Yellower than Yellow.

It gives an excruciating pain to the average country publisher to see the false and misleading statements that are sent out regarding national and military affairs by some of the yellow daily papers of the country.

They are so false and misleading that the devil himself would blush with shame if he were compelled to assume their authorship. And yet this aggregation of conglomerated bunk is swallowed by the public without a murmur of protest.

If this paper, or any other self respecting country newspaper were to disseminate such falsehood, prevarications and absurdities the editor would soon be compelled to move on, for the public, we have learned, looks for truthfulness in the country press.

Just why this double standard is countenanced and encouraged is more than we can say. But it is so.

Too much Carranza! Too much Mexico! Down with them both

Put On The Other Pedal.

This is a time when the national political campaign should be fought out on sane and gentlemanly lines—where brothers may remain brothers tho they vote for different men.

With war confronting us in Mexico, and the possibility of the ultimate entry of Japan into the fray, we can not afford as a nation to have party hatred and personal animosity injected into the campaign. We have need of every ounce of patriotism we can call into being if we are to escape even a portion of the horrors of the war across the water.

It is right that every American citizen should exercise his right to vote his own sentiments at the polls in November but let us remain friends and brothers and united while so doing.

For once at least in its history the people and candidates of the United States should conduct a national campaign without stooping to personal vilification and abuse.

While voting in accordance with our inalienable rights to free thot and franchise, we should remember that our neighbor of the other political faith has the same right to his views, and they should be voiced at the polls without bias or prejudice from either source. Make it a campaign of gentlemen, between gentlemen, and for gentlemen, and we will all be better gentlemen when the vote is announced.

Keep your head, look both ways and move forward. You'll get there fast enough.

Coming To The Front.

No matter what our beliefs may be in the matter of women suffrage, candor compels the admission that the feminine cause is making strides toward the ultimate achievement of their goal.

A few years ago the mere idea of a woman voting met with ridicule upon every hand. It was considered a dream and a joke.

Today, however, every party has its strong and powerful defenders of woman's rights to the franchise, and neither party cares to risk going radically on record against it.

Politicians everywhere concede a little and diplomatically side over the rest. Many hundreds of them dread to be placed upon record as irrevocably opposed to suffrage for women.

Those who believe in the cause of woman should take heart. It is moving along, and the pace is by no means slow.

Rushing thru life is all right, but thinking twice before starting will save you a world of jolts.

Which President Said:

"To be prepared for war is one of the most effective means of preserving peace"?

"No, you're wrong. It wasn't Roosevelt. It wasn't Wilson, either. You're simply guessing, now."

Well, make you can name offhand the 12 states in which women will be allowed to vote for President this year? No? My, but you're getting rusty. Better brush up your Historical knowledge right now by reading

"The Presidency of the United States"
