Of Course!

Not very long ago while we were visiting in a large city it was our good fortune to see a little boy stop and pick up a plaything a smaller tot had dropped on the sidewalk. He passed it back to the loser with a smile. At that moment a thought occurred to us that this boy had the right idea. How many of us grown-up folks would do the same thing—you say very few? That is where we think you are wrong. Your idea is along the same line as the man who said "all people are crooked", we are glad to be able to think that "all people are honest", and if you stop to think, "they are", of course. Did you ever have the store-keeper hand you more change than you were entitled too? Of course, you have, - and what was your first impulse, was it to keep the money or to give it back? We'll bet you wanted to give it back, and no doubt you followed this impulse and handed it over. If you didn't, it was because you took a second thought and let your evil thought prevail. Now suppose you kept it, what kind of an opinion did you have of yourself afterwards. Of course, you will no doubt laugh at this, but how many of us have escaped the same incident? On the other hand, did you ever stop to think what the other fellow thought of you when you handed him the surplus change—with a smile. Right there he renewed his faith in honest humanity. It pays don't you believe so? Of course!

Some of the most contemptible obstacles in this life regardless of sex are the Polecat, Reptile, Tightwad, Piker, the wife beater and the religious hypocrite but below and far out classing the others is the person who will deliberately Double-Cross an old friend and confidant.

Woman and Her Dress.

The average man of today is fond of criticising the modern garb of woman.

We look, we criticise, and we look again.

But just why we criticise it is hard to say, for the dress of the woman from the country is becoming more sanitary every year.

Those who consider it immodest should study the fashions in vogue in the old days, when a palm leaf fan and a shoestring or fig leaf was about the extent of feminine attire, and it was quite without detriment to their morals at that.

Let the women alone. They are man's mental and moral superiors, and if it pleases them to adapt styles that appeal to them and yet are sanitary it is not for us to comment.

They have managed to hold their own through all the changing styles since the days of Eve, and undoubtedly they can do the same today, regardless of what the styles may be. There is too much glass in our own homes to be found throwing stones at our womenfolk.

Making A Name For A Town

The citizens of every town have it within their power to make or mar their own municipal name. It will be good or bad, just as they choose to make it.

We of this town are no exception to the rule, and the citizens who love their own home will always bear it in mind.

There are many good points in favor of our community, and when the stranger comes to our midst we should not fail to impress these facts upon his mind.

We should take him in hand, exhibit the community as you would a blooded horse, let him understand that he is among a fair minded, energetic and generous hearted people, and when he goes to other climes he will speak as he has been spoken to.

That is the way reputations are made.

But there is another side, and it is there that mischief is too often done.

The stranger enters our door and we immediately begin to complain of the community and of the people. Nothing just suits us. Nothing is as it should be. Everything is wrong and the town is on the way to the bow-wows.

And again the stranger speaks as he sees and hears.

That is the way reputations are destroyed.

Which is it to be with us?

Back Subscribers

Quite often we meet subscribers that find themselves in arrears and they perhaps haven't the money to pay up, all we ask them to do is to come to the office and let us know about it. We would rather have this state of affairs than to send the paper for years to some one and then have them evade the payment of the subscription with the calm assurance that they had never ordered the paper and was not going to pay for it. When we meet conditions like this we hardly know how to express ourselves. The person who will take the home paper out of the postoffice for years and then make an excuse to evade payment overlooks the fact that they would get very angry if someone would play the same trick on them. They no doubt never stop to consider that a country newspaper however small, benefits everyone who lives in the district wherein it is printed. Do you ever stop to consider the number of new people brought to a community thru the efforts of the home weekly. Every one of these new people helps the value of every piece of land in the neighborhood. This pioneer work is the life duty of every country paper and when you have a chance to help out the good work by a years subscription to the paper for heaven sake never lose an opportunity. Your reputation as a good citizen and an honest man suffers every time you let someone else boost your property and help increase its value at their own expense.

If a friend of yours called you and told you of some little thing that saved you dollars you would no doubt feel grateful enough to pay them well. The weekly paper tells you something fifty two times a year and it surely ought to be considered in the same light as the friend.

The Health Light for Homes

Now seventy percent of all eye strain is probably acquired between 6:30 and 10:30—the leisure hours, the reading—the period of physical rest and of mental enjoyment.

Artificial light is the chief cause of "Eye-Strain" and this is the father of mental depression, nerve-tire, and brain fag.

Electric light would be ideal if it was not for its intensity and its alternate glowing and sinking which keeps the eye muscles constantly focusing. Moreover electric light is the most expensive of light—twice the price of the price of the only white, cool, sanitary light—Acetylene gas. A 16 C-P electric light, when new costs 4 c an hour, a 24 C-P kerosene light costs 4 c an hour and consumes 30 cu ft of oxygen per hour. A 24 C-P Acetylene Gaslight costs two fifths of a cent an hour, is absolutely steady, far carried, cool, and burns the oxygen in only 5 1/2 cu ft of air.
