—OF—

THE SOUTHERN OREGON
CHAUTAUQUA ASSOCIATION

—To be held at—

ASHLAND, OREGON, JULY 10-22, INCLUSIVE.

Distinguished and able Speakers will deliver lectures on many interesting topics.—Interesting services on Sunday.

Schools of Music, Art, Elocution, Cooking, Bible Study and W. C. T. U.
Methods, conducted by Masters.—Preludes of Oratory, Vocal and Instrumental Music.

Hon. Wm. J. Bryan, of Lincoln, Neb., will speak on "Bimetallism" on the afternoon of July 10th. Mr. Bryan's ability to attract and interest a large audience is too well known among our people to need printed comments. We expect he will attract the largest audience ever seen in Southern Oregon. Provisions will be made to seat 5000 people in a comfortable place. Don't fail to hear his side of the money question.

Rev. A. W. Lamar, Atlanta, Georgia, preacher, lecturer and author. He is a unique character, and his past success in Assembly work has been phenomenal. His themes are attractive and interesting. His presence is inspiring. His voice is striking and penetrating, full of pathos and sweet southern accent. His method of delivery is unconventional, conversational and entrancing. His lectures are bright and winsome, yet thoughtful and helpful. Such blending of wit, mimicry, pathos and good hard sense belongs to few men.

Mr. Edward P. Gaston, Chicago,

Spanish-American traveler, explorer and journalist, will give two lectures, one on "Cuba," the other on "The Land of Cliff Dwellers." Mr. Gaston has the highest of recommendations from the leading newspapers and prominent people. "Mr. Gaston's lecture was the finest feature of the day."—New York Tribune. "His lectures were of special value from educational and moral standpoints."—Winona Assembly. "Edw. P. Gaston lectured before our Round Lake (N. Y.) Assembly three times and captivated his audiences. His descriptive powers are marvelous."

Miss Ida Benfey, of New York City, is one of the most charming story tellers in the world. We were most fortunate in securing her services. A prominent college professor in California said, "Don't allow a money compensation to prevent you from having Miss Benfey on the Coast platforms for 1897." "Miss Benfey has marvelous skill in rendering a great author, so as to present a whole story in a few graphic and well chosen scenes." In 1895 she was one of the attractions at the great mother Chautauqua.

Miss Jessie Ackerman, Chicago.

The name of Miss Jessie Ackerman is usually linked with that of Miss Frances E. Willard. The two being the ablest lady advocates of the temperance and W. C. T. U. cause. Miss Ackerman will lecture twice for us, once on temperance, the other being an illustrated lecture on travel. We expect she will preach for us on the evening of July 11th. Miss Ackerman's friends will be delighted to know that she has consented to be at our Assembly.

Joaquin Miller, Oakland, Cal.,

"California's greatest genius," "The Poet of the Sierra," will give his lecture, "Lessons not Found in Books." Mr. Miller's residence at home and in Europe has made him thousands of friends. People who have read his books and heard about him for so these many years, will think this the time to hear him.

Rev. Scott F. Hershey, D. D., Boston, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Boston has been engaged to give his celebrated lecture, "How to Win." He is considered one of the most interesting and forcible speakers on the lecture platform. The secretary of the Music Hall course, Boston, says: "Among all the able and eloquent speakers in the last six years who have appeared in this course, no one has struck a higher key, and we shall give him a tremendous ovation when he comes the third time."

Rev. Charles Edward Locke, Portland, pastor of the Taylor-street M. E. church, as been engaged for two lectures. The doctor gave universal satisfaction at our 1895 Assembly, and our people will be delighted to hear him again. He has few equals as a public speaker.

Bishop Samuel Fallows, of Chicago, will deliver one of his great lectures before our Assembly. He has been much sought after and hitherto unavailable to the general lecture field.

The position of this eminent divine does not require eulogies to convince the general public of his great worth. His unusual versatility and unbounded power of pleasing, instructing and training have brought to him many spontaneous words of praise.

NOTES.

Prof. S. B. Cordley, of the Oregon state agricultural college, will be with us July 13th, 14th and 15th, and will lecture in the mornings upon topics of interest to all fruit growers. These lectures will be free to all. Prof. Cordley is well posted in this line of work and should have good audiences.

Expenses will be just as light as possible. Railroad fare in Oregon will be one and one-third fare for round trip.
Season tickets admitting to all sessions of the Chautauqua will be $1.50. A small additional fee will be charged in the music, art and elocution departments.
