Why Buy at Home?

I buy at home because my interests are here.
Because the community which is good enough for me to live in is good enough for me to buy in.
Because I believe in transacting business with my friends.
Because I want to see the goods.
Because I want to get what I buy at the time when I pay for it.
Because my home dealer carries me when I run short.
Because every dollar I spend at home works for the community.
Because the man I buy from stands back of his goods.
Because I sell what I produce here at home and here I buy.

Because the man I buy from helps support my schools and my church.
Because the man I buy from pays his part of the town, county and state tax.
Because every dollar I spend at home gives me another chance at that dollar.
Because when ill luck, misfortune or bereavement comes, the man I buy from is here with his kindly greeting, his cheery words and his pocketbook if need be.
Furthermore, if I should do all my buying away from home, and all my neighbors do the same, no retail merchants would be needed, nor could any such subsist, which would mean no town and no proper transportation facilities. Did you ever stop to look at it in that light?—Ex.

The Rest Romance

On that mysterious mountain, beside the river Wham, where leaps the crystal fountain at any hour that am, I met the perfect maiden, her eyes with luster laden—screnely we sat down to talk of scrambled eggs and ham. We did not speak of money, we did not rant of love—the moon, a globe of honey, benignly beamed above—but lightly did our chatter upon the zephyr coast—we spoke of buckwheat butter and how to butter toast!

On that mysterious mountain, beside the river Wham, where leaps the crystal fountain unbrooked by doom or dam, I met the perfect princess and bade adieu to quinces—sedately we sat down to prate of peach and apple jam. We spoke no word of wooing, we did not gush on art—above the ringdove's cooing I heard her beating heart—but softly did we utter, upon the sighing breeze, a preference for butter and real cream in peas!

On that mysterious mountain, beside the river Wham, where springs the happy fountain cascading in salam, I met the perfect fair one, with dreamy eyes that dare one—and blithely we sat down to speak of mutton chops and lamb. We did not dwell on fables of ancient foreign folk—beyond the palace gables I saw the kitchen smoke—we made no classic flatter, we pledged no burning vow, for both of us liked liver—and supper's ready now!

SCHOOL NOTES

The program of the Beaver Literary society was given Friday, February 26. A special feature was a lecture, "German Universities," by Prof. F. G. Schmidt, of the Extension Department of the U. of O. Professor Schmidt compared the German Universities with the American, showing wherein the American system is much like the German. A debate, "Resolved: that the Government should own and operate all railroads, acting as common carriers, within or between the different states," was won by the affirmative team, Agnes Dietrich and Donald Avery. The opposing team was Ben Haymond and Agnes Flippen. The society was pleased to have so many of the parents present and extends a most cordial invitation "to call again." The next program will be given March 12th.

"The Dust of the Earth" was chosen by the Juniors and Seniors for their annual presentation. The characters have been assigned and rehearsals have begun. This is the second play put on by the pupils and they are entering into it with a spirit which can mean nothing but success. The date has not been decided, but will be the latter part of March or the first part of April.

The High School has adopted the constitution and bylaws of both the Oregon State and Jackson County Athletic Associations. This means that all athletics will be conducted under a system which prevails throughout Oregon. Plans for a local association have been made and the Gold Hill athletes are preparing to keep, for another year, the silver cup won at Talent last year.

YOUR MONEY BACK IF DR. HESS STOCK TONIC

Does Not Make Stock Healthy and Expel Worms

One of the most liberal guarantees ever made for any product has just been received from Dr. Gilbert Hess, one of the foremost veterinarians in the country. Let every farmer and poultry raiser read this remarkable offer:

"So sure am I that Dr. Hess Stock Tonic will make stock healthy and expel the worms, that I authorize you to sell it to your customers on the strict understanding that if it does not do as I claim—if it does not pay them and pay them well—they should bring back the empty packages to you and you will refund their money. We promise to reimburse in every case. Tell every customer, also, that Dr. Hess Poultry Pan-a-ce-a must keep their poultry healthy and help their hens lay, and that Dr. Hess Instant Louse Killer must kill lice on poultry and farm stock, or they can have their money refunded."

Surely, this is unbounded faith in the merits of a product. We stand ready to back up this guarantee issued by a member of a reputable and old-established firm. We carry a good supply of the above goods in stock.
