

MARRIED MAN MARRIES A TEACHER.

Oregon Town is Torn With a Scandal.

REDDING, June 17.—The little city of Lakeview, in Southern Oregon, is in the throes of the greatest social sensation of its history. Prof. John R. McCormack, principal of the Lakeview public schools, and Miss Etta Johnson, a teacher of the third grade, recently went to Arizona by separate routes. Now word comes back that they have been married there. The scandal of it all is that Principal McCormack leaves several small children in Lakeview.

Professor McCormack and Miss Etta Johnson, the beautiful teacher have been social leaders in Lakeview. No function was a success without them. Both were teachers in one of the Sunday schools of the town. They were thrown much together. Miss Johnson was often at Professor McCormack's house when she accompanied her children. Now it is believed that the school principal and his fair teacher have been lovers for many months though no one suspected it.

At the close of the school term six weeks ago Principal McCormack took a trip to Arizona. His wife urged him to go in hopes that the dry atmosphere would be good for his lungs. Miss Johnson went away giving a fictitious destination. It now develops that Principal McCormack found a place in Arizona where he could reside for half a month and then, upon proper sworn representations, secure a divorce from his wife. At any rate, he has confirmed the report that he and Miss Johnson had been formally married and he declares that he has secured a divorce. The couple are now in Arizona but their exact address is unknown.

Mrs. McCormack, of Lakeview is prostrated at her husband's faithlessness, and her friends base deceit. The whole town is giving her deep sympathy. It is doubtful if McCormack returns to Lakeview. It would hardly be safe for him to do so.—S. F. Bulletin.

LEPROSY IN NICARAGUA.

The Unpleasant Disease is Reported to be Spreading Alarmingly Among the Natives.

The Comercio, a daily newspaper published at Managua, Nicaragua, declared in a recent issue that leprosy had developed to such an alarming extent among the people of western Nicaragua, particularly in Leon and Chinandega, as to cause a prominent newspaper of Leon to warn parents against permitting their children to go on the streets of the towns for fear of unknowingly coming into contact with lepers, all of whom are licensed to go where they please and beg.

About 15 years ago it was estimated that the number of leprosy persons in Nicaragua was about 200. At the present time the number of leprosy, in and beyond the secondary stage of the disease, in this country, is placed at from 1,500 to over 2,000. The sanitary laws of Nicaragua are good, but they are overlooked, to a large extent, by officials whose duty it is to have them enforced. The streets of the cities and towns of the republic are seldom in a sanitary condition. Holes in the streets are filled with refuse of every description washed down from higher places by rain-floods, and which is collected by means of dams built across the thoroughfares, or by surface earth from more elevated portions which is turned up to the hot sun, so that germs of all kinds are developed.

BRUIN LIVES MOOSE STEAK.

Here is Proof of an Offense of Which Black Bears Have Been Long Suspected.

Another crime has lately been laid to the charge of the Canadian black bear. It has long been suspected that he was in no way adverse to a fresh moose steak, and testimony on the subject is at last forthcoming from Henry Braithwaite, the veteran New Brunswick guide, says a Quebec report.

He says that he has long been aware of the fact that bears often kill moose calves, and on one occasion he saw a bear in the act of killing a three-year-old moose. The bear had the moose down and was biting at his neck.

Henry wounded the bear with a rifle, but he had only one shot with him and the bear escaped. By that time the moose was beyond the aid of surgery.

In northern Ontario, where moose are now extremely plentiful, in consequence of the recent close season for a term of years bears are also on the increase. Hence the great interest taken in their life history. Dangerous as bears are to the young of the moose that come in their way, it is fully realized that the most dangerous foes of the moose are the great, horrid, of wolves that roam the wilds of the far north and are increasing at even a greater rate than the moose. These ravenous brutes have no hesitation in attacking and running down a full-grown moose.

Under Arrest At Grants Pass.

Frank King, a farm hand, was arrested at Grants Pass last Saturday charged with the burning of the residence property of Mrs. J. W. Severous, near that city.

King had been employed by Mrs. Severous, and a disagreement with her regarding his wages. It is believed that out of revenge he destroyed the house, which was burned a few days ago.—Town Talk.

Escaped From Colorado Jails.

Leaving the quarry the escaped convict separated Tracey and convict named Lent going the direct of Parley's canyon. They held up a man and his wife, who were driving in their direction and securing their buggy escaped into the Colorado, where they killed a young ranchman with whom they quarreled. For this crime Tracey was captured by Colorado officers and placed in jail but escaped after beating three guards into insensibility. He was retaken and kept in custody for two weeks when he again escaped after almost killing a guard by clubbing him on the head. Since his second escape nothing was heard of the man until he became notorious by his crimes in Oregon.

Among his achievements was the leadership of the notorious "Hole in the Wall" gang. He was connected with "Butch" Cassidy and the other famous criminals who composed that organization in most of the worst crimes of which they were guilty. He left that company, however, and began to operate on his own account.

TRACY'S RECORD IN COLORADO.

DENVER, Colo., June 10.—Henry Tracey, who, with Dave Merrill, killed three guards and then escaped from the Oregon penitentiary yesterday, is wanted in Colorado to answer charges of murder, robbery and horse stealing.

He was about to be tried for the murder of Valentine Hoyer, a wealthy cattleman of Routt county when he bound and gagged the sheriff at Aspen, Colo., obtained his liberty and left for Oregon. Tracey was a leader in the once notorious "Hole in the Wall" or Powder Springs gang of outlaws that infested the northwestern corner of Routt county, near the Utah and Wyoming lines. The murder of William Strong, a boy caused the citizens of western Colorado to demand the extermination of the gang. A posse of sheriffs was formed and war declared on the desperadoes. When the posse encountered the outlaws a desperate battle was fought. Several were wounded on each side. Hoyer a member of the posse was killed. Four outlaws were captured by Deputy Sheriff Farnham. Jack Bennett the first to be captured was believed to be the murderer of Strong and was lynched near the Colorado line. Tracey, Land and P. L. Johnston were taken into custody near Powder Springs after a hot fight.

Johnston was taken to Wyoming where he was tried and sentenced for life. Tracey and Land were convicted at Aspen, but subsequently escaped.

Isaac Householder ran over a hog with his bike near Nalsey's place which of the three got the worst of it is not known, all are up for repairs.

Tracey a Human Fiend.

RECORD OF MURDERER is an ATROCIOUS ONE

Escape From Oregon Penitentiary Marks the Fourth Time He Has Broken Out of Lock-ups and Prisons—Seems Always to be Supplied with Deadly Weapons.

SALT LAKE, Utah, June 10.—Harry Tracey, who, with David Merrill, shot and killed four men while escaping from the state prison at Salem, Ore., Monday, has served time in the Utah penitentiary, but escaped from custody with four other desperate criminals, none of whom have been recaptured. He is known to the police of this city.

In 1897 Tracey was sentenced to a term of one year for burglary, but remained in prison only two months. While a member of the work gang which was operated at the penitentiary he held up the guard at the point of a revolver and, with three others, got safely away.

The gang had been taken out as usual that morning and put to work at a rock quarry. Four of the convicts were under the charge of Guard John Van Stetter, and Tracey was one of four. The guard was armed with a double barreled shotgun and remained at a distance from the prisoners.

Various devices were resorted to by the prisoners to divert the attention of the guard, but all were futile. Tracey's shovel, however, finally was bent and Van Stetter approached to assist in mending it.

The men stood side by side, too close for the use of a long barreled shotgun. Suddenly Tracey drew a revolver from his convict jacket and covered the guard with the weapon. Commanding the guard to remove his clothing and taking his gun, Tracey donned the uniform of the guard and with three other walked away. They kept the guard covered with a revolver until they passed from view. A posse scoured the country, but none of the men were ever captured.
