"When Brown Came Down"—a delightful comedy presented by the Players Club of Gold Hill at the opera house, Friday evening, March 7th.

That 40 acres, all good land, and all under cultivation, house and out buildings, in Sams Valley, for only $3000—is a snap for someone. Who wants it? C. S. REDFIELD.

Save your meat orders for Tuesdays and Fridays, when the meat wagon of Lewis & Sons will call upon you with any cut desired. All meats guaranteed fresh and wholesome.

Are you looking for a ranch? If so, you should know about that 130 acre ranch over in Sams Valley that can be had on easy terms for only $5000—This is an opportunity of a lifetime. C. S. REDFIELD.

Miss Helen Brown, who has been the guest of her brother, L. P. Brown and family for some time past, departed on Thursday afternoon for Chicago. She was accompanied to Medford by Mr. and Mrs. Brown who bade her farewell in that city.

For only $2200, no rent to pay and a better living now than most people make on double the amount, and getting better and more valuable every year. If you are interested, you can get full information about it by calling upon C. S. Redfield.

A pleasant postal card from Mrs. Gilmore-McIntyre, who with her husband is now vacationing in Los Angeles, has been received. Grandma McIntyre confesses that they are beginning to detect the pangs of home-sickness, which should predict an early return.

L. B. Avery returned to Grants Pass on Tuesday afternoon, having spent several days at home in this city. Mr. Avery is in charge of the commissary department of the railway construction out from Grants Pass, and reports work to be progressing rapidly.

J. E. Gale, of Beagle, autoed in from his ranch on Tuesday, and purchased his spring seeds from the fine assortment displayed by local merchants. Mr. Gale also made an investment in some needed farm machinery, and otherwise took advantage of the prevalent low prices offered by Gold Hill merchants.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Ritter are mourning the death of an infant son, born to them on Sunday, February 23. Short services were held Monday afternoon at the Rock Point cemetery. Their many friends deeply sympathize with them in their bereavement, and hope for the speedy recovery of Mrs. Ritter, who is seriously ill.

Tailor Bouchet has this week transferred his pressing board, his "goose", his sample books, and all other impediments of his craft from quarters in the rear of the barber shop to a spacious, better-lighted room in Jim Hutson's rooming house. Mr. Bouchet will be pleased to meet all of his old patrons at the new quarters, where he guarantees to continue making old clothes look like new at a very reasonable charge.

J. H. Terrett, of Michigan, North Dakota, accompanied by his son, Dade R. Terrett, came up from Medford on Saturday last and was for several hours the guests of Ben H. Lampman and family. Mr. Terrett, sr., together with his wife and daughter, has been spending the last several weeks at Medford to escape the rigors of a Dakota winter, but plans to return by the first of April in order to properly look after his extensive farming interests in the Land of Number One.

George Hershberger came in from the Willow Springs district Thursday to renew his old-time acquaintance with the "boys" and fraternize generally. Although given to the quiet life of the granger, Uncle George, as he is best known locally, retains a keen interest in Gold Hill and can retail local gossip with appropriate comment as readily as any. When Gold Hill enters into its natural birthright as the manufacturing metropolis of Southern Oregon the philosopher of Willow Springs may be counted upon to again transfer his habitat, and take up a permanent role as mentor to prosperity and raconteur of the old days.

Prospects for the reopening of a first class meat market in Gold Hill are looking up, according to A. E. Kellogg trustee in the Caldwell bankruptcy proceedings. Practically the only available location in the city is that now tied up in the bankruptcy case, and it is for this reason alone that any one of the several interested parties have not already embarked in the worthy calling that gave to a delighted world its weinerwurst and summer sausage. However, matters are so arranged at present that Mr. Kellogg expects to close a deal for the reopening of the Caldwell shop within the next week. There are several bidders for the business and fixtures, among them being C. Devore, of Medford and Messrs. Woodcock & Blackert, of Rogueriver.

WHITE WYANDOTTES A Specialty

A BLUE RIBBON strain of heavy layers. This is the best laying strain of Chickens we have ever known. Eggs all the year. No chicken that ever wore feathers excels them as broilers. An enclosure from three to four feet high will easily confine them—and confinement has no effect upon them, they remain happy and perfectly at home. Their beauty and usefulness cannot be excelled by any breed.

Billy Searle's Tempo-Perfect orchestra literally came, played, and enraptured the dancing public on Saturday evening last, when Manager Searle tendered the first of a series of social hops to local society. The dance was given at the opera house, the splendid dancing floor combining with exceptionally enlivening music to make the evening one of the most pleasant in the social annals of the city. The personnel of the Tempo-Perfect, which in no wise belies its name, contains four people, Mr. and Mrs. Searle, Mrs. Daddysman, and Frank W. Goodall. Their return for another engagement is anticipated.

Mr. Gerking, of the firm of Gerking & Harmon, the successful Medford photographers, was in this city Wednesday taking views and arranging with the staff of the high school annual to provide the illustrations for that publication. Mr. Gerking carried a portfolio of scenic views in and about Crater Lake, together with photographic records of flood and field—with Toggery Bill Isaacs frequently and conspicuously waist-deep in the flood and battling with seven-pound steelheads. All were remarkable for their beauty of tone and clarity of outline, and it is doubtful if more faithful reproductions of the grandeur which is Crater Lake's may ever be portrayed by another camera. As a gift to Eastern friends that is certain to be appreciated, while carrying also their message of enticement to Eden, any one of the many beautiful views possessed by this enterprising firm of artists could not be excelled. An exhibition of their work that really comprises a scenic geography and natural history of Southern Oregon is on display at their Medford studio.
