Patriotism.

"Aw, you know, you may celebrate Christmas as best you know how," said the supercilious Englishman, "but you can't come up to the old English plum pudding you know."
"Sir," said the patriotic American, with asperity, "our home made, or still more the bakery-made mince pies can produce as fine a line of nightmare as any English plum pudding ever boiled."—Indianapolis Journal.

Rheumatism

Is one of the troubles peculiar to this season, owing to the overworked condition of the liver and kidneys, which are unable to expel the impurities from the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is wonderfully successful in curing this disease. It neutralizes the acid in the blood and permanently cures the aches and pains which other medicine fails to relieve. Remember

CONSULTING A WOMAN.

Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Inspires Confidence and Hope.

Examination by a male physician is a hard trial to a delicately organized woman.

She puts it off as long as she dare, and is only driven to it by fear of cancer, polypus, or some dreadful ill.

Most frequently such a woman leaves a physician's office where she has undergone a critical examination with an impression, more or less, of discouragement.

This condition of the mind destroys the effect of advice; and she grows worse rather than better. In consulting Mrs. Pinkham no hesitation need be felt, the story is told to a woman and is wholly confidential. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass., she offers sick women her advice without charge.

Her intimate knowledge of women's troubles makes her letter of advice a wellspring of hope, and her wide experience and skill point the way to health. "I suffered with ovarian trouble for seven years, and no doctor knew what was the matter with me. I had spells which would last for two days or more. I thought I would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken seven bottles of it, and am entirely cured."—MRS. JOHN FOREMAN, 26 N. Woodberry Ave., Baltimore, Md.

BRIGHT AND BEAUTIFUL.

Daughter of a Noted Chief, at Home in Civilized Circles and Loves Art.

Jeanette Macketebebenessy is the name of a young Indian girl living in Detroit, Mich., who is employed by some of the best artists as a model for their life classes, and who figures in many fine paintings, sometimes being the picture itself, and again only an adjunct, but always an attractive feature.

In this model's veins flows the proudest blood of two Indian tribes of renown, the Ottawas and the Chippewas, and by the right of lineal descent she would be the last queen of the Ottawas. She is the daughter of an Indian chief who is the great-grandson of Black Hawk. Her father's brother was the first American Indian sent to Rome to be educated, and the first Indian to become an ordained priest of the Catholic church. He was assassinated on the eve of the day he was ordained, and his room is still shown to visitors, while he is referred to as the "American prince."

Andrew Macketebebenessy is living at the age of 80 at Harbor Springs, Mich., and is a noted man among his people and much respected by his neighbors. For many years he was United States Interpreter between his people and the powers at Washington.

His daughter is not in harmony with native surroundings, and since receiving her education has earned her own livelihood, being capable at anything she attempts. She excels in all athletic sports, rowing, shooting either with the gun or bow and arrow, and is an accomplished musician. While taking no part in the isolation of her people, she hopes that the time will come when the land wrested from them by treaties they could not understand will be restored, and her rights as a chief's daughter recognized, when, as the most richly dowered woman in Michigan, she can help the Ottawas regain their power.

A SOCIALIST MAYOR.

Haverhill, Mass., Has the First One Ever Elected in This Country.

The recent election of John C. Chase to be Mayor of Haverhill, Mass., is the first instance in this country of a Socialist being raised by an electorate to an administrative office. Chase was the candidate of the Social Democracy and received a plurality of 350 votes in a field of six candidates. On the same ticket there were elected three Aldermen and three Councilmen.

Mr. Chase is a native of New Hampshire. He began work in a woolen mill when only 8 years old, coming out of the mill for a few months' schooling each winter. Later the lad was employed in a shoe shop, completing his education by a course of private lessons in the evening. He became interested in trades unionism, and since going to Haverhill, in 1890, has been prominent in labor circles in the city. He has frequently been the party's candidate for office and was the unanimous choice for the Mayoralty.

Going a Gooding.

The actual observance of Christmas begins in parts of England on the 21st of December, St. Thomas' Day. Many queer customs there prevail, among which may be mentioned the practice of "going a gooding," which exists in some parts of Kent, and is performed by women, who present sprigs of evergreen and Christmas flowers, and beg for money in return. We believe the term "going a gooding," scarcely requires illustration. It means, simply, going about to wish "good even," or simply "good evening."

How the Peers Do Business.

There are certain peculiarities in the manner of conducting debate in the British House of Lords not found in most legislative chambers. For instance, a member on rising to speak does not address the chair, but invariably begins, "My lords." Thus, if two members wish to speak at the same time the Lord Chancellor does not decide which shall have the floor. One gives way of his own accord, or else some other member calls out which shall continue. In a body like the Commons or our own Congress this arrangement might not work well, but among the peers there is never any difficulty over it.

Another peculiarity of the Lords is that the sittings are very brief, compared with those of other houses. The peers do not convene till 4:15 o'clock in the afternoon and rise in time for dinner at 6 o'clock. This is because the Lords have a small amount of business to consider, compared with the vast bulk that passes through the hands of the Commons.

When the Lord Chancellor himself wishes to speak he steps aside from his accustomed place during his address. There is a curious reason for this. It is that the woolsack is technically considered as outside the House of Lords. It has happened on one or two occasions that it has been occupied by one who was not a peer.

BREAKING IN A HORSE.

How He May Be Trained Not to Easily Take Fright.

It is not every teacher who takes a pride in the kicks and bruises he receives from his refractory pupils, yet Prof. Norton B. Smith, a stalwart and youthful Canadian, boasts that there is scarcely an inch of him that at some time has not received a bite or a kick. From his earliest years his passion for horses has led him into difficult situations, and in the course of his tours around the world he has broken in no fewer than 20,000 refractory horses. He has novel methods. A stubborn horse afraid of an umbrella is taught to walk to the trainer whether he wants to or not. After a few attempts to break away a little kind persuasion shows him an umbrella is, after all, a harmless thing. If a horse is afraid of noise an ordinary drum is placed on its head and back alternately and beaten, gently at first, then louder, till the animal stands still. If a horse kicks, some tin pans strongly fixed together are tied on the horse's hindquarters a little above the tail, and then the fun begins. After awhile the animal discovers that whenever he kicks a terrific noise and dents in his back are the result, and he quits.

What Becomes of Metals?

The greater portion of the lead mined is converted into white lead, red lead and orange materials which are used as pigments for paints. Much lead is manufactured into sheet, some into bullets and other projectiles, and the only lead which comes back into the market in the form of scrap is that used for lead pipes.

Zinc is largely used in galvanizing steel or iron, in manufacturing brass, as a sheet zinc, and as oxide of zinc used in paint. The only zinc available for the new use is that used in making brass. Next to scrap iron and steel, scrap brass is found on the market.

Most of the world's zinc product is used in tin plates. Tin scrap is not available and, though many efforts have been made to utilize tin scrap, no considerable amount of metal has been obtained this way.

Next to iron and steel, copper is most used in metallic form, only a small proportion being used in the salts of copper and blue vitriol. The great uses of copper are in the manufacturing of brass, of which it forms two-thirds, in electrical conductors, sheet roofing, cooking utensils and pipes.

Just what becomes of the enormous amount of metal mined every year is a mystery, as a very small proportion is returned in the form of scrap material.

Tolling the Church Bells.

This custom on the death of a distinguished person arose out of the passing bell formerly tolled in the parish church the moment any member of the congregation passed away, to invite the prayers of all the other parishioners for the repose of his soul, and also to drive away wicked spirits, who could not bear to hear the sound.

The Lazy Spaniards.

The Spaniards are too lazy to cut their own corn. At harvest time crowds of Portuguese cross the border and do all the harvesting.

Wasps as Fly-Killers.

The best fly destroyer in the world is a common or garden wasp. An expert says that he has known one wasp to kill a thousand flies in one day.

Under Two Flags.

He was a soldier of fortune and a prisoner of war.

"Come," they said, "sign the parole!" But he only shook his head. "Never!" he said, proudly, "but I've no objections to signing the payroll."

No, he wasn't in the war business for sanitary reasons.—N. Y. Journal.

A Double Crop of Apples.

On a Long Island farm is an apple tree which bore two crops of fruit the past year, and the farmers are taking unusual interest in this peculiarity of nature. Just as much interest has been shown in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has the peculiarity of curing dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation and blood disorders that other remedies fail to benefit. In chronic cases it rarely fails, and it cures whenever a cure is possible.

"I think that the prospect for peace is very good," remarked one European. "Yes," answered the other, "unless the czar and the kaiser get to quarreling over who deserves credit for bringing it about."—Washington Star.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A SWORN STATEMENT.

I, C. R. Rollins, M. D., of Grass Valley, Or., voluntarily make the following statement: After having my teeth extracted I have had five sets made at intervals of about nine months, three in Portland, one in San Francisco and one in Spokane. With neither of the above I been able to eat a meal's victuals or even an apple or ripe peach. On December 10, 1898, I had my sixth set made by Dr. Stryker, L. O. O. F. Temple, First and Alder, Portland, Or., and within twenty minutes after the time they were put into my mouth I was able to eat a common hard winter apple and a piece of dried venison, and at this time, December 13th, have eaten every meal since with the greatest comfort and with no trouble at all. They are a perfect fit and satisfactory in every respect.
