Hot biscuit made with impure and adulterated baking powder are neither appetizing nor wholesome.

It all depends upon the baking powder.

Take every care to have your biscuit made with Royal, which is a pure cream of tartar baking powder, if you would avoid indigestion.

At a spirited foot ball match near Glasgow the game became so exciting that several spectators leaped into the arena to take part. The police tried to restore peace, but were so determinedly opposed that 19 policemen were severely maimed and had to be sent to the hospital.

The smallest salary received by the head of a civilized government is that of the president of the Republic of Andorra, in the Pyrenees. His pay amounts to only $15 a year. He is the chief magistrate of 12,000 people, and the territory he rules comprises an area of 150 square miles. The little state has been independent since the year 790.

"Gelototherapists," says the New York Tribune, "is a name given to physicians who treat patients suffering from various diseases ranging from bronchitis to anaemia, by prescribing hearty laughter. A medical journal suggests that there is a great opening for physicians in studying various ways of exciting laughter, such as tickling, farcical comedies, puns, etc."

SAFE THAT FLOATS ON WATER.

New Device for Saving People in Case of Shipwreck.

The present methods of transporting afloat across the ocean may be revolutionized by a device known as the Anderson safe float, now building in the Crescent shipyard, Elizabethport, N. J. The purpose of this invention is to insure the perfect safety of mail matter, gold and valuables in case of fire at sea or shipwreck, and it consists of an elliptical chamber of metal twenty-two feet long and fourteen feet wide, fireproof and water tight. Before the vessel leaves port it is fixed on the after deck. Thieves can no more get into it than into a bank vault, and in case the vessel sinks it floats free until towed into port.

It is kept upright by its form and by putting the heavy metals which it contains at the bottom. By night its presence is shown by the phosphide of calcium light, which is ignited by water, and burns with a flame four feet high, calling attention not only to the float but to the boats and passengers that may be near it, thus giving one more safeguard to human life. This light is already used on the Franklin life buoys endorsed by the Government.

Electric light can be used if preferred, and the inventor has arranged for a foghorn and a bell, to blow and ring automatically, like the bell on a harbor buoy. The float is so arranged that late mail matter may be put in up to the moment the vessel carrying it leaves the dock. During the present summer the experimental float now being built is to receive a practical test. It will be taken to sea, loaded with thirty-four tons and set afloat in the presence of a committee of experts. Its action by day will be observed and the distance at which its light can be seen at night measured. After a sufficient test it will be towed ashore, hoisted out upon a pier by a derrick and opened to see how the contents have been affected by the water, if at all.

As every year several hundred million dollars in gold cross the water, not to mention private checks, drafts and money orders, the value of the invention is self-evident.

How Frozen Insects Revive.

Experiments in reviving frozen insects, by S. F. Aaron, show some surprising results. A large Cecropia moth, frozen in the center of a snowball until it was perfectly brittle, revived in twenty seconds when held near a stove. Several newly hatched moths revived in a similar manner after being frozen stiff, and then thawed out. Similar experiments with ants, butterflies and house flies gave the same results. But Mr. Aaron noticed that recently hatched insects resist cold better than older ones.

Curious Custom.

In China guests at dinners run around between the courses. This is supposed to keep the digestion in good condition, but the bustling American needs something else, and there is nothing better than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. If a man or woman is suffering with constipation, indigestion or any stomach trouble, it's their fault if they don't get well.
