RUBBER STAMPS.

Rubber stamps are all right in the right place, but that place is not at the top of a letter or on the corner of an envelope.—A diverting World.

Before you can get people to talk about you, you must do some talking yourself—in the columns of a good newspaper.

Parisian omnibusses are to be propelled by compressed air. That is nothing tough. The world has already known of many an enterprise run principally on wind.

The French Deputy who has introduced a legislative measure to tax all old bachelors for the luxury of single blessedness must have an interesting family of marriageable daughters.

The house committee has agreed to the repeal of the stamp tax, which will effect a reduction of $33,000,000 of revenue annually. The taxes on beer and tobacco will be allowed to remain.

A grand stand collapsed at a Spanish bullfight the other day and twelve persons were killed. In some respects a Spanish bullfight is almost as dangerous as an American football game.

The Minnesota astronomer who says that he has secured the photograph of an asteroid which is thirty four million miles away from the earth, isn't in it with us; we have a photograph of Gold Hill and we wasn't a mile away when we secured it.

The tragedy at Jacksonville, involving murder and suicide, seems to be one of those happenings which human foresight cannot provide against, since the insanity that leads up to it is of a type that cannot be proven until too late for such proof to be of service in saving life. If there is a redeeming feature in this crime, it is found in the fact that the murderer's pistol was equally effective when, after shooting his victim dead, he turned it against himself.

Maximilian Shinburn, the bank burglar, who escaped from the New Hampshire state prison no less than 35 years ago, has but just now been recaptured. It may reasonably be doubted if there is an other case on record where success has finally rewarded so long a search for an escaped convict, or for any other kind of a fugitive from justice. In this case the credit of the recapture is probably due to the wonderful persistency of the American Bankers' Association, which has a fund for the detection and punishment of these offenders, no matter how prolonged or hopeless the pursuit or how heavy the expense involved in conducting it.

The population of Oregon as officially announced Tuesday by the census office at Washington is 418,536, as against 313,767 for 1890. This is an increase of 99,769, or 31.7 per cent. Of the counties in the state Jackson ranks twelfth with a population of 13,698, an increase over the figures of 1890 of 19½ per cent.—a most substantial growth. The following are the figures of the population of Jackson county in the past five census returns:

1760.....	3,736
1870.....	4,778
1880.....	8,154
1890.....	11,864
1900.....	43,698

The Klondike gold output is estimated at $20,000,000 for this year, and nearly $15,000,000 of this amount has already reached the United States. Meanwhile California, Oregon, Colorado and Idaho are turning out an increasing volume of the yellow metal, and the gold stream from the Transvaal is bound to resume its former proportions sooner or later. All of which goes to show the supreme folly of the predictions about a "gold famine" which used to be sent out broadcast.

A Comparison.

The first money spent in advertising a general article is like a pier under water upon which a structure is to be raised. The pier is not seen, but it is there, and it is indispensable.—Advisor.
