INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

The whistle on the new Atlanta Milling Company's mill has been constructed to be audible at Macon, 40 miles distant.

The glove industry, which was first settled in Gloversville, N. Y., in 1809, now represents an investment of no less than $15,000,000. The operators earn on an average $2 a day.

Mechanics and laborers will do well to shun the Philippines. Skilled artisans are paid an equivalent of $15 per month in gold. Accountants, book keepers and clerical employees get from $30 to $60 per month, and the common laborer about $1 per month in gold.

Buffalo's new Union railroad station, to cost $6,000,000, is to have a waiting room 80x235 feet, said to be the largest in the world. The other accessories and the train shed arrangement are on the same liberal scale.

The most important iron and machinery works in Brazil is the National Rolling Mill of Rio de Janeiro, having a harbor front and railway siding. These works have a combined power of 250 horse power, with electric installation, and employ about 400 operatives.

A new industry in Kansas is the manufacture of salt. A large deposit has been discovered on the line of the Santa Fe railroad, near the town of Hutchinson, in the central part of the state, the largest in the world. More than $3,000,000 has already been invested in plants to purify it, and the output last year reached nearly 2,000,000 barrels.

Wells in the Sand.

The Mexican burro has sense enough to provide for its own needs, if a story told by a traveler in that country be true. We had found in an arroyo a sufficient quantity of water to make coffee, when we observed three burros looking for water. They passed several damp places, examining the ground carefully, but deciding against it. Near us the leader halted, and began to paw a hole in the hot, dry sand with his right forefoot. Having dug a hole something over a foot in depth he backed out and watched it intently. To our surprise it soon began to fill with water. Then he advanced, took a drink, and stepped aside as if inviting his companions to follow his example. At all events, that was the light in which they seemed to view his action, for they promptly advanced and quenched their thirst at the shallow well. When they had gone away we got down and tried the water ourselves. It was cool and refreshing, much better than any we had found for many a day. We came to the conclusion that the burros had plenty of "horse sense."—Youth's Companion.

Was in the Wrong Office.

Agent—My dear sir, do you know how much time you lose dipping a pen into the ink? Ten dips a minute means 600 dips an hour, or 6,000 dips in ten hours, and each dip consumes—

Business Man—Yes, I know; I have worked it all out.

"And yet I find you still writing in the old way?"

"Yes, I am using the fountain pen you sold me about a month ago—using it in the old way because it won't write any other way."

"Beg pardon; I'm in the wrong office. Good-bye."—Pearson's Weekly.

Exhibits at Paris.

There will be a large exhibit from this country at the Paris exposition in 1900, which will prove very interesting to all, but no more so than the news that the famous American remedy, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will cure dyspepsia, indigestion and constipation. A SHOT SOLDIER.

It Is to Be Hoped that His Dream Came True.

"Of course," remarked the newspaper man who had seen service in Cuba, "it is almost a chestnut now to talk of the nerve displayed by our wounded soldiers at Santiago, but I came across an instance one day that was unusual. Lying outside of a tent, waiting his turn patiently, for he had been there several hours, was an extremely bright young fellow I had known at home. He was half dozing when I first discovered him, but in an instant, on hearing my voice, he opened his eyes and feebly held out his left hand, smiling.

"By Jove, old boy," I said, "I'm sorry to see you here. Are you much hurt?" "I don't know how much," he answered, with considerable effort, but apparently not much pain, "but it is very frequently. Look me over a minute and see for yourself."

"I had had some experience in that sort of work, and after a short inspection I found half a dozen bullet holes through his limbs and body, not counting an occasional scratch.

"You must have been in the very thickest of it," I said, encouragingly.

"That's where we tried to be," he replied with pride. "How many times was I hit—six?"

"That's my count."

"That was mine, but I wasn't sure. You see, I had to guess at some of them."

"How do you feel?"

He smiled.

"Well, as mother used to say about worn-out garments, I guess I feel a little more holy than righteous."

"You'll pull through all right, old fellow," I said, cheerfully, for his courage really gave me courage.

"I don't know about that, and I'm not worrying over it one way or the other. That's what we're for, and if we get chucked it's all right. I had a funny little dream about a half hour ago. I thought I had got my discharge and was over on the other side, and, knowing that I didn't have any letters of recommendation, I was loafing around the pearly portals sizing them up to see if there was any chance for me to break in, when St. Peter opened the gate and saw me. 'Hello, Jim,' says he, 'what's all those holes in you?' 'Bullets,' says I. 'What kind?' says he. 'Dons,' says I. 'Is that so?' says he. 'Well, come right in. You never would have passed otherwise, but we're needing a hatrack in the hall and we'll just put pegs in the holes and make you do till we find something better. Come on in.' And, by gum, I was glad the Dons had punctured my tire the way they did. I wonder if it will come true."

"Whether it did or not," concluded the narrator, "no man knoweth, but before two weeks had passed Jim had gone to see."

General Tracy's First Cigar.

General Benjamin F. Tracy, former Secretary of the Navy, and associate of General Benjamin Harrison in representing this government in the matter of the Venezuelan boundary dispute, finds his keenest enjoyment in smoking. During his recent voyage to Paris he passed a good deal of his time in the smoking-room of the steamer. But the general was nearly 50 years old before he acquired the taste for tobacco. Previous to that time smoking made him ill.

During the early '70s he was engaged as counsel in a celebrated case, and was compelled to devote not only the day but the greater part of the night to his task. Once when he was thoroughly fagged out an associate suggested that a cigar with his coffee might have a soothing effect. General Tracy succumbed to the temptation, and before he was aware of it had finished his third cigar. They seemed to quiet his nerves, and he was able to work over his papers the whole of that night. Since that time, perhaps out of gratitude for the effect of those three cigars, General Tracy has been a smoker.—Philadelphia Post.

The Silver Lining.

She was a bright, light-hearted little woman, and when her husband failed in business, and they had to give up their pretty house and go to lodgings, she tried to make the best of it. For hours after receiving the sad news she sought some compensation for poverty, and all of a sudden gave a chuckle of delight.

"Oh, it isn't so bad being poor, after all," she laughed.

Her husband looked at her inquiringly. "Why?" asked he, grimly.

"Because," answered the little woman, confident that she had chanced upon a shred of the silver lining to the dark cloud, "because we won't have any servants to bother about."

Harshly expressed: "I am determined to preserve the honor of the French army," shouted the man who had been figuring prominently in the Dreyfus case. "You're doing worse than that," answered the blunt American soldier; "you're embalming it!"—Washington Star.

STORIES OF RELIEF.

Two Letters to Mrs. Pinkham.

Mrs. JOHN WILLIAMS, Englishtown, N. J., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot begin to tell you how I suffered before taking your remedies. I was so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without falling. I had womb trouble and such a bearing-down feeling; also suffered with my back and limbs, pain in womb, inflammation of the bladder, piles and indigestion. Before I had taken one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt a great deal better, and after taking two and one-half bottles and half a box of your Liver Pills I was cured. If more would take your medicine they would not have to suffer so much."

Mrs. JOSEPH PETERSON, 513 East St., Warren, Pa., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have suffered with womb trouble over fifteen years. I had inflammation, enlargement and displacement of the womb. I had the backache constantly, also headache, and was so dizzy. I had heart trouble, it seemed as though my heart was in my throat at times choking me. I could not walk around and I could not lie down, for then my heart would beat so fast I would feel as though I was smothering. I had to sit up in bed nights in order to breathe. I was so weak I could not do anything."

"I have now taken several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and used three packages of Sanative Wash, and can say I am perfectly cured. I do not think I could have lived long if Mrs. Pinkham's medicine had not helped me."

An old man named Gregor Berds of Erlau, in South Hungary, committed suicide because a little grandson had broken his favorite pipe. Near his body was found a note on which was written: "My pipe is dead; I will die, too."

GREAT TAMMANY LEADER

(The Catarrh of Summer.)

Congressman Amos J. Cummings.

New York, Oct. 11th, 1898.

Pe-ru-na Drug Mfg Co., Columbus, O.: Gentlemen—Pe-ru-na is good for catarrh. I have tried it and know it. It relieved me immensely on my trip to Cuba, and I always have a bottle in reserve. Since my return I have not suffered from catarrh, but if I do I shall use Pe-ru-na again. Meantime you might send me another bottle. Yours, Amos J. Cummings, M. C.

Summer catarrh assumes various forms. It produces dyspepsia and bowel complaint. It causes biliousness and diseases of the liver. It deranges the kidneys and bladder. Summer catarrh may derange the whole nervous system, when it is known to the medical profession as systemic catarrh. Pe-ru-na is a specific for all these forms of catarrh. Pe-ru-na never disappoints. Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, for a free book on summer catarrh.
