BRIEF NEWS OF OREGON

Three are dead and one seriously injured as the result of a fire at Morgan, which started at 11 o'clock Friday night and destroyed property valued at $12,000.

Six Medford people are in Portland undergoing the Pasteur treatment to prevent hydrophobia as the result of a strange epidemic of rabies in that city recently.

The senate committee on public lands has reported out Representative Sinnott's bills permitting entrymen to file on an enlarged homestead after making final proof.

With the tooting of steamboat and factory whistles and the ringing of church and school bells, Astoria celebrated the opening of the Panama canal.

Roseburg celebrated the opening of the Panama canal by an automobile parade, blowing of whistles and ringing of bells. The few firecrackers in town also were fired.

That Frank J. Rooney, whose body was found near Troutdale last Tuesday, was murdered a week ago appears certain from developments, according to Deputy Sheriff Beckman, who is investigating the case.

Because of the danger of forest fires as a result of campfires carelessly left by hunters, Governor West has issued a proclamation closing the deer hunting season. It became effective Monday.

State Highway Engineer Bowlby states that August 26 has been fixed upon as the time for opening bids for construction work to be performed on the Columbia river highway in Hood River county. This county recently voted $75,000 in bonds to build its link of the highway.

A special appropriation of $15,000 has been granted by congress to improve the Clackamas fish hatchery on the river below Clackamas station. The government owns two sites on the Clackamas, only one of which is used. The present site is above the site recently purchased, which will become the new location for the building. Plans are being completed at Washington.

After following his man for nearly two years, during which time he trailed him to the Argentine republic, the south and Edmonton, Alberta, on the north, Charles T. Hass, of the Hass Detective Agency of New York, arrested Oslin N. Jackson at Grants Pass on the charge of embezzling $85,000 in New York City. Jackson came to Grants Pass last spring and purchased a ranch about eight miles from that city and was erecting an $8000 residence.

Announcing that the money could be used to better advantage, the state fish and game commission has removed the bounty on bobcats. The bounty has been $1 a scalp and the state has paid out about $6000 so far this year. Commissioner Duncan said a large part of the animals had been caught in the southeastern part of the state and that the hunters benefited other states as much as they did Oregon. The removal of the bounty on bobcats has no effect on the bounties on cougars and wolves, the commission announced.

Three boys were caught in the act of setting forest fires on the headwaters of the Sluslaw river and they will probably be prosecuted. Carl V. Oglesby, head warden for the Lane County Fire Patrol association, had suspected that the numerous fires discovered in that portion of the mountains were being maliciously started, and began to watch for the guilty parties. One evening this week he caught one youth 19 years old and two boys between 11 and 13 years old applying a burning torch to the dry underbrush and fern on both sides of the road for half a mile.

Portland.—The Employers' association through its anti-union activities, is responsible for much of the industrial unrest that exists in Portland and Oregon, according to witnesses that testified at the concluding session of the hearing called by the United States commission on industrial relations at the central library.

"Men like M. C. Banfield are determined to crush labor and destroy the unions," said George H. Howell of the International Typographical Union, referring to the organizer of the Employers' association whose testimony was a feature of the hearing Thursday.

"Their methods are merciless," continued Mr. Howell in his description of those who direct the activities of the Employers' association.

False advertisers who seek to divert immigrants into the northwest were held responsible by several witnesses before the federal industrial relations commission for the unrest that exists here. It is utterly impossible, it was disclosed, to keep all of the unskilled labor employed throughout the year.
