superintendent of the Eureka Mining company, and informed the writer that he was running the mill and mine to their full capacity, employing 22 miners and mill men. They have a complete milling and cyaniding plant in first-class shape running on a five foot vein of $20 ore. This is one of Southern Oregon's gold mines that by judicious management is a paying property. This company is composed of old friends of the writer, who knew them when young men more than 20 years ago. H. H. Buhne, Jr. Jas. Simpson, A. T. Crane, W. S. Clark, John O'Neill, and last but not least, Maj. A. F. Nelson the indefatigable manager of the company. We wish you abundant success, gentlemen.

WON THE BARREL OF FLOUR.—Last Saturday evening the drawing for the barrel of flour given away as a premium with subscriptions to the News last month came off at the News office at 6:30 o'clock. The numbers were placed in an earthen vessel and a small boy drew out the numbers one at a time until only one remained, which according to the rules of the drawing entitled the holder of the receipt bearing a like number to a barrel of flour. Geo. W. Sperry was the lucky holder of No. 1007 and will be awarded the flour.

The Weekly Oregonian and the News one year for $1.50 and a chance on the barrel of flour to boot. Send in your name before July 1st.

There were something like 180 people from this city in Grants Pass to help celebrate last Tuesday. Some went in rigs, but the majority took advantage of the low excursion rates made by the S. P. Company. It was a fine day and the people from here were treated royally, coming home well pleased that they celebrated in the Pass. Those who went to Jacksonville report as having had an excellent time.

Our reporter met H. C. Reid, one of the directors of the north-side Applegate river ditch company while in Grants Pass on the 4th, and he informed us that there was yet a portion of the ditch unfinished but, if no hitch occurred, the water would be turned in within ten days. This is certainly good news to the farmers, gardeners and fruit-raisers living on the bench along the river, as just at this time of year they need the water for irrigating purposes. We are glad to chronicle the fact that, after many attempts, this enterprise is nearing completion.

We met Major A. F. Nelson, in Grants Pass Wednesday. He is
